21 Crewmen Rescued From Sinking Ship

Gale Cripples Three Other Ocean Vessels

TOKYO, Friday, Jan. 9 (AP)—The Japanese Maritime Safety Board today said eight crewmen are dead and 12 missing in the breakup of the Swedish tanker Avanti in a howling far western Pacific gale.

Rescue ships plucked 21 Avanti crewmen from lifeboats drifting helplessly in raging seas about 240 miles northeast of Okinawa, the safety board said.

Only 21 Are Saved

Earlier, the board had announced that 40 crewmen were rescued from lifeboats and two sections of the splintered tanker. The board said this report was in error.

The Asahi newspaper said its radio station picked up a report from a Japanese patrol craft near the scene saying also that only 21 men had been saved.

The patrol craft radioed, Asahi said, that the 10,034 - ton oil tanker had broken into three sections. It said the eight crewmen reported dead were believed to have been caught in the middle section.

The board said it could not confirm immediately whether the three sections still were afloat.

Asahi said the dead included the captain, chief engineer, first engineer, steward, a stoker and three other crewmen. The Japanese Kanazu Maru, which radioed the report, did not say whether the men had drowned or died after rescue.

Gale Cripples Others

The mighty winter gale, with winds driving at 70 miles an hour, crippled at least three other ships.

The British freighter King Edgar, a 7,000 tonner, was limping towards Honolulu after makeshift repairs to a disabled rudder. Giant waves had smashed one lifeboat, wrecked cabin doors and flooded crew quarters and food storerooms.

The Santo Despo, a Panamanian freighter of 7,899 tons, was out of control in the northern shipping lane about 600 miles north of Midway Island.

The Cynthia Olson, a small coastwise lumber carrier, was moving down the Oregon coast toward San Francisco after the crew cut loose a deck cargo of heavy timber. The lumber vessel had developed a dangerous list.

Dutch Liner Sinks

The King Edgar was en route from Tacoma to India. The Santo Despo was bound from Japan to Portland.

The weather, however, had nothing to do with the loss of the Dutch liner Klipfontein, which hit a submerged object off the Mozambique coast and sank in the Indian Ocean.

The 10,555-ton ship was carrying 114 passengers and 119 crewmen, but all were rescued by a British ship, the Blomfontein Castle.

The Holland Africa liner went down in 45 minutes about 100 miles north of Lourenco Marques, Mozambique. She was the third Dutch ship to have trouble in three days.

The Willem Ruys and the Oranje collided near port Sudan in the Red Sea Tuesday, but no passengers were hurt.

At Hamburg, Germany, owners of the 6,180-ton German motorship Melania Schulte decided that the new ship went down in the North Atlantic.

Board Refuses To Act In N. Y. Bus Strike

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP) — The CIO transport workers union coldly bypassed Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri today and urged the city board of estimate to settle an eight day bus strike. The board declined.

City Mediation of TWU demands for a 40 hour week collapsed yesterday. Strike leaders claimed they are dug in for a strike, if need be, of "four or five or 10 weeks."

Impellitteri and some other members of the board of estimate —the city's top governing body— were at odds earlier in the week over efforts to settle the strike.

Ike's Son To Attend His Inauguration

TOKYO, Friday, Jan. 9 (AP)—An army spokesman at Camp Drake said Maj. John Eisenhower flew in from Korea last night and was scheduled to leave for the U. S., presumably to attend the inauguration of his father as president.

Young Eisenhower probably will stay only for the inauguration.

Lovett Calls For Bill For Tighter Security

Says World Situation Still Tense

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — The outgoing secretary of defense, Robert A. Lovett, called today for tighter security legislation "to protect this country against traitors, spies and blabber-mouths."

Lovett said the problem extends beyond the defense establishment to other government agencies. In a two-hour closed-door session with the House Armed Services Committee, the retiring secretary was described as having made these other major points:

1. The world situation is as tense as it was three years ago and "this is no time to relax."

In A Stalemate

2. "We are in a stalemate in Korea," and Lovett offered no solution, although he suggested more economic pressure on Communist China.

3. "We have got to maintain the strength of our forces as they are now until there is some definite change in the situation." There are now about 3,600,000 persons in the armed forces.

4. The only "satisfactory method" of reducing the fixed annual costs of defense is universal military training.

Some of Lovett's views were quoted to newsmen by Chairman Short (R-Mo). He said Lovett, in giving the House group a comprehensive review of the world military situation, described it as "practically the same" as it has been since the European buildup began a couple of years ago.

Lovett was pictured as showing some concern at an apparent letdown in rearmament efforts of some European allies, but in talking about applying more pressure on Red China, Short added:

Have To Be Careful

"We have to be careful not to lose the friendship of our allies."

Two matters which have been on congressional minds in connection with solving the Korean stalemate were not even brought up at the session with Lovett, Short said. They were the use of atomic weapons and the use of Chinese Nationalist forces now on Formosa.

Short said Lovett agreed, however, that more South Korean troops could be trained for action, with "proper leadership."

The secretary expressed doubt, Short added, that "it would be worthwhile to use all-out force trying to drive the Communists out of their caves and dugouts" in Korea.

France Drops Schuman, Plans Arms Slowdown

PARIS, Jan. 8 (AP) — France dropped her veteran foreign minister Robert Schuman, from the Cabinet today and headed for a slowdown on European rearmament.

The new Cabinet, with ex-Premier Georges Bidault as foreign minister, was announced by Premier Rene Meyer little more than 24 hours after Mayer had won approval from the French Assembly 389-204.

Himself a tough finance man, Mayer succeeds Antoine Pinay, who resigned Dec. 23 when his parliamentary majority melted away as he tried to press through a narrowly balanced budget.

Dropping of Schuman from the Cabinet had an immediate repercussion in Germany. There he was considered the Frenchman most likely to succeed in developing the long sought collaboration between France and Germany in a new postwar peace policy.

Despite sharp conflicts over the troublesome question of the Saar coal and iron pocket, Schuman and Konrad Adenauer, West German chancellor, had lent massive support to one another in their efforts to end the age-old French and German rivalry.

Deep concern was expressed in government circles in Bonn. But Adenauer's opponents sang a hallelujah.

"The dropping of Schuman means a substantial weakening of Chancellor Adenauer's position in his fight to gain ratification of the German-Allied treaties," said Fritz Heine, press chief of the Social Democratic party, Adenauer's bitterest opposition.

Favors Flexible Labor Laws

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The new chairman of the House Labor Committee said today he favors giving the government a more flexible law to deal with major strikes.

Rep. McConnell (R-Pa) said in an interview the nation's basic labor laws should be rewritten to provide for alternative methods of handling strikes which affect the national interest.

If unions and management are kept guessing about which technique might be employed by the government, McConnell said, it might spur the parties to the dispute to make a greater effort at settlement.

"I think the idea is fundamentally sound," he added. "No one yet has come up with a sure answer to handling these big strikes. And I think we should encourage the participants of these labor-management disputes to try to work out their own problems wherever possible."

Both the Senate and House are scheduled to open hearings in February on revision of the controversial Taft-Hartley law, which permits the government to apply for 80-day injunctions against strikes which affect the national interest.

Weather Hampers Search For Plane

MONTPELIER, Idaho, Jan. 8 (AP) — Stormy weather seriously hampered one of the biggest aerial searches in Rocky Mountain history as more than 50 planes today failed to turn up any new clues on a C-46 transport missing with 40 persons aboard.

Heavy clouds closed in and snow and rain swirled around jagged mountain peaks, forcing part of the aerial armada out of the skies.

Fresh snow also covers the wild, rugged Bear Lake country where a nonscheduled, twin-engine plane vanished early Wednesday on a flight from Seattle to Fort Jackson, S. C. Aboard the ship were 37 enlisted soldiers, en route to their homes in the south after months of Korean fighting and three crew members, including a stewardess.

Piano Crushes Girl

MOUNTAIN LAKES, N. J., Jan. 8 (AP)—A 10-year-old girl was killed today when a piano fell over on her in her elementary school gymnasium.

Woman To Face Gallows For Part In Bombing Of Plane

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 8 (AP)—Mrs. Arthur Pitre, 43, is to be hanged tomorrow at a minute after midnight, like two men before her, for the murder of Mrs. Rita Morel Guay in the time-bombing of an airliner Sept. 9, 1949.

Mrs. Guay and all the 22 other persons aboard the plane were killed by the blast, the product of a triangle romance.

The first to face the gallows was Mrs. Guay's husband and Mrs. Pitre's old friend, J. Albert Guay, a Quebec jeweler long involved in a tempestuous love affair with a petite French Canadian waitress.

Guay, 33, was hanged Jan. 12, 1951, after he was convicted of masterminding the plot to kill his wife, collect $10,000 from an insurance policy on her life and marry the waitress, Marie-Ange (Angel Mary) Robitaille, 19.

The second to die was Mrs. Pitre's brother, Genereux Ruest, 54, a crippled watchmaker. He was hanged last July 25 for making the bomb, contrived of clockworks, a detonating cap and dynamite.

Mrs. Pitre, dark and buxom gobetween in Guay's affair with the waitress, was brought from Quebec to Mnotreal's Bordeaux jail Wednesday to await execution.

She was convicted specifically of placing the bomb aboard the Canadian Pacific airliner Mrs. Guay took for a trip east. The explosives were in a 25-pound express package on which Mrs. Pitre paid a shipping charge of $2.75. She contended in court she thought the package contained a statue.

The plane blew up and crashed in the woods at Sault au Cochon, near the St. Lawrence River 40 miles east of Quebec.

Baruch Would Advise Ike In Any Capacity

Financier Confers With Eisenhower

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Bernard Baruch put the wisdom of his 82 years at the beck and call of President-elect Eisenhower today — either as elder statesman or hired help.

He spent an hour with the general at Eisenhower's Commodore Hotel headquarters before leaving for a spot of quail hunting at his South Carolina plantation.

Earlier, reporters had asked the venerable financier if he would join the Eisenhower administration if invited.

Would Help Anyone

"I would help anybody anytime," he replied. "I would gladly go if I was asked. I don't believe anybody should turn down a job with our government if he is asked."

But after his chat with Eisenhower on economic and military security, Baruch smilingly answered the same question by cracking:

"As the girl said when they asked her why she never married, 'Nobody has asked me.'"

Baruch said he would be available if and when Eisenhower ever needs him.

"I have always been available and I wouldn't be less so to an old and valued friend," he added.

Baruch has played an advisory role in nearly every presidential era since Woodrow Wilson's.

He held posts of one kind or another under Wilson, Harding, Roosevelt and Truman.

Visited Eisenhower

Baruch told a news conference he visited Eisenhower by way of courtesy, to return the general's calls at his home.

"We discussed matters of interest," Baruch went on, "military security and the economic wellbeing of the United States—questions we've discussed since about 1930."

Baruch gave no details of the talks, and none came from the Eisenhower headquarters.

Winter Strikes Over Nation

[By The Associated Press]

Winter unleashed a widespread flurry of climatic blows Thursday that included sleet, fog, tornadoes and gale force winds.

A belt of freezing rain extended from the Central Mississippi Valley eastward through the lower Great Lakes region through Pennsylvania and to the East Coast.

The icy sheath coated roads, disrupted air and auto travel and snapped some power lines.

Air travel was disrupted at airports in Chicago and other Midwestern cities. The big planes couldn't apply brakes on the glazed runways. Crews spread sand, but few planes took off.

The freezing rain carried down a trolley wire in Chicago and ice on the third rail delayed service on one elevated line. Some power and telephone lines snapped under the weight of the ice in upstate Indiana.

Small tornadoes struck in Alabama and Arkansas, injuring two persons and damaging more than a score of homes. The twisters hit the outskirts of Talladega and in Dallas County, Ala., and at Macedonia, 12 miles north of Warren, Ark.

Louisville and much of Western Kentucky was blanketed for several hours by its densest fog in years. Visibility was zero for more than two hours and ceiling was zero for four hours.

Stropg westerly winds raked the Northwest Pacific eastward to the Rockies. Gusts up to 70 miles an hour pounded parts of Oregon while East Washington, North Idaho and Wyoming reported gusts up to 60 miles. Winds rose to 20 to 35 miles an hour in the Southern Plains.

McKeldin Brandishes 100-Year-Old Pistol

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 8 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin strode into the pressroom of the Statehouse today brandishing a foot-long pistol and demanding:

"Now who wrote that bad story about me?"

The pistol, it turned out, was a Colt "Peacemaker," a collector's item nearly 100 years old. He got it for his son, who has 18 or so old firearms.

Winnie Meets President

President Truman shakes hands with Prime Minister Churchill at the White House as the visiting British statesman came to call prior to leaving on vacation in the West Indies. Churchill was host to an embassy party honoring Truman last night. The British leader also met yesterday with Congressional leaders but discussions were not revealed.

Solons Favor Use Of A-Bomb In Korean War

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Two high-ranking members of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee said today President-elect Eisenhower will get their support if he decides to use atomic bombs to win the Korean War.

"Not to win a battle, but to win the war," Sen. Hickenlooper of Iowa, the committee's top Republican member, emphasized in an interview.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado, one of the high-ranking Democrats on the committee, in a separate interview, said:

"I hope that will be his decision, and if it is, he'll get my support."

"My motto in this thing is 'All out or get out'," Johnson added.

"All out means using everything we need to win, and that includes anything in our arsenal including atomic weapons. And by get out, I mean just that — get out of the war."

Sen. Knowland of California, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee who also serves on the atomic committee, refused to say how he feels.

But the attitude of most congressional atomic experts appeared to be that the decision on whether to use atomic weapons in Korea was strictly a military one, and that Congress would back up any military decision.

Rep. Cole (R-NY), senior House member of the Joint Congressional Energy Committee, said in a recent statement that one consideration involved in making such a decision is whether the benefits to be gained by using atomic weapons would offset the drain on the U. S. atomic stockpile.

Young Slayer Arrested By FBI

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Department of Justice tonight announced the arrest of Kenneth Lee Maurer, 20, wanted in Detroit for the slaying of his mother and 11-year-old sister on Nov. 26, 1951.

The department said FBI agents arrested Maurer in Miami, Fla.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Maurer was located by FBI agents after intensive search.

Maurer was arrested at his work bench at a Miami furniture manufacturing firm where he had been employed since last October as a cabinet maker under the name John Arther Blotz.

Maurer offered no resistance, claiming he was from Louisville, Ky., but admitted his true identity after search of his trailer disclosed two Canadian coins.

At Least Five Die In Crash Of B-50 Plane

SAVANNAH, GA., Jan. 8 (AP)—At least five persons died tonight in the crash of a large plane, apparently an Air Force B-50 bomber, in marshland near Savannah.

Ben Byrd Jr., who said he was an Air Force pilot in World War II, reported from the scene that two bodies were recovered from the forward section of the plane and three others were found outside the wreckage.

Byrd said the completely demolished craft dug a deep crater about 250 feet from a residential district of the Isle of Hope, a Savannah suburb about seven miles southeast of the city.

The plane sheared off the tops of several trees. It sprayed gasoline over the area and set fire to the woods. The area was still ablaze nearly two hours after the crash.

An Air Force officer at the scene, who declined to be identified, said the crash resulted from a collision of two four-engine B-50's in flight. He said one of the huge bombers returned to nearby Hunter Air Force Base safely.

Crew Of 10 Dies In Plane Crash

LLANDEGAL, Wales, Friday, Jan. 9 (AP)—A British Royal Air Force B29 Superfortress bomber crashed and exploded in the Welsh hills near here on a training flight last night. All the crew of 10 were believed killed.

Six bodies had been recovered from the wreckage early today.

This was the second of the Superfortresses Britain bought from the U. S. that has crashed this week. Five of a crew of 11 were killed Monday when another crashed at Claxby in Eastern England.

Murderers Garroted

BARCELONA, Spain, Jan. 8 (AP)—Three convicted murderers were garroted to death tonight in Barcelona's city prison for the hold-up murder of a local contractor. Garroting (strangulation) is the Spanish method of execution for capital offenses by civilians.

Benson Predicts Limited Control Of Agriculture

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Ezra Taft Benson, designated to be secretary of agriculture, said today the incoming Eisenhower administration would limit government farm aid programs to needs that cannot be met best by private action.

In directing the department, Benson said, his guiding purpose would be to "strengthen the economy of the country and to maintain a prosperous agriculture with a minimum of government control within the free enterprise system."

The secretary - designate made these statements at a news conference at the conclusion of a three-day closed meeting of a 14-member committee appointed by President-elect Eisenhower to help draw up a GOP farm program. The meeting was held on the campus of the University of Maryland at nearby College Park.

Benson said the committee devoted most of its time to two "pressing" problems:

1. Reorganization of the Agriculture Department with a hope of reducing its costs and increasing its efficiency.

2. The question of continuing an expiring international wheat agreement.

Benson said neither of these two matters had been settled. He said he wished to confer further with other farm leaders and with members of Congress. He declined to speculate on possible changes in the department's structure or on the stand to be taken on the wheat agreement.

Honor Guard Arrives Aboard Army Transport

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8 (AP)—Korean War honor guard members for President - elect Dwight D. Eisenhower's parade Jan. 20 were among 1,420 passengers aboard the troopship Daniel I. Sulton which arrived at Fort Mason today from the Far East.

Is Baby Born At Midnight New Year's Child Or Not?

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Is a baby born "on the stroke of midnight" the first baby of 1953 or a last-second income tax deduction for 1952?

That question is puzzling Washington area merchants and two pairs of parents.

The baby, listed by a doctor as born "on the stroke of midnight, 12 a.m. Thursday, the first day of January, 1953, A. D." is the child of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bates of College Park, Md.

If the youngster is 1953's first the Bates family is entitled to an assortment of gifts being held by area merchants. If not Bates is entitled to an extra $600 income tax exemption for the last year.

There's a disputant, too, for the first baby title. T-Sgt. and Mrs. William Scheneman, Hillcrest Heights, Md., became parents at just about the same time at the Bolling Air Force base hospital. Their doctor said the birth was at "one and certainly not more than two seconds after midnight."

Time experts and tax experts both have hedged on ruling whether the Bates child is a 1952 or 1953 baby. At the Naval Observatory, time experts say there never has been a ruling on which day midnight falls into. Agents at the Bureau of Internal Revenue told a reporter: "We've never had one like this before and we can't find anybody who's had to decide it."

British Leader Also Talks To Congressmen

Nature Of Discussion Remains 'Off Record'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill visited with President Truman for an hour and 20 minutes at the White House today and later talked with 10 top congressional leaders at the British Embassy.

Emerging from his conference with Truman, the 78-year-old British leader told newsmen:

"It was very pleasant—and that," he added, "isn't off the record."

Discussions Off Record

Nearly everything else about Churchill's discussions with the out—going President and with the congressional leaders was off the record, however. The Prime Minister smilingly brushed aside newsmen's questions about such topics as the war in Korea, atomic energy, and possible U. S. aid to Britain.

Truman came out on the porch on the north portico of the White House, his head bare, to shake hands with Churchill as he departed. Standing together, they posed for photographers.

"We have done this often before," the Prime Minister said, "and we'll do it often again."

"Yes, indeed, I hope," Truman remarked.

Later, the White House said their meeting was "a friendly, social session."

Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and Mutual Security Director W. Averell Harriman joined in the White House talks.

After conferring with Truman, Churchill invited key leaders of the Senate and House to have a "late cup of tea" with him at the British Embassy.

Sen. George (D-Ga) one of those who attended, told newsmen later: "It was purely a social meeting with the Prime Minister. I talked with Mr. Churchill about as much as anyone, and it was all social."

Arrives In Rain

His brief stay in the capital was in the nature of a courtesy call following his three days of private talks in New York with President-elect Eisenhower. Tomorrow the Prime Minister leaves by plane for a West Indies vacation with his wife.

In a dreary drizzle Churchill stepped from the Independence, the White House plane which brought him from New York in an uneventful flight of one hour and 13 minutes. He was greeted at the Military Air Transport Service terminal by Secretary of State Acheson, Mutual Security Director Averell Harriman, Sir Roger Makins, the new British ambassador, and other officials.

Baltimore Seeks To Open Schools

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8 (AP)—City officials today launched a drive to reopen the public schools, most of which have been closed since Monday because of a strike of municipal workers.

The Board of Estimates authorized a salary adjustment for head janitors at the schools and fringe benefits for other employes of the system.

The city did not budge on its refusal of a flat increase to other municipal laborers. Garbage continued to pile up at the rate of about 1,000 tons a day. Slippery streets went unsanded.

The city's third television station whose time had been held in reserve, joined the other two in broadcasting classroom sessions for pupils whose schools were closed.

A back-to-work movement among janitors and furnace tenders at the schools was taking shape when the city made its concessions.

The Education Department reported 14 schools reopened today, putting 83 back in service and leaving 93 closed. On Monday, 107 of the schools had been closed.

About 3,300 union members went on strike New Year's Day. They were demanding a 25-cent-an-hour increase at the time. This has since been scaled down to 9 per cent. The present basic wage is $1.19½ an hour for light labor and $1.22½ for heavy work.

Rep. McConnell (R-Pa) said in an interview the nation's basic labor laws should be rewritten to provide for alternative methods of handling strikes which affect the national interest.

If unions and management are kept guessing about which technique might be employed by the government, McConnell said, it might spur the parties to the dispute to make a greater effort at settlement.

"I think the idea is fundamentally sound," he added. "No one yet has come up with a sure answer to handling these big strikes. And I think we should encourage the participants of these labor-management disputes to try to work out their own problems wherever possible."

Both the Senate and House are scheduled to open hearings in February on revision of the controversial Taft-Hartley law, which permits the government to apply for 80-day injunctions against strikes which affect the national interest.

Weather Hampers Search For Plane

MONTPELIER, Idaho, Jan. 8 (AP) — Stormy weather seriously hampered one of the biggest aerial searches in Rocky Mountain history as more than 50 planes today failed to turn up any new clues on a C-46 transport missing with 40 persons aboard.

Heavy clouds closed in and snow and rain swirled around jagged mountain peaks, forcing part of the aerial armada out of the skies.

Fresh snow also covers the wild, rugged Bear Lake country where a nonscheduled, twin-engine plane vanished early Wednesday on a flight from Seattle to Fort Jackson, S. C. Aboard the ship were 37 enlisted soldiers, en route to their homes in the south after months of Korean fighting and three crew members, including a stewardess.

Piano Crushes Girl

MOUNTAIN LAKES, N. J., Jan. 8 (AP)—A 10-year-old girl was killed today when a piano fell over on her in her elementary school gymnasium.

Woman To Face Gallows For Part In Bombing Of Plane

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 8 (AP)—Mrs. Arthur Pitre, 43, is to be hanged tomorrow at a minute after midnight, like two men before her, for the murder of Mrs. Rita Morel Guay in the time-bombing of an airliner Sept. 9, 1949.

Mrs. Guay and all the 22 other persons aboard the plane were killed by the blast, the product of a triangle romance.

The first to face the gallows was Mrs. Guay's husband and Mrs. Pitre's old friend, J. Albert Guay, a Quebec jeweler long involved in a tempestuous love affair with a petite French Canadian waitress.

Guay, 33, was hanged Jan. 12, 1951, after he was convicted of masterminding the plot to kill his wife, collect $10,000 from an insurance policy on her life and marry the waitress, Marie-Ange (Angel Mary) Robitaille, 19.

The second to die was Mrs. Pitre's brother, Genereux Ruest, 54, a crippled watchmaker. He was hanged last July 25 for making the bomb, contrived of clockworks, a detonating cap and dynamite.

Mrs. Pitre, dark and buxom gobetween in Guay's affair with the waitress, was brought from Quebec to Mnotreal's Bordeaux jail Wednesday to await execution.

She was convicted specifically of placing the bomb aboard the Canadian Pacific airliner Mrs. Guay took for a trip east. The explosives were in a 25-pound express package on which Mrs. Pitre paid a shipping charge of $2.75. She contended in court she thought the package contained a statue.

The plane blew up and crashed in the woods at Sault au Cochon, near the St. Lawrence River 40 miles east of Quebec.

Baruch Would Advise Ike In Any Capacity

Financier Confers With Eisenhower

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Bernard Baruch put the wisdom of his 82 years at the beck and call of President-elect Eisenhower today — either as elder statesman or hired help.

He spent an hour with the general at Eisenhower's Commodore Hotel headquarters before leaving for a spot of quail hunting at his South Carolina plantation.

Earlier, reporters had asked the venerable financier if he would join the Eisenhower administration if invited.

Would Help Anyone

"I would help anybody anytime," he replied. "I would gladly go if I was asked. I don't believe anybody should turn down a job with our government if he is asked."

But after his chat with Eisenhower on economic and military security, Baruch smilingly answered the same question by cracking:

"As the girl said when they asked her why she never married, 'Nobody has asked me.'"

Baruch said he would be available if and when Eisenhower ever needs him.

"I have always been available and I wouldn't be less so to an old and valued friend," he added.

Baruch has played an advisory role in nearly every presidential era since Woodrow Wilson's.

He held posts of one kind or another under Wilson, Harding, Roosevelt and Truman.

Visited Eisenhower

Baruch told a news conference he visited Eisenhower by way of courtesy, to return the general's calls at his home.

"We discussed matters of interest," Baruch went on, "military security and the economic well-being of the United States—questions we've discussed since about 1930."

Baruch gave no details of the talks, and none came from the Eisenhower headquarters.

Winter Strikes Over Nation

[By The Associated Press]

Winter unleashed a widespread flurry of climatic blows Thursday that included sleet, fog, tornadoes and gale force winds.

A belt of freezing rain extended from the Central Mississippi Valley eastward through the lower Great Lakes region through Pennsylvania and to the East Coast.

The icy sheath coated roads, disrupted air and auto travel and snapped some power lines.

Air travel was disrupted at airports in Chicago and other Midwestern cities. The big planes couldn't apply brakes on the glazed runways. Crews spread sand, but few planes took off.

The freezing rain carried down a trolley wire in Chicago and ice on the third rail delayed service on one elevated line. Some power and telephone lines snapped under the weight of the ice in upstate Indiana.

Small tornadoes struck in Alabama and Arkansas, injuring two persons and damaging more than a score of homes. The twisters hit the outskirts of Talladega and in Dallas County, Ala., and at Macedonia, 12 miles north of Warren, Ark.

Louisville and much of Western Kentucky was blanketed for several hours by its densest fog in years. Visibility was zero for more than two hours and ceiling was zero for four hours.

Stropg westerly winds raked the Northwest Pacific eastward to the Rockies. Gusts up to 70 miles an hour pounded parts of Oregon while East Washington, North Idaho and Wyoming reported gusts up to 60 miles. Winds rose to 20 to 35 miles an hour in the Southern Plains.

McKeldin Brandishes 100-Year-Old Pistol

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 8 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin strode into the pressroom of the Statehouse today brandishing a foot-long pistol and demanding:

"Now who wrote that bad story about me?"

The pistol, it turned out, was a Colt "Peacemaker," a collector's item nearly 100 years old. He got it for his son, who has 18 or so old firearms.

Winnie Meets President

President Truman shakes hands with Prime Minister Churchill at the White House as the visiting British statesman came to call prior to leaving on vacation in the West Indies. Churchill was host to an embassy party honoring Truman last night. The British leader also met yesterday with Congressional leaders but discussions were not revealed.

Solons Favor Use Of A-Bomb In Korean War

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Two high-ranking members of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee said today President-elect Eisenhower will get their support if he decides to use atomic bombs to win the Korean War.

"Not to win a battle, but to win the war," Sen. Hickenlooper of Iowa, the committee's top Republican member, emphasized in an interview.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado, one of the high-ranking Democrats on the committee, in a separate interview, said:

"I hope that will be his decision, and if it is, he'll get my support."

"My motto in this thing is 'All out or get out'," Johnson added.

"All out means using everything we need to win, and that includes anything in our arsenal including atomic weapons. And by get out, I mean just that — get out of the war."

Sen. Knowland of California, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee who also serves on the atomic committee, refused to say how he feels.

But the attitude of most congressional atomic experts appeared to be that the decision on whether to use atomic weapons in Korea was strictly a military one, and that Congress would back up any military decision.

Rep. Cole (R-NY), senior House member of the Joint Congressional Energy Committee, said in a recent statement that one consideration involved in making such a decision is whether the benefits to be gained by using atomic weapons would offset the drain on the U. S. atomic stockpile.

Young Slayer Arrested By FBI

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Department of Justice tonight announced the arrest of Kenneth Lee Maurer, 20, wanted in Detroit for the slaying of his mother and 11-year-old sister on Nov. 26, 1951.

The department said FBI agents arrested Maurer in Miami, Fla.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Maurer was located by FBI agents after intensive search.

Maurer was arrested at his work bench at a Miami furniture manufacturing firm where he had been employed since last October as a cabinet maker under the name John Arther Blotz.

Maurer offered no resistance, claiming he was from Louisville, Ky., but admitted his true identity after search of his trailer disclosed two Canadian coins.

Today's Chuckle

"So your son is in college? How is he making it?"

"He isn't making it. I'm making it and he's spending it."

At Least Five Die In Crash Of B-50 Plane

SAVANNAH, GA., Jan. 8 (AP)—At least five persons died tonight in the crash of a large plane, apparently an Air Force B-50 bomber, in marshland near Savannah.

Ben Byrd Jr., who said he was an Air Force pilot in World War II, reported from the scene that two bodies were recovered from the forward section of the plane and three others were found outside the wreckage.

Byrd said the completely demolished craft dug a deep crater about 250 feet from a residential district of the Isle of Hope, a Savannah suburb about seven miles southeast of the city.

The plane sheared off the tops of several trees. It sprayed gasoline over the area and set fire to the woods. The area was still ablaze nearly two hours after the crash.

An Air Force officer at the scene, who declined to be identified, said the crash resulted from a collision of two four-engine B-50's in flight. He said one of the huge bombers returned to nearby Hunter Air Force Base safely.

Crew Of 10 Dies In Plane Crash

LLANDEGAL, Wales, Friday, Jan. 9 (AP)—A British Royal Air Force B29 Superfortress bomber crashed and exploded in the Welsh hills near here on a training flight last night. All the crew of 10 were believed killed.

Six bodies had been recovered from the wreckage early today.

This was the second of the Superfortresses Britain bought from the U. S. that has crashed this week. Five of a crew of 11 were killed Monday when another crashed at Claxby in Eastern England.

Murderers Garroted

BARCELONA, Spain, Jan. 8 (AP)—Three convicted murderers were garroted to death tonight in Barcelona's city prison for the hold-up murder of a local contractor. Garroting (strangulation) is the Spanish method of execution for capital offenses by civilians.

Benson Predicts Limited Control Of Agriculture

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Ezra Taft Benson, designated to be secretary of agriculture, said today the incoming Eisenhower administration would limit government farm aid programs to needs that cannot be met best by private action.

In directing the department, Benson said, his guiding purpose would be to "strengthen the economy of the country and to maintain a prosperous agriculture with a minimum of government control within the free enterprise system."

The secretary-designate made these statements at a news conference at the conclusion of a three-day closed meeting of a 14-member committee appointed by President-elect Eisenhower to help draw up a GOP farm program. The meeting was held on the campus of the University of Maryland at nearby College Park.

Benson said the committee devoted most of its time to two "pressing" problems:

1. Reorganization of the Agriculture Department with a hope of reducing its costs and increasing its efficiency.

2. The question of continuing an expiring international wheat agreement.

Benson said neither of these two matters had been settled. He said he wished to confer further with other farm leaders and with members of Congress. He declined to speculate on possible changes in the department's structure or on the stand to be taken on the wheat agreement.

Honor Guard Arrives Aboard Army Transport

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8 (AP)—Korean War honor guard members for President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower's parade Jan. 20 were among 1,420 passengers aboard the troopship Daniel I. Sulton which arrived at Fort Mason today from the Far East.

Is Baby Born At Midnight New Year's Child Or Not?

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Is a baby born "on the stroke of midnight" the first baby of 1953 or a last-second income tax deduction for 1952?

That question is puzzling Washington area merchants and two pairs of parents.

The baby, listed by a doctor as born "on the stroke of midnight, 12 a.m. Thursday, the first day of January, 1953, A. D." is the child of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bates of College Park, Md.

If the youngster is 1953's first the Bates family is entitled to an assortment of gifts being held by area merchants. If not Bates is entitled to an extra $600 income tax exemption for the last year.

There's a disputant, too, for the first baby title. T-Sgt. and Mrs. William Scheneman, Hillcrest Heights, Md., became parents at just about the same time at the Bolling Air Force base hospital. Their doctor said the birth was at "one and certainly not more than two seconds after midnight."

Time experts and tax experts both have hedged on ruling whether the Bates child is a 1952 or 1953 baby. At the Naval Observatory, time experts say there never has been a ruling on which day midnight falls into. Agents at the Bureau of Internal Revenue told a reporter: "We've never had one like this before and we can't find anybody who's had to decide it."

British Leader Also Talks To Congressmen

Nature Of Discussion Remains 'Off Record'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill visited with President Truman for an hour and 20 minutes at the White House today and later talked with 10 top congressional leaders at the British Embassy.

Emerging from his conference with Truman, the 78-year-old British leader told newsmen:

"It was very pleasant—and that," he added, "isn't off the record."

Discussions Off Record

Nearly everything else about Churchill's discussions with the out—going President and with the congressional leaders was off the record, however. The Prime Minister smilingly brushed aside newsmen's questions about such topics as the war in Korea, atomic energy, and possible U. S. aid to Britain.

Truman came out on the porch on the north portico of the White House, his head bare, to shake hands with Churchill as he departed. Standing together, they posed for photographers.

"We have done this often before," the Prime Minister said, "and we'll do it often again."

"Yes, indeed, I hope," Truman remarked.

Later, the White House said their meeting was "a friendly, social session."

Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and Mutual Security Director W. Averell Harriman joined in the White House talks.

After conferring with Truman, Churchill invited key leaders of the Senate and House to have a "late cup of tea" with him at the British Embassy.

Sen. George (D-Ga) one of those who attended, told newsmen later:

"It was purely a social meeting with the Prime Minister. I talked with Mr. Churchill about as much as anyone, and it was all social."

Arrives In Rain

His brief stay in the capital was in the nature of a courtesy call following his three days of private talks in New York with President-elect Eisenhower. Tomorrow the Prime Minister leaves by plane for a West Indies vacation with his wife.

In a dreary drizzle Churchill stepped from the Independence, the White House plane which brought him from New York in an uneventful flight of one hour and 13 minutes. He was greeted at the Military Air Transport Service terminal by Secretary of State Acheson, Mutual Security Director Averell Harriman, Sir Roger Makins, the new British ambassador, and other officials.

Baltimore Seeks To Open Schools

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8 (AP)—City officials today launched a drive to reopen the public schools, most of which have been closed since Monday because of a strike of municipal workers.

The Board of Estimates authorized a salary adjustment for head janitors at the schools and fringe benefits for other employes of the system.

The city did not budge on its refusal of a flat increase to other municipal laborers. Garbage continued to pile up at the rate of about 1,000 tons a day. Slippery streets went unsanded.

The city's third television station whose time had been held in reserve, joined the other two in broadcasting classroom sessions for pupils whose schools were closed.

A back-to-work movement among janitors and furnace tenders at the schools was taking shape when the city made its concessions.

The Education Department reported 14 schools reopened today, putting 83 back in service and leaving 93 closed. On Monday, 107 of the schools had been closed.

About 3,300 union members went on strike New Year's Day. They were demanding a 25-cent-an-hour increase at the time. This has since been scaled down to 9 per cent. The present basic wage is $1.19½ an hour for light labor and $1.22½ for heavy work.

Demos Oppose Letting Excess Profits Tax Die

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Republican sentiment for letting the excess profits tax die on schedule June 30 ran into some Democratic opposition today.

It also won some Democratic support.

The tax, which can take up to 82 per cent of some business profits, was enacted shortly after the Korean War started in 1950 with an automatic expiration date of June 30, 1953.

It had two main purposes: to help pay for the defense effort, and to discourage any war profiteering.

Critics say the levy, which has been yielding about 2½ billion dollars a year, has not been applied fairly to all business firms. Rep. Mills (D-Ark) said many of the largest corporations having defense contracts are escaping the tax due to special exemptions, while many smaller firms are required to pay it.

Mills said he probably will favor letting it expire because of inequities, but Rep. Eberharter (D-Pa), one of the levy's sponsors, predicted some Democrats will fight for an extension of the tax.

Eberharter contended any inequities could be corrected.

Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee who favor letting the law run out this June argue the tax has hindered rather than helped the economy.

Rep. Dingell (D-Mich) joined Reed, Simpson and others in the view that individual income taxpayers should be afforded some tax relief at the same time the excess profits levy is dropped.

Reed has introduced a bill providing for a 5½ per cent reduction in 1953 personal income taxes.

Coal Group Protests Importation Of Oil

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The National Coal Association protested today against increasing imports of foreign residual oil, which it said were hurting the American coal industry.

"Imports of foreign residual oil in the last quarter of 1952 averaged 15 per cent higher than in the corresponding quarter of 1951," Tom Pickett, executive vice president of the coal association, said in a statement.

Delays Inauguration

BOSTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Explosion of a television light halted the inaugural speech of Republican governor Christian A. Herter today as he succeeded Paul A. Dever, keynoter at the last Democratic national convention.

The light exploded with a loud report, showering broken glass over a number of spectators in the rear section of the house chamber, but no one was hurt.

Woman Rents Houses Under Nose Of Russian Government

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 8 (AP)—To Mrs. Daria Aleynikova of Rostov, USSR, there never has been a Russian Revolution. She owns three houses and lives by collecting rent from lodgers.

The disclosure of a capitalist rent collector still doing business 35 years after the revolution was made in the Soviet Communist youth newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda. One of the things the revolution was supposed to have abolished was the holding of property by individuals. In the Communist state only the state does so.

"How strange," said newspaper, "to find this large chunk of commercial property in the very heart of Rostov—such a museum rarity under the very nose of the regional government."

The property was described as two beautiful two-story buildings on a quiet street in Rostov and a one-story mansion in the city of Azov—24 rooms all told. It is not unheard of for whole families to occupy one room in Russia.

The newspaper said Mrs. Aleynikova got by with her capitalist scheme by "loading lawyers with gifts for helping her to defend the right to own real estate." Komsomolskaya Pravda said it got wind of the strange goings-on after the old lady had won a case before the Supreme Court of the Russian Socialist Federated Soviet Republic. The court upheld her right to evict a lodger who a year ago denounced her to the authorities for "cheating the government."

Since then, the Rostov City Soviet, which had been overruled by the Supreme Court earlier, stepped in again to obtain a temporary injunction against the eviction. That is where the case stands today.

Smith Trial Draws Near Its Conclusion

TOKYO, Friday, Jan. 9 (AP) — The chief psychiatrist of the U. S. Army testified Thursday he believed Dorothy Krueger Smith was temporarily insane when she plunged the eight-inch blade of a hunting knife into the side of her husband, Col. Aubrey D. Smith, last Oct. 3.

Brig. Gen. Rawley E. Chambers, who served as Mrs. Smith's personal physician for four years while she lived in San Antonio, offered this testimony as the final witness for the defense at the murder trial of the daughter of retired Gen. Walter Krueger.

Chambers was scheduled to undergo further cross-examination today by prosecution counsel, Lt. Col. W. H. H. Jones. Attorneys said it was possible the court-martial board would return a verdict by nightfall.

15 Persons Killed

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 8 (AP) — Fifteen or more persons burned to death tonight in a bus which overturned and burst into flame. A broken axle caused the smashup.

Mrs. Clark Elected New President Of Richland Bank

RICHLAND, Kas., Jan. 8 (AP) — Mrs. Georgia Neese Clark today was elected president of the Richland state bank — the post she left when President Truman named her treasurer of the United States in June 1949.

Mrs. Clark, whose signature appears on every piece of currency issued since she was named treasurer, will leave her government post presidential inauguration day, Jan. 20.

Allied Aircraft Strike At Reds

SEOUL, Friday, Jan. 8 (AP) — Allied bombers smashed at Communist supply concentrations along the freezing 155-mile battlefront Thursday, the Fifth Air Force reported.

The Air Force said its planes knocked out a road bridge on a vital enemy supply route south of Singye in Central North Korea. In addition, they destroyed five Red-occupied buildings and seven Communist supply shelters along the front.

Sabre jet pilots swept MIG Alley but reported they saw no enemy MIG 15s.

On the Western Front, fighter-bombers teamed with an American infantry raiding party which blasted, shot and burned a Communist hill position early Thursday.

The warplanes pounded the hill relentlessly for two hours after daylight. Then ground troops tore into the enemy with small arms fire, flamethrowers, satchel charges of TNT, and tank fire.

The Western Front attack—the second by Allied raiding parties in less than 24 hours—left the hill strewn with 35 Communist bodies. At least 25 others were believed killed or wounded.

On the opposite side of the line in the mountainous eastern sector, South Korean infantrymen and engineers crawled up the slopes of Anchor Hill Wednesday night, spotted 44 North Korean Reds entering a newly-dug tunnel and blasted the position with 200 pounds of TNT. The explosion, which shook the area, killed all the Communists in the tunnel.

Merriam Succumbs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Charles E. Merriam, former political science professor at Chicago University and past president of the American Political Science Association, died after a long illness today at Hilltop Hospital in suburban Rockville, Md. He was 78.

"Thrill" Killer Seeking Parole After 28 Years

JOLIET, Ill., Jan. 8 (AP)—Nathan Leopold, pleading for his freedom from prison, today called his 1924 "thrill" killing of little Bobby Franks "just a damn fool stunt" and said, "I'm a completely changed personality."

Facing members of the parole board who could turn him loose after 28 years in prison or send him back to continue his term indefinitely the sleek-haired prisoner said nervously:

"If there is anything to the adage about a child being burned, then I am a living example."

Leopold—No. 9306D on the prison record—came into the small prison hearing room wearing regulation prison garb and new black shoes. His straight black hair was freshly combed and slicked back. He carried a large envelope file under his arm.

He followed State's Attorney John Gutknecht of Cook County (Chicago) who made an impassioned plea that the board keep Leopold in prison "in the name of mercy."

The prosecutor said that by getting off with a prison term instead of execution, Leopold already had received "not justice but mercy" and that to turn him loose would bring public clamor for freer use of the death penalty in less serious cases.

The slaying of 14 year old Bobby Franks was one of the nation's most shocking crimes. Leopold and his pal, Richard Loeb, then both 19, kidnaped, strangled and bashed in the head of the Franks boy, a neighbor, and then tried to collect ransom from his parents under the pretense he was alive and well.

Leopold and Loeb, brilliant students and sons of millionaire parents, told police after their arrest that they wanted to experience the "thrill" of killing.

Rebels Attack Village

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 8 (AP)—Delayed reports reaching here tonight said 200 Karen rebels attacked a village 130 miles south of Rangoon killing three persons and burning six houses before they were beaten off.

Students Riot, 8 Killed

KARACHI, Pakistan, Jan. 8 (AP) — A student rebellion over a sharp increase in tuition fees led to rioting today in which eight persons were killed and 100 injured. Many were arrested.

Smith Trial Draws Near Its Conclusion

TOKYO, Friday, Jan. 9 (AP) — The chief psychiatrist of the U. S. Army testified Thursday he believed Dorothy Krueger Smith was temporarily insane when she plunged the eight-inch blade of a hunting knife into the side of her husband, Col. Aubrey D. Smith, last Oct. 3.

Brig. Gen. Rawley E. Chambers, who served as Mrs. Smith's personal physician for four years while she lived in San Antonio, offered this testimony as the final witness for the defense at the murder trial of the daughter of retired Gen. Walter Krueger.

Chambers was scheduled to undergo further cross-examination today by prosecution counsel, Lt. Col. W. H. H. Jones. Attorneys said it was possible the court-martial board would return a verdict by nightfall.

15 Persons Killed

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 8 (AP) — Fifteen or more persons burned to death tonight in a bus which overturned and burst into flame. A broken axle caused the smashup.

Mrs. Clark Elected New President Of Richland Bank

RICHLAND, Kas., Jan. 8 (AP) — Mrs. Georgia Neese Clark today was elected president of the Richland state bank — the post she left when President Truman named her treasurer of the United States in June 1949.

Mrs. Clark, whose signature appears on every piece of currency issued since she was named treasurer, will leave her government post presidential inauguration day, Jan. 20.

Allied Aircraft Strike At Reds

SEOUL, Friday, Jan. 8 (AP) — Allied bombers smashed at Communist supply concentrations along the freezing 155-mile battlefront Thursday, the Fifth Air Force reported.

The Air Force said its planes knocked out a road bridge on a vital enemy supply route south of Singye in Central North Korea. In addition, they destroyed five Red-occupied buildings and seven Communist supply shelters along the front.

Sabre jet pilots swept MIG Alley but reported they saw no enemy MIG 15s.

On the Western Front, fighter-bombers teamed with an American infantry raiding party which blasted, shot and burned a Communist hill position early Thursday.

The warplanes pounded the hill relentlessly for two hours after daylight. Then ground troops tore into the enemy with small arms fire, flamethrowers, satchel charges of TNT, and tank fire.

The Western Front attack—the second by Allied raiding parties in less than 24 hours—left the hill strewn with 35 Communist bodies. At least 25 others were believed killed or wounded.

On the opposite side of the line in the mountainous eastern sector, South Korean infantrymen and engineers crawled up the slopes of Anchor Hill Wednesday night, spotted 44 North Korean Reds entering a newly-dug tunnel and blasted the position with 200 pounds of TNT. The explosion, which shook the area, killed all the Communists in the tunnel.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Charles E. Merriam, former political science professor at Chicago University and past president of the American Political Science Association, died after a long illness today at Hilltop Hospital in suburban Rockville, Md. He was 78.

"Thrill" Killer Seeking Parole After 28 Years

JOLIET, Ill., Jan. 8 (AP)—Nathan Leopold, pleading for his freedom from prison, today called his 1924 "thrill" killing of little Bobby Franks "just a damn fool stunt" and said, "I'm a completely changed personality."

Facing members of the parole board who could turn him loose after 28 years in prison or send him back to continue his term indefinitely the sleek-haired prisoner said nervously:

"If there is anything to the adage about a child being burned, then I am a living example."

Leopold—No. 9306D on the prison record—came into the small prison hearing room wearing regulation prison garb and new black shoes. His straight black hair was freshly combed and slicked back. He carried a large envelope file under his arm.

He followed State's Attorney John Gutknecht of Cook County (Chicago) who made an impassioned plea that the board keep Leopold in prison "in the name of mercy."

The prosecutor said that by getting off with a prison term instead of execution, Leopold already had received "not justice but mercy" and that to turn him loose would bring public clamor for freer use of the death penalty in less serious cases.

The slaying of 14 year old Bobby Franks was one of the nation's most shocking crimes. Leopold and his pal, Richard Loeb, then both 19, kidnaped, strangled and bashed in the head of the Franks boy, a neighbor, and then tried to collect ransom from his parents under the pretense he was alive and well.

Leopold and Loeb, brilliant students and sons of millionaire parents, told police after their arrest that they wanted to experience the "thrill" of killing.

Rebels Attack Village

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 8 (AP)—Delayed reports reaching here tonight said 200 Karen rebels attacked a village 130 miles south of Rangoon killing three persons and burning six houses before they were beaten off.

Students Riot, 8 Killed

KARACHI, Pakistan, Jan. 8 (AP) — A student rebellion over a sharp increase in tuition fees led to rioting today in which eight persons were killed and 100 injured. Many were arrested.

Ike's Inaugural Parade To Have Atom-Age Touch

The military has arranged to include in its section of the parade the new 280-millimeter gun, capable of firing atomic shells.

This will be the first fully public display of the huge weapon which was shown to selected officials and observers in demonstrations at the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Grounds last fall.

Parade officials expect no trouble in maneuvering the 85-ton weapon along the parade route down historic Pennsylvania Avenue. The gun mount is slung between two tractors, front and rear, and steers like an aerial ladder truck of a fire department.

Nearly 20,000 men and women of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force, Coast Guard, National Guard, and U. S. merchant marine are being brought to the capital for the Jan. 20 parade.

Present plans call for 642 military aircraft to participate in the show — from helicopters to jet fighters and heavy bombers.

"Trade, Not Aid" Next?

The first official recognition of a coming shift in emphasis on foreign aid by the United States—from outright grants toward solvency through trade—may come in a reduction in the foreign aid request in the Truman budget, scheduled for today. In 1952, the President requested $7.9 billion for foreign aid, got about 18 per cent less than that amount.

Nobody needs a crystal ball to foresee that a Republican administration and a Republican Congress will be more chary than were the Democrats in giving out U. S. dollars for foreign aid. But with the continuing total "dollar gap" between exports and imports of free countries running about $6 to $7 billion a year, any sudden reversal of foreign aid policy by the United States could plunge the other free countries—in Europe and elsewhere—into financial disaster.

A partial answer to the problem of the dollar gap is the general policy represented by the slogan "trade, not aid." It was "more trade, less aid" that Senator Monroney (D., Okla.) recommended on December 23, on his return from several weeks in Europe. Saying he was reconciled to cuts in the foreign aid program, Monroney predicted that the forthcoming battle over extending the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act would decided the "question of whether the internationally minded Republicans or the Taft crowd will prevail" in Congress.

But the Republicans, though traditionally favoring high tariffs, may not put up the fight against the reciprocal trade act that Monroney predicted. Senator Taft on January 5 said he thought the present law had been working fairly satisfactorily. Taft noted that he had supported renewal of the reciprocal trade program in 1948, once Congress had inserted the "peril point" escape provision.

The peril point section of the act required a report by the President to Congress whenever he agreed to cut any tariff rate below a point designated by the Federal Tariff Commission as threatening injury to American producers. Senator Taft opposed two-year renewal of the trade act in 1949, when the Democrats removed the escape clause inserted by the Republican 80th Congress. The act was again renewed in 1951, with the peril point provision reinserted, and with Taft's support. It expires June 30.

The Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act of 1934 granted President F. D. Roosevelt the authority he had requested to "enter into executive commercial agreements with foreign nations" for reciprocal reductions of tariffs. Little use was made of the authority after the outbreak of World War II. But in a special message on March 26, 1945, FDR told Congress much of the authority conferred by the original act had been used up, and he asked additional bargaining power.

A three-year extension was voted by Congress in June, after President Truman had echoed the Roosevelt request "as of the first order of importance for the success of my administration." Secretary of State Marshall in 1948 described the act as "the cornerstone and keystone of our foreign economic policy."

How Long A Honeymoon?

Although Dwight D. Eisenhower will not take office until January 20, the honeymoon of the new administration with the legislative branch can be dated from the organization of the 83rd Congress on January 3. How long the honeymoon will last is anybody's guess.

Recent conferences of Eisenhower with House and Senate Republican leaders, also Eisenhower overtures to Senator Taft and General MacArthur, would seem to have closed up any rift in the party lute, at least temporarily. Moreover, the general brings to the Presidency an unusual amount of political prestige, in that he ran ahead of most of the other GOP nominees last November 4. And any solon who wants federal patronage will be well advised to stay in line as long as jobs are to be filled.

Representative Boggs (D., La.) predicts that the honeymoon will last about six months or through the first session of Congress—"while patronage plums are being dangled." Yet the plums are fewer than generally supposed. The Civil Service Commission has reported that only about 170,000 of the 2,600,000 federal jobs are unprotected by the merit system, and that most of these 170,000 are "small, low-grade positions, paid by the day or hour."

The honeymoon of Harry S. Truman with Congress, after his elevation to the Presidency on April 12, 1945, lasted less than five months. The turning point came with the President's reconversion message of September 6, in which he endorsed the Roosevelt "Economic Bill of Rights." Truman was then a non-elected President, and hence without a demonstrated mandate from the people.

The honeymoon of President F. D. Roosevelt with Congress lasted, with some increasing stress and strain, for his whole first term. During that period Congress did refuse to go along with him on economy, the veterans' bonus, the World Court and the St. Lawrence treaty, but the crockery wasn't thrown in dead earnest until FDR brought out his Supreme Court plan in 1937.

Battle Of The Budgets

Because the law prescribes this course, President Truman will lay before Congress a budget for the fiscal year beginning next July. The action, however, will be largely in the nature of a gesture. When General Eisenhower takes office on January 20, he will submit a budget of his own and nobody doubts that it will be substantially different from the one presented by Mr. Truman.

It may also be taken as a fact that the new Congress itself will have something definite to say about how much money will be spent. Of course, as the appropriating body, it always exercises control over the purse strings, but this year chances are better than even that an effort will be made to practice economy.

All of which suggests the more clearly that the Truman budget, whatever the size of it, will receive only cursory attention from Congress. According to best information available, the expiring administration will ask for approximately $73,000,000,000 in appropriations.

But that does not represent the total amount which the outgoing President would make available for running the government. Approximately $5,000,000,000 remains unspent, as a result of lag in defense production. So actually the cost of the fiscal year's operations is put at nearly $80,000,000,000.

That, then, is the figure which the new Congress will try to whittle down and some congressional leaders already have stated that they hope to reduce it by at least $10,000,000,000.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

Bloating: Gas Or Air?

Many individuals blame their abdominal distress on gas, not realizing that something else may be causing the discomfort. The majority are experiencing spasm despite the fact that these persons have a sensation which they believe could be relieved by bringing up gas. They try and try but because there is none to burp an attempt is made to manufacture some by swallowing air.

This behavior is difficult to explain. Apparently the feeling of having "gas on the stomach" is an illusion as many fluoroscopic studies have revealed. It is normal to have a small amount but whenever a sizable quantity accumulates it is easily eliminated by belching. This is done, for example, whenever baking soda and carbonated drinks are taken and there is a real accumulation of gas.

Dr. William H. Bachrach of Los Angeles described a patient who complained of so much bloating that her abdomen was distended to the size of a 7 month pregnancy. The physician asked the woman to phone him and made arrangements for an abdominal X-ray to be taken, day or night, when the distention was at its peak. In addition, he taught the patient to record measurements of the abdominal girth at this time. But despite her complaints no positive records were obtained; on one occasion only a trivial amount of gas was noted on X-ray.

We are not trying to imply that a gaseous condition does not exist. In most instances, the sensation of gas is part of indigestion which stems from one of many gastro-intestinal disturbances varying from gall bladder trouble to nervousness. The symptom is noted in peptic ulcer but when relief is obtained with baking soda care must be taken not to give credit to the elimination of carbon dioxide gas which is produced by the chemical. Actually the ensuing discomfort results from the neutralization of excess acidity.

But the same will not occur with indigestion of gall bladder origin. These individuals burp in vain because the sensation stems from pressure in the gall bladder itself. Improvement follows the use of drugs that ease spasm. Now and then the fault lies in the ferments of the stomach or the type of food eaten. In either case, more gas than normal follows the chemical processes of digestion.

Sensitivity to specific foods may cause digestive distress in the individual with an allergic background. To detect the offending food, an elimination diet is of value. The subject is placed on a simple diet from which certain foods are withheld. One after another is added until symptoms recur which is the signal that the irritant has been consumed. Eggs, milk, and corn are among the most common sources of trouble. One of the most exasperating features of food allergy is that prepared products often contain an irritant that escapes detection. Those who are sensitive to corn, for example, may not realize that cornstarch was used in the preparation of the food.

Nervousness is another cause of the sensation of fullness as well as the abuse of condiments, coffee, tea, and alcohol.

TOMORROW: Irritating the nasal membranes.

DISCOLORED COLD EXTREMITIES

T. V. writes: What is acrocyanosis?

REPLY

A circulatory disturbance in which the hands and feet are reddish-blue, cold, and drenched in perspiration. The condition is more pronounced on exposure to cold or during an emotional upheaval and tends to recede when the room temperature rises and the individual is calm and collected. The cause is overstimulation of the nerves going to the blood vessels of the extremities.

NAME OF GROUP

B. H. writes: Is there any one name for the new anti-tuberculosis drugs comparable to the all-inclusive word, sulfonamides, given to the sulfa preparations?

REPLY

The World Health organization has selected the word "isoniazid" for the nonproprietary name of the isonicotinic hydrazides, the new anti-tuberculosis remedies.

SMOKING AND ASTHMA

W. L. writes: Are medicated cigarets of value to asthma sufferers?

REPLY

This is an oldie. All cigarets are irritating, regardless of the medication inserted. This method of treatment had its day but was superseded by the newer remedies, which work better.

CORNEAL GRAFTS

T. J. writes: Can eyes be grafted from a newly dead person to a live blind person?

REPLY

No, because there is no way to make a satisfactory connection between nerves and blood vessels. On the other hand, parts of an eye, such as the cornea, can be grafted to help individuals who have been blinded by scar tissue over the pupil of the eye.

Voice Of America Beams Stalin Letter To Russia; Congressional Committee Recommends Curbs On Political Spending; Small Business Problems Possible

WASHINGTON — The Voice of America is beaming behind the iron curtain a satirical letter to Joe Stalin from a Ukrainian refugee now in the United States. It reads:

"As you see from my address, 'father', I have measured Europe with my own feet, lengthwise and crosswise, and finally I have reached America, which is so odious to you. This America is a unique and unusual country. But it will never reach the achievements of the Soviet Union.

"Why? Because the life here hasn't been put into proper order yet. People have no military cards; they are not listed at the police and are not registered in 'house-books'. The workers are not attached to the factories and can work wherever they want to. What kind of order is that?

"There are no factory committees, no professional committees, no employe committees, no group committees, no branch committees. No one has any idea about shock-brigades, social competition or stak-hanovism (the Soviet factory speedup system).

"But what bothers me most of all is that the five-year plan hasn't been introduced here yet, and that obligations (debt payments) of the state loan are not forced upon you, although working people here have lots of money. Because there is no state loan, they are compelled to save their money in capitalistic banks, or to buy cars in which they ride around the country in their leisure time.

(Signed) "Your former 'son'— now a lucky 'orphan,' Alexander."

Money In Politics

They are Democrat Hale Boggs of Louisiana, chairman; Republicans Kenneth Keating, New York; William McCulloch, Ohio, with Democrat Frank Karsten, Missouri of the Campaign Investigating Committee. They are preparing some sweeping amendments for our oxcart election laws.

Here are some recommendations they will make to the next Congress:

1. A proposal that expenditures in Presidential-congressional primary campaigns and at national political conventions be regulated by law. Few people realize that there is now no limit on primary spending. The sky's the limit.

For instance, supporters of Taft, Kefauver, Eisenhower, Russell, MacArthur, Kerr spent literally as much as they could get their hands on in the Democratic and Republican primaries. It has been estimated that the Citizens for Eisenhower spent $1,200,000 prior to the national convention in Chicago. Kerr and some of the others also had lavish exchequers.

There is no way of estimating the tremendous sums expended at the national conventions of both parties. But Boggs and his colleagues hope to put a ceiling on spending for Presidential candidates, or at least make the candidates file a public report of their convention expenditures.

"Education" Lobbies

2. The law requires that the Republican and Democratic National Committees limit their spending to $3,000,000 each in a Presidential campaign. However, a favorite subterfuge of both parties is to set up dummy state and local committees, which funnel money to political candidates through the back door, paying for radio time, etc.

The Boggs group will recommend that the two national committees be allowed to spend about $10,000,000 in a Presidential race—reasonable in these times—but will urge a sharp curb on expenditures by dummy committees. The House probers also will urge Congress to crack down on the practice of making contributions through children — including babies — to get around the Corrupt Practices Act, which sets a $5,000 limit on individual contributions to a political candidate.

3. Corporations and labor unions must publicly report their contributions in a political campaign. However, there is no such restriction on lobbies. They spend millions for political ends under the guise of "educating" the public. What's more, some lobbies that engage in politics use the same "educational" gimmick to escape paying taxes. Boggs will strongly recommend remedial action in Congress.

Ike And Small Business

Some salient ideas on how the Eisenhower administration can assist little business in fighting monopoly are revealed in a recent survey of over 500 small manufacturers and distributors in Menneapolis, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Phoenix, Ariz.

The survey was personally conducted by an outgoing official who has nothing to gain by it—John Horne, chief of the Small Defense Plants Agency. Incidentally, an overwhelming number of businessmen interviewed were Republicans who voted for Eisenhower.

One point repeatedly made to Horne was that small businessmen do not need or want "special favors" from the government. They feel that they can perform competitively and effectively even though their production costs may be greater than big competitors'.

"What they want chiefly," says the survey, "is a federal agency, responsible directly to the President and Congress, whose sole interest will be the problems of small business, and with enough authority to remove unfair obstacles and impediments and to assure them equal opportunity."

These Days

Due Process Of The Law

Freedom of thought, speech and expression are guaranteed by the American Constitution; freedom to steal is permissible nowhere. In the case of the spies, the Rosenbergs, their crimes were treason and theft. Advocates of the spies even sought to find a moral basis for stealing.

Thousands of letters, telegrams and telephone calls came to Judge Irving Kaufman of the United States District Court in New York from agitated persons. In court, the Rosenbergs' lawyer put on a melodramatic show designed to melt the heart of the judge. One might melt over a youth caught stealing his first car, but never over a spy.

The Rosenbergs were convicted by due process of the law. They have had 21 months of stays and appeals. They may still try the President of the United States for what they call justice. As Judge Kaufman said in his decision: justice is what they got. They cannot get themselves to ask for mercy, for being Marxists, they must be atheists. Mercy comes from God. A Communist does not put his trust in God but in Stalin.

About 5,000 letters, I understand, were written in response to a solicitation by counsel for the Rosenbergs. This lawyer, an officer of the court, who should put his faith in the American system of jurisprudence, seeks to put pressure on the court, to frighten the judge, by asking prominent persons, particularly those with a penchant for publicity, to write the judge without having read the evidence or even the judge's decision. It is amazing how easy it is to get some people to sign their name to anything.

Irving Kaufman is a fine jurist with a capacity for philosophy and a reaching for fundamental moral principles. He is a Jew by religion and if that matters at all, it is that the moral basis for conduct is, for him, steeped in the laws of God. Deeply American, he could say with emotions arising out of his own life:

"The defendants were born in America, reared in America and educated in the public schools of America. They had lived their entire lives among us; they had all the advantages of our free institutions and had enjoyed the privileges of American citizenship. They have been allowed to progress and develop in freedom and self-respect. As citizens of America, being numbered as one of us, they chose the path of traitors and decided to abandon those who had nurtured and fed them in favor of a nation whose ideology was repugnant to everything we have learned, lived for and to which we have been dedicated. . ."

Everything has been tried by the Rosenbergs except the only step that can justify their existence as human beings: they have never confessed; they have shown no contrition; they have not been penitent. They have been arrogant and tight-lipped.

Their counsel has pled that the judge have mercy on their children. But they have forgotten mercy for their own children. They have imperilled their children's lives. They have brought such disgrace upon them, sinning without a thought that such disregard for human decency embarrasses children who suffer more than the parents do.

What is the name for a son of a spy? Did Julius Rosenberg think of that when he headed a syndicate of scoundrels to steal from his native land its most guarded military secret? He forgot his children when he negotiated with the Russians. He and his wife, Ethel, were not, as Judge Kaufman points out, "minor espionage agents; they were on the top rung of this conspiracy. . . He was always the principal recruiter for scientists and technicians and the guiding spirit of the conspirators. And at all times Ethel Rosenberg, older in years, and wise in Communist doctrine, aided and abetted and advised her husband."

It is impossible to forgive these spies; it would be possible to commute their sentences, if they told the story fully, more than we now know even after these trials. They can still serve America by revealing the nature of this plot, its instigation, how much was spent on it, who paid the expenses, how the money was transmitted. Klaus Fuchs confessed. David Greenglass confessed. Harry Gold confessed. The Rosenbergs remain adamant in their loyalty to the devil, Joe Stalin. Then let them go to the devil.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Truman's farewell message to Congress, in which he pictures the Presidency as a tremendous job for one man, emphasizes a question that he doesn't undertake to answer, but which sooner or later mut be answered by the American people.

It means simply that government by council has to supersede one-man government.

For the truth is America in recent years has had a dozen little presidents — concealed presidents without responsibility to the people but acting with full power and authority.

Mr. Truman himself has been a kind of puppet. Behind him has been the "palace guard" which has pulled the strings. The real decisions and the carrying out of the decisions have been by officials who, of course, kept the President posted, but he couldn't as a practical matter anaylze their recommendations or the merits of their actions.

It is next to impossible for any President, even with the best of intentions, to master the thousand and one problems that come to him for final decision. He must necessarily adopt the viewpoint of others—trusted advisors.

People Don't Comprehend

Under the parliamentary system in vogue in Canada and other English-speaking democracies, responsibility isn't fixed in one man but in a cabinet which itself is part of the national legislature. When the people vote for or against the record of the government on public policy, they are then passing judgment not on one man but on a group of men who comprise the leadership of a party.

The handicaps of the American system have not yet come under severe criticism because the people have not understood or known much about the real workings of their national government. They have been content with the fiction that a Presidential action is actually something a President himself does. They do not know how many messages — including Mr. Truman's message this week—are not penned by him at all but are the composite of a half-dozen memoranda furnished by others and usually put into final shape by what are known as "ghost writers."

It is argued that this isn't deception because, after all, the President, when he signs his name, is approving of all that the document contains. But the truth is there are many insidiously written paragraphs which find their way repeatedly into Presidential statements that would never get in there if subjected to a cabinet's full discussion and examination.

Only when a cabinet is responsible to the people as a whole is there a chance to argue with a President about what he says, presumably in behalf of his whole administration. It is not uncommon nowadays to find cabinet officers who disagree with a President's statements of policy, but more often than not they never had a chance, even on the inside of the government, to express their dissent and argue for modification.

In the absence of any form of cabinet responsibility, the only solution that can be offered now to such an anomalous situation is to set up cabinet meetings on a council basis and give the cabinet a voice in policy-making. Likewise, the cabinet officers, who exercise powers delegated to the President by Congress, should have councils—not just of assistants and administrators in their own departments but of men gathered from outside the government—so that policy-making will not be a haphazard affair of a one-man affair. The saying that two heads are better than one is especially true of policy-making and, while council sessions can sometimes produce delays, the end result is usually better when there is time for deliberation.

Must Provide Leadership

Already there are signs that General Eisenhower, in the field of agriculture, for example, is calling in men of various viewpoints to share policy in the Department of Agriculture. He would find it equally valuable in the field of labor-management relations and in the field of foreign policy. It is unthinkable that one man—even the secretary of State—should be asked to make economic foreign policy and diplomatic foreign policy. The two are related and have been administered by two different agencies of government. They could be administered by a single department provided such a department has a policy-making council.

Mr. Truman points out how tough the Presidency is as a job. That's because no man in recent years has ever measured up to its real requirements of leadership. The President cannot be an executive or an administrator in the sense of a general business manager. He can't even make policies by himself. But he has to provide the leadership which will get others to help make policy. He has to have enough sense to recognize the difference between a good or a bad recommendation. He must determine whether the recommendations of his advisors are in the public interest, and this requires only intellectual honesty, common sense and courage.

General Eisenhower looks like a man who can provide that kind of leadership—and he has already started out with the conference or council idea.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

Bedell Smith, Clare Luce, Et Al

WASHINGTON

The key faces are being painted into the collective portrait of the staff who will make American foreign policy in the new administration.

Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, now director of the Central Intelligence Agency, has been asked to serve as under secretary of State in charge of policy. The present deputy under secretary, H. Freeman Matthews, is to continue in his present post, as is the assistant secretary in charge of Far Eastern affairs, John Allison. Henry Byroade, assistant secretary for another vital and troubled area, the Middle East, is also likely to be retained. But Douglas MacArthur, a foreign service officer who is the nephew of the general, is currently slated to replace Charles E. Bohlen as counselor of the department.

Appointments of equal interest are also in the wind abroad. The ambassadorship to Italy was at first offered to Connecticut's governor, John Lodge. He refused, and at his suggestion the place is now to go to Clare Boothe Luce, wife of the publisher of "Time" and a powerful personality in her own right. Mrs. Luce in Rome will hold by far the most important foreign policy post given to a woman.

May Not Accept

The ambassadorship to Germany has meanwhile been offered to President James Bryant Conant of Harvard University. The motive here was a desire to confide the difficult German problem to the strongest possible man, who would command the maximum of respect. It was also desired not to name a big businessman in this instance. It seems hardly possible, nonetheless, that President Conant will agree to leave his present post.

The choice of the young New York banker, Douglas Dillon, as ambassador to Paris, is not quite final as yet, owing to political objections in New Jersey. But the transfer to Madrid of the present ambassador to Paris, James Dunn, is likely in any case. Dr. Ralph Bunche is understood to be under consideration both for the ambassadorship to Moscow and the post in New Delhi; and the former ambassador to Moscow, George F. Kennan, is being tipped as the replacement of Jefferson Caffery in Egypt.

These names should be enough to convey an impression. The most interesting aspect of the general picture is undoubtedly in the State Department itself, concerning which the future secretary, John Foster Dulles, has gradually altered his views.

Interestingly enough, Dulles did not originally desire this secretaryship which has always been regarded as his dearest wish; and contrary to universal report, he would not have been named secretary if Gov. Thomas E. Dewey had beaten Harry S. Truman in 1948. Dewey's plan was to establish a powerful national policy planning staff, with wide authority in the twin spheres of foreign and defense policy. Dulles was to have headed this staff, while Lewis W. Douglas would probably have been Dewey's choice for the secretaryship of State.

Refused By Lodge

As soon as President-elect Eisenhower was elected, this same project was revived, with Dulles slated for the same high place as before. The secretaryship of State, it can now be disclosed, was actually offered to former Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts. Only when Lodge refused, on the ground of his difficult relationship with Sen. Robert A. Taft, was Dulles induced to take the secretaryship.

The fact that Dulles has now offered the under Secretaryship to Gen. Smith may be taken as especially suggestive. The matter is not completely settled. For one thing, Gen. Smith is intensely anxious that he should be succeeded at the CIA by the other exceedingly able Dulles brother, Allen, and there is some foolish dispute about this. But in choosing Smith, who was Eisenhower's chief of staff in the war, John Foster Dulles has plainly signified a desire to have a State Department team that can work as well with Eisenhower as with himself. The same impression is conveyed by the choice of Douglas MacArthur, whose service as political advisor to SHAPE also brought him into close contact with President-elect Eisenhower.

The Smith appointment has other meanings as well. By now, indeed, it would be hard to name any man in the American government with quite the equal of Gen. Smith's experiences. At the CIA, he has brilliantly discharged a great civilian administrative responsibility. By training, he knows the whole sphere of defense. As ambassador to Moscow, he gained the sort of special knowledge of the Soviet Union that cannot be replaced by reading papers and reports.

Finally, all these appointments—of Smith, Matthews, MacArthur and the rest of the State Department staff, and of the various new ambassadors, clearly imply that there is to be a high degree of continuity in our foreign policy, as well as the new look that is so often demanded. All in all, if all these planned appointments go through as hoped, John Foster Dulles has got off to a strong start.

"Trade, Not Aid" Next?

The first official recognition of a coming shift in emphasis on foreign aid by the United States—from outright grants toward solvency through trade—may come in a reduction in the foreign aid request in the Truman budget, scheduled for today. In 1952, the President requested $7.9 billion for foreign aid, got about 18 per cent less than that amount.

Nobody needs a crystal ball to foresee that a Republican administration and a Republican Congress will be more chary than were the Democrats in giving out U. S. dollars for foreign aid. But with the continuing total "dollar gap" between exports and imports of free countries running about $6 to $7 billion a year, any sudden reversal of foreign aid policy by the United States could plunge the other free countries—in Europe and elsewhere—into financial disaster.

A partial answer to the problem of the dollar gap is the general policy represented by the slogan "trade, not aid." It was "more trade, less aid" that Senator Monroney (D., Okla.) recommended on December 23, on his return from several weeks in Europe. Saying he was reconciled to cuts in the foreign aid program, Monroney predicted that the forthcoming battle over extending the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act would decided the "question of whether the internationally minded Republicans or the Taft crowd will prevail" in Congress.

But the Republicans, though traditionally favoring high tariffs, may not put up the fight against the reciprocal trade act that Monroney predicted. Senator Taft on January 5 said he thought the present law had been working fairly satisfactorily. Taft noted that he had supported renewal of the reciprocal trade program in 1948, once Congress had inserted the "peril point" escape provision.

The peril point section of the act required a report by the President to Congress whenever he agreed to cut any tariff rate below a point designated by the Federal Tariff Commission as threatening injury to American producers. Senator Taft opposed two-year renewal of the trade act in 1949, when the Democrats removed the escape clause inserted by the Republican 80th Congress. The act was again renewed in 1951, with the peril point provision reinserted, and with Taft's support. It expires June 30.

The Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act of 1934 granted President F. D. Roosevelt the authority he had requested to "enter into executive commercial agreements with foreign nations" for reciprocal reductions of tariffs. Little use was made of the authority after the outbreak of World War II. But in a special message on March 26, 1945, FDR told Congress much of the authority conferred by the original act had been used up, and he asked additional bargaining power.

A three-year extension was voted by Congress in June, after President Truman had echoed the Roosevelt request "as of the first order of importance for the success of my administration." Secretary of State Marshall in 1948 described the act as "the cornerstone and keystone of our foreign economic policy."

How Long A Honeymoon?

Although Dwight D. Eisenhower will not take office until January 20, the honeymoon of the new administration with the legislative branch can be dated from the organization of the 83rd Congress on January 3. How long the honeymoon will last is anybody's guess.

Recent conferences of Eisenhower with House and Senate Republican leaders, also Eisenhower overtures to Senator Taft and General MacArthur, would seem to have closed up any rift in the party lute, at least temporarily. Moreover, the general brings to the Presidency an unusual amount of political prestige, in that he ran ahead of most of the other GOP nominees last November 4. And any solon who wants federal patronage will be well advised to stay in line as long as jobs are to be filled.

Representative Boggs (D., La.) predicts that the honeymoon will last about six months or through the first session of Congress—"while patronage plums are being dangled." Yet the plums are fewer than generally supposed. The Civil Service Commission has reported that only about 170,000 of the 2,600,000 federal jobs are unprotected by the merit system, and that most of these 170,000 are "small, low-grade positions, paid by the day or hour."

The honeymoon of Harry S. Truman with Congress, after his elevation to the Presidency on April 12, 1945, lasted less than five months. The turning point came with the President's reconversion message of September 6, in which he endorsed the Roosevelt "Economic Bill of Rights." Truman was then a non-elected President, and hence without a demonstrated mandate from the people.

The honeymoon of President F. D. Roosevelt with Congress lasted, with some increasing stress and strain, for his whole first term. During that period Congress did refuse to go along with him on economy, the veterans' bonus, the World Court and the St. Lawrence treaty, but the crockery wasn't thrown in dead earnest until FDR brought out his Supreme Court plan in 1937.

Battle Of The Budgets

Because the law prescribes this course, President Truman will lay before Congress a budget for the fiscal year beginning next July. The action, however, will be largely in the nature of a gesture. When General Eisenhower takes office on January 20, he will submit a budget of his own and nobody doubts that it will be substantially different from the one presented by Mr. Truman.

It may also be taken as a fact that the new Congress itself will have something definite to say about how much money will be spent. Of course, as the appropriating body, it always exercises control over the purse strings, but this year chances are better than even that an effort will be made to practice economy.

All of which suggests the more clearly that the Truman budget, whatever the size of it, will receive only cursory attention from Congress. According to best information available, the expiring administration will ask for approximately $73,000,000,000 in appropriations.

But that does not represent the total amount which the outgoing President would make available for running the government. Approximately $5,000,000,000 remains unspent, as a result of lag in defense production. So actually the cost of the fiscal year's operations is put at nearly $80,000,000,000.

That, then, is the figure which the new Congress will try to whittle down and some congressional leaders already have stated that they hope to reduce it by at least $10,000,000,000.

How To Keep Well

Bloating: Gas Or Air?

Many individuals blame their abdominal distress on gas, not realizing that something else may be causing the discomfort. The majority are experiencing spasm despite the fact that these persons have a sensation which they believe could be relieved by bringing up gas. They try and try but because there is none to burp an attempt is made to manufacture some by swallowing air.

This behavior is difficult to explain. Apparently the feeling of having "gas on the stomach" is an illusion as many fluoroscopic studies have revealed. It is normal to have a small amount but whenever a sizable quantity accumulates it is easily eliminated by belching. This is done, for example, whenever baking soda and carbonated drinks are taken and there is a real accumulation of gas.

Dr. William H. Bachrach of Los Angeles described a patient who complained of so much bloating that her abdomen was distended to the size of a 7 month pregnancy. The physician asked the woman to phone him and made arrangements for an abdominal X-ray to be taken, day or night, when the distention was at its peak. In addition, he taught the patient to record measurements of the abdominal girth at this time. But despite her complaints no positive records were obtained; on one occasion only a trivial amount of gas was noted on X-ray.

We are not trying to imply that a gaseous condition does not exist. In most instances, the sensation of gas is part of indigestion which stems from one of many gastro-intestinal disturbances varying from gall bladder trouble to nervousness. The symptom is noted in peptic ulcer but when relief is obtained with baking soda care must be taken not to give credit to the elimination of carbon dioxide gas which is produced by the chemical. Actually the ensuing discomfort results from the neutralization of excess acidity.

But the same will not occur with indigestion of gall bladder origin. These individuals burp in vain because the sensation stems from pressure in the gall bladder itself. Improvement follows the use of drugs that ease spasm. Now and then the fault lies in the ferments of the stomach or the type of food eaten. In either case, more gas than normal follows the chemical processes of digestion.

Sensitivity to specific foods may cause digestive distress in the individual with an allergic background. To detect the offending food, an elimination diet is of value. The subject is placed on a simple diet from which certain foods are withheld. One after another is added until symptoms recur which is the signal that the irritant has been consumed. Eggs, milk, and corn are among the most common sources of trouble. One of the most exasperating features of food allergy is that prepared products often contain an irritant that escapes detection. Those who are sensitive to corn, for example, may not realize that cornstarch was used in the preparation of the food.

Nervousness is another cause of the sensation of fullness as well as the abuse of condiments, coffee, tea, and alcohol.

DISCOLORED COLD EXTREMITIES

T. V. writes: What is acrocyanosis?

REPLY

A circulatory disturbance in which the hands and feet are reddish-blue, cold, and drenched in perspiration. The condition is more pronounced on exposure to cold or during an emotional upheaval and tends to recede when the room temperature rises and the individual is calm and collected. The cause is overstimulation of the nerves going to the blood vessels of the extremities.

NAME OF GROUP

B. H. writes: Is there any one name for the new anti-tuberculosis drugs comparable to the all-inclusive word, sulfonamides, given to the sulfa preparations?

REPLY

The World Health organization has selected the word "isoniazid" for the nonproprietary name of the isonicotinic hydrazides, the new anti-tuberculosis remedies.

SMOKING AND ASTHMA

W. L. writes: Are medicated cigarets of value to asthma sufferers?

REPLY

This is an oldie. All cigarets are irritating, regardless of the medication inserted. This method of treatment had its day but was superseded by the newer remedies, which work better.

CORNEAL GRAFTS

T. J. writes: Can eyes be grafted from a newly dead person to a live blind person?

REPLY

No, because there is no way to make a satisfactory connection between nerves and blood vessels. On the other hand, parts of an eye, such as the cornea, can be grafted to help individuals who have been blinded by scar tissue over the pupil of the eye.

Voice Of America Beams Stalin Letter To Russia; Congressional Committee Recommends Curbs On Political Spending; Small Business Problems Possible

WASHINGTON — The Voice of America is beaming behind the iron curtain a satirical letter to Joe Stalin from a Ukrainian refugee now in the United States. It reads:

"As you see from my address, 'father', I have measured Europe with my own feet, lengthwise and crosswise, and finally I have reached America, which is so odious to you. This America is a unique and unusual country. But it will never reach the achievements of the Soviet Union.

"Why? Because the life here hasn't been put into proper order yet. People have no military cards; they are not listed at the police and are not registered in 'house-books'. The workers are not attached to the factories and can work wherever they want to. What kind of order is that?

Money In Politics

They are Democrat Hale Boggs of Louisiana, chairman; Republicans Kenneth Keating, New York; William McCulloch, Ohio, with Democrat Frank Karsten, Missouri of the Campaign Investigating Committee. They are preparing some sweeping amendments for our oxcart election laws.

Here are some recommendations they will make to the next Congress:

1. A proposal that expenditures in Presidential-congressional primary campaigns and at national political conventions be regulated by law. Few people realize that there is now no limit on primary spending. The sky's the limit.

For instance, supporters of Taft, Kefauver, Eisenhower, Russell, MacArthur, Kerr spent literally as much as they could get their hands on in the Democratic and Republican primaries. It has been estimated that the Citizens for Eisenhower spent $1,200,000 prior to the national convention in Chicago. Kerr and some of the others also had lavish exchequers.

There is no way of estimating the tremendous sums expended at the national conventions of both parties. But Boggs and his colleagues hope to put a ceiling on spending for Presidential candidates, or at least make the candidates file a public report of their convention expenditures.

"Education" Lobbies

2. The law requires that the Republican and Democratic National Committees limit their spending to $3,000,000 each in a Presidential campaign. However, a favorite subterfuge of both parties is to set up dummy state and local committees, which funnel money to political candidates through the back door, paying for radio time, etc.

The Boggs group will recommend that the two national committees be allowed to spend about $10,000,000 in a Presidential race—reasonable in these times—but will urge a sharp curb on expenditures by dummy committees. The House probers also will urge Congress to crack down on the practice of making contributions through children — including babies — to get around the Corrupt Practices Act, which sets a $5,000 limit on individual contributions to a political candidate.

3. Corporations and labor unions must publicly report their contributions in a political campaign. However, there is no such restriction on lobbies. They spend millions for political ends under the guise of "educating" the public. What's more, some lobbies that engage in politics use the same "educational" gimmick to escape paying taxes. Boggs will strongly recommend remedial action in Congress.

Ike And Small Business

Some salient ideas on how the Eisenhower administration can assist little business in fighting monopoly are revealed in a recent survey of over 500 small manufacturers and distributors in Menneapolis, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Phoenix, Ariz.

The survey was personally conducted by an outgoing official who has nothing to gain by it—John Horne, chief of the Small Defense Plants Agency. Incidentally, an overwhelming number of businessmen interviewed were Republicans who voted for Eisenhower.

One point repeatedly made to Horne was that small businessmen do not need or want "special favors" from the government. They feel that they can perform competitively and effectively even though their production costs may be greater than big competitors'.

"What they want chiefly," says the survey, "is a federal agency, responsible directly to the President and Congress, whose sole interest will be the problems of small business, and with enough authority to remove unfair obstacles and impediments and to assure them equal opportunity."

Thousands of letters, telegrams and telephone calls came to Judge Irving Kaufman of the United States District Court in New York from agitated persons. In court, the Rosenbergs' lawyer put on a melodramatic show designed to melt the heart of the judge. One might melt over a youth caught stealing his first car, but never over a spy.

The Rosenbergs were convicted by due process of the law. They have had 21 months of stays and appeals. They may still try the President of the United States for what they call justice. As Judge Kaufman said in his decision: justice is what they got. They cannot get themselves to ask for mercy, for being Marxists, they must be atheists. Mercy comes from God. A Communist does not put his trust in God but in Stalin.

About 5,000 letters, I understand, were written in response to a solicitation by counsel for the Rosenbergs. This lawyer, an officer of the court, who should put his faith in the American system of jurisprudence, seeks to put pressure on the court, to frighten the judge, by asking prominent persons, particularly those with a penchant for publicity, to write the judge without having read the evidence or even the judge's decision. It is amazing how easy it is to get some people to sign their name to anything.

Irving Kaufman is a fine jurist with a capacity for philosophy and a reaching for fundamental moral principles. He is a Jew by religion and if that matters at all, it is that the moral basis for conduct is, for him, steeped in the laws of God. Deeply American, he could say with emotions arising out of his own life:

"The defendants were born in America, reared in America and educated in the public schools of America. They had lived their entire lives among us; they had all the advantages of our free institutions and had enjoyed the privileges of American citizenship. They have been allowed to progress and develop in freedom and self-respect. As citizens of America, being numbered as one of us, they chose the path of traitors and decided to abandon those who had nurtured and fed them in favor of a nation whose ideology was repugnant to everything we have learned, lived for and to which we have been dedicated. . ."

Everything has been tried by the Rosenbergs except the only step that can justify their existence as human beings: they have never confessed; they have shown no contrition; they have not been penitent. They have been arrogant and tight-lipped.

Their counsel has pled that the judge have mercy on their children. But they have forgotten mercy for their own children. They have imperilled their children's lives. They have brought such disgrace upon them, sinning without a thought that such disregard for human decency embarrasses children who suffer more than the parents do.

What is the name for a son of a spy? Did Julius Rosenberg think of that when he headed a syndicate of scoundrels to steal from his native land its most guarded military secret? He forgot his children when he negotiated with the Russians. He and his wife, Ethel, were not, as Judge Kaufman points out, "minor espionage agents; they were on the top rung of this conspiracy. . . He was always the principal recruiter for scientists and technicians and the guiding spirit of the conspirators. And at all times Ethel Rosenberg, older in years, and wise in Communist doctrine, aided and abetted and advised her husband."

It is impossible to forgive these spies; it would be possible to commute their sentences, if they told the story fully, more than we now know even after these trials. They can still serve America by revealing the nature of this plot, its instigation, how much was spent on it, who paid the expenses, how the money was transmitted. Klaus Fuchs confessed. David Greenglass confessed. Harry Gold confessed. The Rosenbergs remain adamant in their loyalty to the devil, Joe Stalin. Then let them go to the devil.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Truman's farewell message to Congress, in which he pictures the Presidency as a tremendous job for one man, emphasizes a question that he doesn't undertake to answer, but which sooner or later mut be answered by the American people.

It means simply that government by council has to supersede one-man government.

For the truth is America in recent years has had a dozen little presidents — concealed presidents without responsibility to the people but acting with full power and authority.

Mr. Truman himself has been a kind of puppet. Behind him has been the "palace guard" which has pulled the strings. The real decisions and the carrying out of the decisions have been by officials who, of course, kept the President posted, but he couldn't as a practical matter anaylze their recommendations or the merits of their actions.

It is next to impossible for any President, even with the best of intentions, to master the thousand and one problems that come to him for final decision. He must necessarily adopt the viewpoint of others—trusted advisors.

People Don't Comprehend

Under the parliamentary system in vogue in Canada and other English-speaking democracies, responsibility isn't fixed in one man but in a cabinet which itself is part of the national legislature. When the people vote for or against the record of the government on public policy, they are then passing judgment not on one man but on a group of men who comprise the leadership of a party.

The handicaps of the American system have not yet come under severe criticism because the people have not understood or known much about the real workings of their national government. They have been content with the fiction that a Presidential action is actually something a President himself does. They do not know how many messages — including Mr. Truman's message this week—are not penned by him at all but are the composite of a half-dozen memoranda furnished by others and usually put into final shape by what are known as "ghost writers."

It is argued that this isn't deception because, after all, the President, when he signs his name, is approving of all that the document contains. But the truth is there are many insidiously written paragraphs which find their way repeatedly into Presidential statements that would never get in there if subjected to a cabinet's full discussion and examination.

Only when a cabinet is responsible to the people as a whole is there a chance to argue with a President about what he says, presumably in behalf of his whole administration. It is not uncommon nowadays to find cabinet officers who disagree with a President's statements of policy, but more often than not they never had a chance, even on the inside of the government, to express their dissent and argue for modification.

In the absence of any form of cabinet responsibility, the only solution that can be offered now to such an anomalous situation is to set up cabinet meetings on a council basis and give the cabinet a voice in policy-making. Likewise, the cabinet officers, who exercise powers delegated to the President by Congress, should have councils—not just of assistants and administrators in their own departments but of men gathered from outside the government—so that policy-making will not be a haphazard affair of a one-man affair. The saying that two heads are better than one is especially true of policy-making and, while council sessions can sometimes produce delays, the end result is usually better when there is time for deliberation.

Must Provide Leadership

Already there are signs that General Eisenhower, in the field of agriculture, for example, is calling in men of various viewpoints to share policy in the Department of Agriculture. He would find it equally valuable in the field of labor-management relations and in the field of foreign policy. It is unthinkable that one man—even the secretary of State—should be asked to make economic foreign policy and diplomatic foreign policy. The two are related and have been administered by two different agencies of government. They could be administered by a single department provided such a department has a policy-making council.

Mr. Truman points out how tough the Presidency is as a job. That's because no man in recent years has ever measured up to its real requirements of leadership. The President cannot be an executive or an administrator in the sense of a general business manager. He can't even make policies by himself. But he has to provide the leadership which will get others to help make policy. He has to have enough sense to recognize the difference between a good or a bad recommendation. He must determine whether the recommendations of his advisors are in the public interest, and this requires only intellectual honesty, common sense and courage.

General Eisenhower looks like a man who can provide that kind of leadership—and he has already started out with the conference or council idea.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

Bedell Smith, Clare Luce, Et Al

WASHINGTON

The key faces are being painted into the collective portrait of the staff who will make American foreign policy in the new administration.

Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, now director of the Central Intelligence Agency, has been asked to serve as under secretary of State in charge of policy. The present deputy under secretary, H. Freeman Matthews, is to continue in his present post, as is the assistant secretary in charge of Far Eastern affairs, John Allison. Henry Byroade, assistant secretary for another vital and troubled area, the Middle East, is also likely to be retained. But Douglas MacArthur, a foreign service officer who is the nephew of the general, is currently slated to replace Charles E. Bohlen as counselor of the department.

Appointments of equal interest are also in the wind abroad. The ambassadorship to Italy was at first offered to Connecticut's governor, John Lodge. He refused, and at his suggestion the place is now to go to Clare Boothe Luce, wife of the publisher of "Time" and a powerful personality in her own right. Mrs. Luce in Rome will hold by far the most important foreign policy post given to a woman.

May Not Accept

The ambassadorship to Germany has meanwhile been offered to President James Bryant Conant of Harvard University. The motive here was a desire to confide the difficult German problem to the strongest possible man, who would command the maximum of respect. It was also desired not to name a big businessman in this instance. It seems hardly possible, nonetheless, that President Conant will agree to leave his present post.

The choice of the young New York banker, Douglas Dillon, as ambassador to Paris, is not quite final as yet, owing to political objections in New Jersey. But the transfer to Madrid of the present ambassador to Paris, James Dunn, is likely in any case. Dr. Ralph Bunche is understood to be under consideration both for the ambassadorship to Moscow and the post in New Delhi; and the former ambassador to Moscow, George F. Kennan, is being tipped as the replacement of Jefferson Caffery in Egypt.

These names should be enough to convey an impression. The most interesting aspect of the general picture is undoubtedly in the State Department itself, concerning which the future secretary, John Foster Dulles, has gradually altered his views.

Interestingly enough, Dulles did not originally desire this secretaryship which has always been regarded as his dearest wish; and contrary to universal report, he would not have been named secretary if Gov. Thomas E. Dewey had beaten Harry S. Truman in 1948. Dewey's plan was to establish a powerful national policy planning staff, with wide authority in the twin spheres of foreign and defense policy. Dulles was to have headed this staff, while Lewis W. Douglas would probably have been Dewey's choice for the secretaryship of State.

Refused By Lodge

As soon as President-elect Eisenhower was elected, this same project was revived, with Dulles slated for the same high place as before. The secretaryship of State, it can now be disclosed, was actually offered to former Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts. Only when Lodge refused, on the ground of his difficult relationship with Sen. Robert A. Taft, was Dulles induced to take the secretaryship.

The fact that Dulles has now offered the under Secretaryship to Gen. Smith may be taken as especially suggestive. The matter is not completely settled. For one thing, Gen. Smith is intensely anxious that he should be succeeded at the CIA by the other exceedingly able Dulles brother, Allen, and there is some foolish dispute about this. But in choosing Smith, who was Eisenhower's chief of staff in the war, John Foster Dulles has plainly signified a desire to have a State Department team that can work as well with Eisenhower as with himself. The same impression is conveyed by the choice of Douglas MacArthur, whose service as political advisor to SHAPE also brought him into close contact with President-elect Eisenhower.

The Smith appointment has other meanings as well. By now, indeed, it would be hard to name any man in the American government with quite the equal of Gen. Smith's experiences. At the CIA, he has brilliantly discharged a great civilian administrative responsibility. By training, he knows the whole sphere of defense. As ambassador to Moscow, he gained the sort of special knowledge of the Soviet Union that cannot be replaced by reading papers and reports.

Finally, all these appointments—of Smith, Matthews, MacArthur and the rest of the State Department staff, and of the various new ambassadors, clearly imply that there is to be a high degree of continuity in our foreign policy, as well as the new look that is so often demanded. All in all, if all these planned appointments go through as hoped, John Foster Dulles has got off to a strong start.

NEW YORK — (INS) — I sometimes miss the writing style of my friend Dr. Harry Schlacht, the former editorialist who is now a big wheel in New York City's Department of Commerce, which is not much smaller than the United States' department of the same name. Only Harry could have done proper justice to a bill that is before the 83rd Congress, the Reed-Keogh bill, which is a voluntary pension plan to provide a retirement income for the 11,000,000 independent professional and small business men and women in the nation.

The good doctor might have done it like this:

All hail the Reed-Keogh bill!
It is fine.
It is great.
It is true blue.
So are Reed and Keogh.
Salts of the earth.
Both.

(I learned to read Harry by covering tennis matches as a boy. This developed rope-like neck muscles permitting fast movement of the head back and forth, like the boss replying to a request for a pay lift.)

In this day of uncertainty,
While the cruel enemy flexes atomic muscles,
What outlook is there for the future of the self-employed man—the artist, writer, lawyer, doctor, laundryman, farmer — when he reaches 65?

None are qualified under present laws,
For private pension plan benefits.
That is bad.
That is sad.
That is not true blue. Not one little bit!

All hail President-elect Eisenhower. He is for the voluntary retirement income plan. He has said, "evidently forgot the self-employed individual."

Probably meant "evidently they forgot the self-employed individual."

The Reed-Keogh bill would help the oppressed. That is what the oppressed need. Help.

It would make tax-exempt a certain portion of the self-employed man's annual income (excluding investment income) and put it in a pot to await his 65th birthday.

The American Bar Association says hurrah.

The Bar Associations of New York State and our glorious city say hurrah.

The Authors League, working closely with the bars, says hic hic hurrah.

Hurrah. Ditto for more than 16 professional groups representing lawyers, doctors, architects, engineers, writers, artists and business men and women.

As I understand it, the voluntary pension plan would permit each subscriber to exclude 10 per cent of $7,500—whichever is lower—of his earned net income each year from federal taxes and keep it on ice against that day when his wind fails, his batting eye clouds, and it takes at least a symbolic triple to score him from second.

(This would not be class legislation, unless you include that phase of it which will apply to chorus girls.)

Praise the Reed-Keogh bill.

Hope of rugged individualists all.

None of whom seem so rugged as they envision insolvent senility.

Is All Humor Cruel?

Any old-timers in show business will tell you a sure way to get a laugh is for a comedian to bend over to tie his shoe and his partner to take good aim and let go with his toe like old Jim Thorpe making a drop kick in his best days. The same is true of a slapstick or a custard pie in the pan. Like most humor, these gestures are funny because cruel. They hurt the victim and hold him up to ridicule. Now a gentler kind is when the teller bears the brunt. Here are a couple of examples:

John Wheeler

A friend of mine, who was a former football star and weighed about 265 pounds sopping wet, give or take a few ounces, used to get his shoes shined daily in Washington by the same bootblack. He always had this greeting for his customer:

"How are you today, Fat?"

Then the man joined the OSS and went to a farm in Maryland to get into the best of shape. He worked hard, doing road work, exercising, and dieting. He lost 60 pounds in about six weeks and was proud of what he thought was his slim silhouette. He had to have his clothes taken in to fit. He returned to the Capital, and the first morning stopped, as usual, to have his shoes polished. The bootblack looked at him, and said,

"Hello, Baldy. What happened to you?"

Now here is a story the narrator tells on himself, so he is the butt of it, for he is both fat and bald. The proprietor of a well-known New York restaurant gave me this one:

An actor, who was down on his luck and broke, came into his place one day. He walked up to the boss.

"I hate to admit it," he began, "but I am flat. Could you let me have something to buy a drink and a sandwich?"

The owner reached into his pocket and handed him $2.

"Here, take this," he said. "Go over there and sit down at a table. After you order and finish, tip the waiter, as if you were on top again."

The ham studied the menu. Then he beckoned to his benefactor.

"I have a complaint," he grumbled. "With these prices you have here, no wonder you can afford to give away $2."

Of course, practical joking is the cruelest form of humor and sometimes the most dangerous. When Theodore Roosevelt went to Africa on his hunting expedition after his term as President expired, rumors began to circulate around the old New York Herald office that a reporter would be sent to meet him and accompany him home, an exciting assignment. There was a young fellow who carried a cane, as most of us did in those days, and was pretty bumptious.

The foreign editor began to ask him questions on a confidential basis about his habits, prospects, what languages he spoke and so on. We all knew about the exchange. Then he faked telegrams from the Washington bureau and got the pseudo correspondent to sign all sorts of documents. He even shopped for a new outfit and travelin gbags for which he had to borrow money. Finally, he was asked to sign a paper agreeing to various conditions which was purportedly demanded by the governments of the countries he expected to visit. The last item had him swear he would not marry an African virgin.

This made him suspicious. He realized it was all a hoax when about 20 of us gathered around to give him the laugh. He slunk out of the building to the nearest saloon across the street. The story has a happy ending. He quit the paper and got a job writing scenarios for a moving picture company in the early days. He became a big shot and made a lot of money. The guy who thought up the gag died broke.

Laws Can Be Fun

If a fellow asked me what was in the Taft-Hartley gimmick I wouldn't know. But I understand that even Taft don't like it.

Seems that when two fellows collaborouse on a law they burn the midnight oil in bottles instead of lamps. They sure gum the details.

Let's take the McCarren-Walter law which doesn't affect me any more than rain on the roof. There's twenty-five thousand words in that codicil and it comes to the point slower than the guys who built the Pyramids.

Some of it's good and thick. Some of it's thinner than the pink part of your ear. The mixture is getting kicked around like a loose hat in a dark aisle.

Twin legislation seems to be more Siamese than American When two senators get their heads together they've only got eyebrows for bumpers. Results in a house divided against itself. With two names on the marquee.

When Henry Clay wanted to stir up sand bottom he didn't say to John Brown, "Let's whip up a law. It's my treat."

Henry was an egotist who made his mistakes solo. He missed more times than a cross-eyed tailor threading a needle. What happens to laws anyway?

A law is ratified by the House. endorsed by the Senate, approved by the White House, okayed by the Supreme Court and lasts about as long as a smoke ring.

Collaboration is all right I guess. But there's always trouble when one boy owns the kite and the other boy owns the string.

World's newest V8 powers BUICK'S GREATEST CARS IN 50 GREAT YEARS

HERE you see pictured the Golden Anniversary ROADMASTER — engineered, styled, powered and bodied to be fully worthy of its paragon role in this fiftieth year of Buick building.

★ It has the world's newest V8 engine. Vertical valves; 12-volt electrical system; 180 pounds lighter; entire engine is so compact, a new, more maneuverable chassis has been built around it.

★ It has 188 Fireball horsepower. A new Buick record; engine horsepower per pound increased 40%.

★ It has a compression ratio of 8.5 to 1. Highest compression on the American scene today; bettered fuel economy.

★ It has a dynamic-flow muffler. For the first time in automotive history, a muffler with zero power loss.

★ It has a new Twin-Turbine Dynaflow Drive. Now adds far swifter, quieter, more efficient getaway to infinite smoothness at all speed ranges.

★ It has new braking power. Most powerful braking action of any Buick in fifty years; plus the new ease of Power Brakes, optional at extra cost.

★ It has a still finer ride. The softest, steadiest, most buoyantly level ride that Buick's advanced engineering has yet produced.

Television treat—the BUICK CIRCUS HOUR—every fourth Tuesday.

It has, also, wondrous handling ease, with Power Steering as standard equipment. It has superb comfort. It has sumptuous fabrics and tailoring. And its acoustics are so thoroughly mastered that it may well be one of the world's most quiet cars.

But no listing of facts can do true justice to this phenomenal automobile, or to its brilliant brothers, the 1953 SUPERS and SPECIALS.

And no words can really tell you the beauty you see, the comfort you feel, the excitement you experience—when you look at and drive any one of these big, beautiful, bounteous Buicks for 1953.

Will you come in and see for yourself that these are, in simple truth, Buick's greatest cars in five brilliant decades?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Twin legislation seems to be more Siamese than American When two senators get their heads together they've only got eyebrows for bumpers. Results in a house divided against itself. With two names on the marquee.

When Henry Clay wanted to stir up sand bottom he didn't say to John Brown, "Let's whip up a law. It's my treat."

Henry was an egotist who made his mistakes solo. He missed more times than a cross-eyed tailor threading a needle. What happens to laws anyway?

A law is ratified by the House. endorsed by the Senate, approved by the White House, okayed by the Supreme Court and lasts about as long as a smoke ring.

Collaboration is all right I guess. But there's always trouble when one boy owns the kite and the other boy owns the string.

World's newest V8 powers BUICK'S GREATEST CARS IN 50 GREAT YEARS

HERE you see pictured the Golden Anniversary ROADMASTER—engineered, styled, powered and bodied to be fully worthy of its paragon role in this fiftieth year of Buick building.

★ It has the world's newest V8 engine. Vertical valves; 12-volt electrical system; 180 pounds lighter; entire engine is so compact, a new, more maneuverable chassis has been built around it.

★ It has 188 Fireball horsepower. A new Buick record; engine horsepower per pound increased 40%.

★ It has a compression ratio of 8.5 to 1. Highest compression on the American scene today; bettered fuel economy.

★ It has a dynamic-flow muffler. For the first time in automotive history, a muffler with zero power loss.

★ It has a new Twin-Turbine Dynaflow Drive. Now adds far swifter, quieter, more efficient getaway to infinite smoothness at all speed ranges.

★ It has new braking power. Most powerful braking action of any Buick in fifty years; plus the new ease of Power Brakes, optional at extra cost.

★ It has a still finer ride. The softest, steadiest, most buoyantly level ride that Buick's advanced engineering has yet produced.

Television treat—the BUICK CIRCUS HOUR—every fourth Tuesday.

It has, also, wondrous handling ease, with Power Steering as standard equipment. It has superb comfort. It has sumptuous fabrics and tailoring. And its acoustics are so thoroughly mastered that it may well be one of the world's most quiet cars.

But no listing of facts can do true justice to this phenomenal automobile, or to its brilliant brothers, the 1953 SUPERS and SPECIALS.

And no words can really tell you the beauty you see, the comfort you feel, the excitement you experience—when you look at and drive any one of these big, beautiful, bounteous Buicks for 1953.

Will you come in and see for yourself that these are, in simple truth, Buick's greatest cars in five brilliant decades?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

AAUW Names Delegate To State Meeting Jan. 10

Cumberland Branch of the American Association of University Women named a representative to the state meeting; announced dates of group meetings and was urged to support the Green commission at the meeting Wednesday at Central YMCA. Mrs. John Cupler II, presided.

Mrs. Aden Everstine was named to attend the state meeting in Baltimore College Club, January 10, at which time there is to be a work shop on Education in Maryland in the morning; and a board meeting in the afternoon.

Announcement was made that the Writing Group will meet January 12, at 8 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Howard Briggs, Frostburg. January 14 will be the first meeting of the Mental Health Group. It will be at the home of Mrs. Cupler, Park Heights. Dr. Gertrude Gross is to be the speaker. Mrs. William VanNewkirk is leader of the group. Miss Lyla Stevens will lead a discussion on Plato's Republic, at the meeting of the Great Books Group January 19 at the home of Miss Humphrey, 134 East Main Street, Frostburg.

Mrs. Cupler asked each member to write individually to support the Green Commission, on teacher salary, which is being brought up at the legislature.

An invitation was extended to her to attend the general meeting of the Woman's Civic Club, January 15 to hear Frederic Gutheim, author of "The Potomac," speak on "Early History of the Potomac Valley in Western Maryland." The meeting will be in Emmanuel Episcopal parish house at 2 p. m.

A Ways and Means committee to suggest new projects was announced. It is composed of Mrs. T. M. Andrews, Mrs. M. D. Beneman, Miss Ruth Clauson, Miss Anna B. Grey, Mrs. Alfred Schwalb and Mrs. Everstine.

Dr. Howard L. Briggs, professor of history at Frostburg State Teachers College, reviewed Adam Smith's, "The Wealth of Nations." Dr. Briggs received his A. B. and Phd., at Johns Hopkins University, and taught at Goucher College, the University of Vermont, University of Virginia summer school, was visiting professor of history at the University of Pennsylvania, taught five years at Randolph Macon Women's College, and was four and one half years in government service in the Signal Corps, Army Air Force and Department of State, before coming to Frostburg in 1947.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. G. Morgan Smith, who also gave a brief sketch of the life of Adam Smith. Following the talk a question and answer period was held. After which there was a social hour with Miss Edith Humphrey in charge. Of the 17 members present, 11 were from Frostburg.

The next general meeting will be February 4 at the Y.

RIGHT AND WRONG SKI TOGS—Skiers should be fussy about their clothes, because all the styles have a practical reason. Heavy wool jackets and soft wool trousers get waterlogged and heavy on the slopes. The young lady on the left illustrates all the wrong skiing gear. Her skis are too short, poles too long, hat too warm, jacket too short, trousers ill-fitted, socks outside, scarf too heavy, boots wobbly. She's a cinch to wind up in a heap on the first slope. The girl on the right is all right. She has gabardine cap and tautly fitted pants, hand-made boots, trim sweater, buckskin mitts, and right size skis.

National Republican Women Honor Those In Government

The Republican women of Allegany County have been invited to the luncheon being given by the National Republican Women's Club, to honor the wives of members of the Cabinet and women in government.

Mrs. Brooks Starcher, vice chairman for Allegany County of the national group, received the invitation from Miss Bertha Adkins, executive director of the Women's Division of the national club, on behalf of the county women.

Honor guests will include those elected to Congress and those appointed to Federal offices.

The luncheon will be held January 21 at 1 p. m. in the Presidential Room of the Hotel Statler, Washington.

Anyone wishing to attend the luncheon is asked to contact Mrs. Starcher for reservations.

Service Group Has Speaker

The aims of speech therapy were discussed by Miss Patricia Stegmaier at the luncheon meeting of the Community Service Group of the Woman's Civic Club yesterday.

Mrs. Edward Solomon presided at the meeting, held at Happy Hills Restaurant, Baltimore Avenue.

Others present were Mrs. Charles Kopp, Mrs. Edgar Kendall, Mrs. John Shirley, Mrs. Fred Gates Jr., Mrs. A. N. Golladay, Mrs. Franklin Ankeney, Mrs. Lloyd R. Meyers, Mrs. Nellie Wilson Footer, Mrs. A. G. Wallace, Mrs. Louis Shinnamon, Mrs. Thomas Williamson and Mrs. Robert Sutton.

The next meeting will be February 12. It also is to be at Happy Hill Restaurant.

Miss Sitter To Begin Novitiate

Miss Barbara Helen Sitter, who entered the Carmelite Order in Baltimore last June will receive the habit and begin her novitiate in a "Clothing" ceremony Saturday. She is keeping her own name, and will be Sister Barbara of the Heart of Jesus.

Father John U. Lyness, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, and friend of the family will sing the solemn high mass and preach the sermon for the investiture ceremony.

Miss Sitter is wearing a bridal gown of slipper satin and lace. Her fingertip length veil of illusion is held by a tiara and she is carrying a candle with shower of flowers, instead of a bouquet.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sitter, 400 Piedmont Avenue, Miss Sitter is a graduate of Catholi Girls Central High School, class of 1951, where she was an honor student and member of the church choir.

The entire family and a few friends are attending the ceremony. All the girls of her class were invited also.

Church Women Plan Monthly Visits To County Home

The Cumberland Council of Church Women will sponsor two projects. The one is to have a church group visit the county home each month; and the other is observance of a Day of Prayer for the Nation.

Plans were formulated at the meeting of the council yesterday morning in Centre Street Methodist Church. Mrs. L. G. Bridgers presided.

Instead of having all groups visit the county home at holiday times, it was decided to organize a project in which groups from the various churches would visit the county home during the year. The goal is to have one group go each month.

Mrs. Alvin Storey, Mrs. Franklin Kremer and Mrs. Robert Young were named a committee to contact the various churches and arrange the dates.

In compliance with the National Council of Churches the local council will observe January 20 as "Day of Prayer for the Nation." The council is requesting churches to have their doors open during the entire day for those wishing to go to pray. It also was suggested to have cottage prayer meetings.

The National Council of Churches suggests the people pray for the President as he begins his administration; for the nation, that its life may be cleansed by repentance and exalted through righteousness; for members of Congress and all members of the state legislature that through them the will of God may be done; for those in authority in the community, that they may serve the people righteously; for a just and durable peace for the world; that the United States may be used by God to bring this about; for the churches in the community, that through their devotion and service to Christianity and with one another, the moral and spiritual life of the young and old may be strengthened; and for oneself that he may do his part to make this a Christian nation among the family of nations.

Mrs. John S. Cook, reporting on the World Day of Prayer, to be held February 20, announced there would be observances in two city churches and four out-of-town churches. At 2 p. m., there will be a service in Centre Street Methodist Church and at 7:30 p. m., in Living Stone Church of the Brethren. Davis Memorial and Zion Methodist churches are included in the out-of-town churches. The other two will be selected later. The out-of-town church services will be in the evening. Mrs. Ralph Isiminger is co-chairman with Mrs. Cook.

Devotionals were led by Mrs. J. A. Leader. Her theme was "Taking the Spiritual Inventory." Roll call was answered with seven churches represented. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Lester Martin, secretary, and Mrs. Jack Means, treasurer. Mrs. Leader reported 27 subscriptions have been taken for the "Church Woman," council magazine.

The May Day Fellowship, May 1, will be planned at the meeting March 5.

Study Class To Meet

The yearly study class of the Vera Blinn Women's Mission Society of World Service will meet at 6 p. m. tomorrow at the home of Mrs. John S. Cook, Bowling Green. The meeting is in the form of a covered dish supper.

Mrs. L. D. Bridgers is to teach the book, "Beside the Hearthstone."

The Supper committee is composed of Mrs. H. L. Nesbitt, Mrs. Curtis Bloss and Mrs. Edward Shaffer.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Ironing over snaps, pins and zippers will scratch the soleplate of your iron, so pad such things well before you iron over them.

Mrs. Smith Entertains TAS Board

Mrs. W. Donald Smith entertained the executive board of the Travelers Aid Society at an informal luncheon Wednesday.

It was held at her home, Camden Avenue. The Christmas theme was carried out in the decorations of poinsettias and red tapers.

Guests were Mrs. Nora Fleming, Mrs. William Lee, Mrs. William McCleary, Mrs. William Blake Mrs. Frederick Ruppert, Mrs. Nellie Wilson Footer, Mrs. Ira Vandegrift and Mrs. Ralph Nevy.

The regular meeting of the society is to be held January 14 at 10 a. m. in the City Hall auditorium.

Variety Show To Be Given January 30

Plans for January and February were discussed at the meeting of the executive board of the West Side Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hosack, 113 North Allegany Street.

Moving pictures will be shown at a dedication ceremony, to be held the second week in February, marking the acquisition of new curtains for the auditorium.

A Valentine activity is planned for the children. The home room mothers will be in charge of arrangements.

A variety show will be presented January 30.

Founders Day will be observed at the regular meeting February 3. There is to be a skit entitled, "Parents with a Purpose," and selections by the Elks Quartet.

Other members attending were Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Starcher, Mrs. Samuel Weatherholt, Glenn Kemmet, Mrs. John Stangel, Mrs. A. C. Emerick, Mrs. Alfred Schwalb and Herbert Lehr.

Training Union Workers' Council of First Baptist Church will meet after a covered dish supper at 6:30 tonight at the church.

The first year group of the RWSC will meet at 7:30 tonight at the home of Mrs. Edgar H. Davis, president, 719 Memorial Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. C. James Mullan and son, James, 507 Franklin Street, have returned home from a vacation trip to Miami Beach.

Girl Scout Council Dinner Meeting To Be January 27

The first Council meeting for all adults in Girl Scouting will be a dinner January 27. It is to be held at Central YMCA at 6:15.

There is to be election of officers and board members. Two delegates to the 1953 National Convention in Cincinnati, also are to be elected.

Adoption of the constitution and by-laws will be voted upon. The group also will approve the plans and goals for 1953.

Winfield Adam, executive secretary of the Y, will be guest speaker. His subject is "Youth."

Deadline for the ticket reservations is the 19th. The reservations are to be made by calling the Girl Scout house.

Mrs. Loren Morey, Mrs. John W. Stark and Mrs. A. M. Spioch comprise the committee of arrangements.

Club To Send Scrapbooks To India

Mrs. F. Perry Smith presided at the meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. James Weber, Louisiana Avenue, at which time the plans were formulated.

The auxiliary card party is being held January 28 at 8 o'clock in the Masonic Temple.

It was announced that $204 was raised by the benefit Christmas dance and given to the Cancer fund of Memorial Hospital.

Miss Katherine Kelly, Mrs. Byron Bonebreak and Mrs. Donald Sensabaugh were introduced as new members.

Plans were discussed for a rummage sale in February and Mrs. Hilda Hawkins appointed chairman.

A demonstration on sewing, showing the proper way to put in a zipper, a hem and sleeves, was given by Mrs. Weber.

Concluding the meeting a social hour was held with Mrs. Warren Norris, Mrs. William Fridinger, Mrs. John Wagner and Mrs. Smith as hostesses.

Soroptimists To Hold Ball February 13

Charles Crites has returned to Milwaukee, Wis., after spending the holidays with his daughter, Anita Jean, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Crites, 111 Fifth Street. After her father left Anita Jean spent the weekend with her aunt, Mrs. Nellie Youngblood, Hagerstown.

Girl Scout Council Dinner Meeting To Be January 27

The first Council meeting for all adults in Girl Scouting will be a dinner January 27. It is to be held at Central YMCA at 6:15.

There is to be election of officers and board members. Two delegates to the 1953 National Convention in Cincinnati, also are to be elected.

Adoption of the constitution and by-laws will be voted upon. The group also will approve the plans and goals for 1953.

Winfield Adam, executive secretary of the Y, will be guest speaker. His subject is "Youth."

Deadline for the ticket reservations is the 19th. The reservations are to be made by calling the Girl Scout house.

Mrs. Loren Morey, Mrs. John W. Stark and Mrs. A. M. Spioch comprise the committee of arrangements.

Club To Send Scrapbooks To India

Mrs. F. Perry Smith presided at the meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. James Weber, Louisiana Avenue, at which time the plans were formulated.

The auxiliary card party is being held January 28 at 8 o'clock in the Masonic Temple.

It was announced that $204 was raised by the benefit Christmas dance and given to the Cancer fund of Memorial Hospital.

Miss Katherine Kelly, Mrs. Byron Bonebreak and Mrs. Donald Sensabaugh were introduced as new members.

Plans were discussed for a rummage sale in February and Mrs. Hilda Hawkins appointed chairman.

Concluding the meeting a social hour was held with Mrs. Warren Norris, Mrs. William Fridinger, Mrs. John Wagner and Mrs. Smith as hostesses.

Soroptimists To Hold Ball February 13

A Valentine Dance for the benefit of the Allegany County Heart Association will be held February 13, sponsored by the Soroptimists Club.

It is to be held at the Ali Ghan Country Club. Dancing will be from 9 until 1 o'clock, with music by Art Shaffer's Orchestra.

Mrs. Faye Stillwagon is general chairman for the dance; Dr. Rita Brinker and Mrs. Elizabeth Hinds are in charge of reservations.

Twiggtown Club To Hold Quilting

The Twiggtown Homemakers Club will meet Saturday at 10 a. m. in the home of Mrs. Marshall Wilson Jr., Williams Road.

A short business session is to be held. Dues will be collected and it will be followed by a quilting.

My New York

by Mel Heimer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — It seems pretty safe to say, these days, that anyone who claims this is the best of all possible worlds is out of his mind. To be stark and truthful, this world of ours looks right now like the inside of a motorman's glove — and with that in mind, I would like to recommend to one and all, as a pleasant opiate, a trip to this strange borough. Anybody who doesn't bust out laughing at Miami Beach, its habits and tribal customs, has a warped mind. This, of all places, is the sunlight jungle in which to forget the woes of the universe.

I have been making lazy little trips to the beach for a few years now, always lured by the memory of the lovely sunburns of the past, but each time I visit it it's a new experience. Likely this is because the place is Coney Island magnified a hundred times — a frosted doughnut, a carousel, a paper scone of cotton candy that leaves nothing with you when you leave, not even a memory. The city of Miami, across Biscayne Bay, makes some pretense at civilized, normal behavior. Miami Beach is one long, hysterical giggle.

The funniest things, naturally, are the hotels. There are so many, endlessly stretching along Collins Avenue, and every one is a movie set — pastel walls, theatrically lighted shrubbery, vast expanses of driveway, and colossal name. The smallest flophouse here is labeled something like the Waldorf or the Ritz. Well — the word this year is that there seem to be twice as many hotels as last season. There is one on Collins called the Algiers that looks as if it was conjured up by Sam Goldwyn with one wave of his hand; it must have three bathrooms for every bedroom. Then there's the Saxony, where New York's Mayor Impellitieri stayed, and in front of which I expected to see a line of dancing girls each time I passed; the sedate old Roney Plaza, which once reminded one of the fun house at Steeplechase Park but now is a kind of elder statesman among the inns here; the Sans Souci, the Traymore, the Fleetwood, the Floridian, ad infinitum.

The people, who used to be visitors from New York and Chicago but now come from all over the country, run the hotels a close second for hilarity. They all look like registrants from Central Casting who've been ordered to report to the Paramount lot for a day's shooting and an extra's pay of 25 bucks. The dames all wear their silver foxes and their biggest rocks, real or phony, and the men have the latest in sports wear, doubled and re-doubled.

This is the season the women are carrying purses that can be seen through and the season that the men have thrown off the last shackles and are wearing brighter clothes than Harlem ever saw, with a kind of grim air of determination and what the heck are you looking at, anyway?

You wonder, sometimes, just why they're here. For the sun, for a rest, for laughs; those would seem to be the reasons. Close scrutiny indicates they are not at all; the people are here to impress each other. I spent one afternoon smiling to myself at a small boy who was swimming up and down in a hotel pool stylishly, just to show off in front of other small boys clustered around the pool — until I suddenly realized that the kid was just doing what all the adults were doing.

They stroll grandly up and down Lincoln Road at night, one nose higher in the air than the other, and I honestly — honestly — expect some day to see one whip out his wallet and say to another "I got 12 grand in cash on me, right now. Tie that if you can."

This is a land where rickety old biplanes fly over the Tropical Park racetrack — a pretty little oval containing horses that should be running in Beulah Park, O. — dragging signs reading "For Longshot Winners, Call Al Laurence." The skyborne tip. It figures. Technically, Dade County now is supposed to be free of gambling but I doubt anyone takes this seriously. So far as wagering goes, this area has the aspect of a slightly refined, lifted-pinky Las Vegas.

Everything is plus and wonderful and twice life-size, until the big super-Connie lifts easily off the ground at half past one in the morning and points its porpoise-like mouth toward New York. Then you look out the window at the beach, a riot of blue lights and red and yellow and orange, and are vaguely disappointed because you can't see the Ferris wheel or roller-coaster — and settle back into your seat with a sigh for the journey to reality, where life is grim, life is earnest.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.—Advertisement.

It's harder for the too-slender to gain than for the too-heavy to lose. But it can be done—here's how!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A famed movie star tells me that she has promised her doctor a pair of matched gray poodles if he increases her weight ten pounds by March 1st.

Astute though his plan is, unless the lady follows it with the utmost diligence and is blessed with luck, it's a safe bet that she won't get her wish or the physician the pups. Those who fight excessive slimness usually discover that it takes twice as much doing to gain a pound as for those who gain easily to lose one.

How To Gain

To gain, eat much more than you actually desire. To do this without developing an antipathy for food requires new eating habits. It is an actual fact that the more you eat, the easier it becames to eat more. To make this work for you, just add a bit more food to your diet every day until your intake reaches 3000 calories. Instead of trying to consume this daily requirement in three meals, eat six. Add a mid-morning, mid-afternoon and before-bed snack to your "three squares."

Don't waste your appetite and stowing space on the foods that do you little good. You'll gain fastest and tempt your appetite most with such foods as creamed soups and sauces, cheese, custards, milk puddings and malteds. Note that milk, not starch or sugar, is the common ingredient of all these foods. That is for your beauty's sake. Excessive starch and sugar will increase your weight but they may blemish your skin and create a new problem. So drink at least one and one-half quarts of fortified whole milk each day, besides consuming all the creamy and milky foods that you can.

Rest And Relax

Now for the don't: Don't go overboard on rich foods. Don't substitute candy for basic foods. Don't drink any other beverage with meals until you've consumed your milk allotment.

Since underweight women are notoriously overactive even while sitting "still," check your nervous habits. Wasted motions rob your weight by expending energy unnecessarily. Slow down! Take naps. Get nine hours of sleep. Eat slowly, resting for five minutes after each meal. Every rest helps store up weight.

Remember it's a real feat to gain a pound a week, so don't fuss over the scale. Relax, take it easy and the new, much-wanted curves will be yours!

YOUR BEAUTY DIET

No matter what your weight problem — whether you want to gain, lose or remain the same — YOUR BEAUTY DIET will provide you with a safe and sane pattern of laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's needs. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving, and the tasteful, appetizing meals it contains require no extra planning or preparation! Corn Bread Puts "New Face" On Meat Pie!

Look for the smiles that will light up family faces when you serve meat pie with delicious, crusty corn bread topping. Here's a dish that has a winning way with left-over roast beef and plenty of good vegetables. It's practically a meal in itself, and it takes so little time to prepare. The economy of this dish, which is easily recognized, will make it a "topper" on the "must repeat" list. Your meat pie with corn bread topping can be served at the table in its baking dish. As the serving spoon breaks through the corn bread crust, you'll love the wonderful aroma that greets you, and really welcome the good flavor that has been sealed in by the corn bread. There will be no cold second helpings because the corn bread tends to hold the heat in. Try this inexpensive hearty dish soon and watch its immediate acceptance as a family favorite.

Meat Pie With Corn Bread Topping

Filling:
1 cup cooked, diced carrots
1 cup cooked, diced celery
1 cup cooked, diced potatoes
½ cup cooked peas
1 tablespoon grated onion
3 cups diced left-over roast beef
2 cups celery.

Topping:
¾ cup corn meal
⅓ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
1¼ teaspoon baking powder
1 egg yolk
⅔ cup milk
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine.

(If self-rising corn meal and flour are used, omit salt and baking powder.)

Combine all filling ingredients in a 1½-quart greased casserole. Sift together corn meal and other dry ingredients. Combine beaten egg yolk, milk, and melted fat. Add to dry ingredients, mixing only until moistened. Pour batter evenly over meat and vegetables in casserole. Bake in a 400° F. oven, for 20 to 25 minutes, until the corn bread just starts to shrink from the sides of the casserole. Yield: 6 servings.

Breakfast Party

Just one slightly different touch makes a party out of breakfast. You might dress up the first course by offering a lemon slice with the morning glass of tomato juice.

Or, you might stir a few dates or raisins into the hot cereal. Another way is to switch from the popular buttered toast to a homemade breakfast roll such as these Raised Cinnamon Puffs.

They are a light and airy yeast roll, made with whole bran for a slightly nutty flavor. Then, for the final touch, they're rolled in melted butter and a spiced sugar mixture which makes them quite out of this world.

Chances are time is precious in the morning, so do your baking the day before. Then re-heat the rolls in the top of the double boiler or a bun warmer, and roll them in the butter and sugar mixture at breakfast time.

Raised Cinnamon Puffs
1 cup milk, scalded
1 cup whole bran
¼ cup fat
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 package yeast, dry or compressed
1 egg, well beaten
2¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ cup butter or margarine, melted
⅔ cup sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon

Pour ¾ cup hot milk over bran, fat, ¼ cup sugar, and salt and stir until fat is dissolved. Cool to lukewarm. Cool remaining ¼ cup milk to lukewarm, add crumbled yeast, and stir until smooth. Add to bran mixture. Add egg and flour, mix thoroughly, and knead until smooth and elastic. Form into a ball, place in greased bowl, cover, and let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down, cover, and let rise 10 minutes. Half-fill greased 2½x1¼-inch muffin pans with balls of dough, cover, and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) for 20 minutes. While still warm, roll first in melted butter, then in the ⅔ cup sugar and cinnamon which have been mixed together. Yield: 18 rolls.

Plentiful Beef Supply Inspires Tasty Dishes

Plan a beef dinner and you'll please the whole family. Supplies of beef continue plentiful, so now's the time to bring out all those favorite pot roast, Swiss steak and short rib recipes.

Here are two beef dishes which are especial favorites with the men:

Sweet-Sour Short Ribs
3 pounds short ribs
Salt, pepper, flour, lard
1 cup sliced onions
1 clove garlic
1½ cups hot water
1 small bay leaf
¼ cup vinegar
3 tablespoons brown sugar
⅓ cup catsup

Have short ribs cut into individual servings. Remove excess fat. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Brown well on all sides in a large skillet in several tablespoons hot lard or other fat. Remove to a Dutch oven or other large heavy pan. Cook onions and chopped garlic in fat until soft; add to short ribs. Combine remaining ingredients and ½ teaspoon salt and pour over ribs. Cover tightly and cook over low heat until tender, 2½ to 3 hours. Remove ribs to a serving platter and keep warm. Pour most of fat from drippings, stir in 2 tablespoons flour and enough water to dilute to strength desired. Cook until thickened. Serve short ribs and gravy on hot buttered noodles. 4 servings.

Barbecued Pot Roast
3 pounds beef pot roast
Salt, pepper, lard
½ cup water
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
3 medium onions
2 cloves garlic
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ cup lemon juice
¼ cup catsup
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Sprinkle meat well with salt and pepper. Brown in a Dutch oven or other large, heavy pan in several tablespoons hot lard. Add water, tomato sauce, thinly sliced onions and chopped garlic. Cover and cook over low heat 1½ hours. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over meat. Cover and continue cooking for 1 hour or until meat is very tender. Remove roast to a hot platter. Skim most of fat from gravy, dilute with water to suit taste, then thicken with 2 tablespoons flour mixed to a smooth paste with a little water. 6 servings.

PRAISEWORTHY STEWS

If you'd like to make a stew as delectable as that of a French chef's, remember these helpful pointers:

1. Brown the meat thoroughly in a little hot lard; sprinkle well with salt, pepper and paprika.
2. Add a small amount of liquid —just enough to barely cover the meat. Meat stock or bouillon makes an extra rich tasting stew.
3. Add plenty of chopped onions, some sliced celery and celery leaves. Also add a pinch of basil, marjoram and rosemary—just a pinch.
4. Cook slowly — do not boil — until meat is completely tender. (This may require 3 hours for beef, less time for stews made with lamb, veal and pork.) Keep the pan tightly covered during cooking.
5. Thirty minutes before the stew has finished cooking, add cut up vegetables and a little extra salt.

Corn Bread Puts "New Face" On Meat Pie!

Look for the smiles that will light up family faces when you serve meat pie with delicious, crusty corn bread topping. Here's a dish that has a winning way with left-over roast beef and plenty of good vegetables. It's practically a meal in itself, and it takes so little time to prepare. The economy of this dish, which is easily recognized, will make it a "topper" on the "must repeat" list. Your meat pie with corn bread topping can be served at the table in its baking dish. As the serving spoon breaks through the corn bread crust, you'll love the wonderful aroma that greets you, and really welcome the good flavor that has been sealed in by the corn bread. There will be no cold second helpings because the corn bread tends to hold the heat in. Try this inexpensive hearty dish soon and watch its immediate acceptance as a family favorite.

Filling:
- 1 cup cooked, diced carrots
- 1 cup cooked, diced celery
- 1 cup cooked, diced potatoes
- ½ cup cooked peas
- 1 tablespoon grated onion
- 3 cups diced left-over roast beef
- 2 cups celery.

Topping:
- ¾ cup corn meal
- ⅓ cup flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1¼ teaspoon baking powder
- 1 egg yolk
- ⅔ cup milk
- 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine.

(If self-rising corn meal and flour are used, omit salt and baking powder.)

Combine all filling ingredients in a 1½-quart greased casserole. Sift together corn meal and other dry ingredients. Combine beaten egg yolk, milk, and melted fat. Add to dry ingredients, mixing only until moistened. Pour batter evenly over meat and vegetables in casserole. Bake in a 400° F. oven, for 20 to 25 minutes, until the corn bread just starts to shrink from the sides of the casserole. Yield: 6 servings.

Breakfast Party

Just one slightly different touch makes a party out of breakfast. You might dress up the first course by offering a lemon slice with the morning glass of tomato juice.

Or, you might stir a few dates or raisins into the hot cereal. Another way is to switch from the popular buttered toast to a homemade breakfast roll such as these Raised Cinnamon Puffs.

They are a light and airy yeast roll, made with whole bran for a slightly nutty flavor. Then, for the final touch, they're rolled in melted butter and a spiced sugar mixture which makes them quite out of this world.

Chances are time is precious in the morning, so do your baking the day before. Then re-heat the rolls in the top of the double boiler or a bun warmer, and roll them in the butter and sugar mixture at breakfast time.

Raised Cinnamon Puffs
- 1 cup milk, scalded
- 1 cup whole bran
- ¼ cup fat
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 package yeast, dry or compressed
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 2¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- ½ cup butter or margarine, melted
- ⅔ cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons cinnamon

Pour ¾ cup hot milk over bran, fat, ¼ cup sugar, and salt and stir until fat is dissolved. Cool to lukewarm. Cool remaining ¼ cup milk to lukewarm, add crumbled yeast, and stir until smooth. Add to bran mixture. Add egg and flour, mix thoroughly, and knead until smooth and elastic. Form into a ball, place in greased bowl, cover, and let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down, cover, and let rise 10 minutes. Half-fill greased 2½x1¼-inch muffin pans with balls of dough, cover, and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) for 20 minutes. While still warm, roll first in melted butter, then in the ⅔ cup sugar and cinnamon which have been mixed together. Yield: 18 rolls.

Plentiful Beef Supply Inspires Tasty Dishes

Plan a beef dinner and you'll please the whole family. Supplies of beef continue plentiful, so now's the time to bring out all those favorite pot roast, Swiss steak and short rib recipes.

Here are two beef dishes which are especial favorites with the men:

Sweet-Sour Short Ribs
- 3 pounds short ribs
- Salt, pepper, flour, lard
- 1 cup sliced onions
- 1 clove garlic
- 1½ cups hot water
- 1 small bay leaf
- ¼ cup vinegar
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar
- ⅓ cup catsup

Have short ribs cut into individual servings. Remove excess fat. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Brown well on all sides in a large skillet in several tablespoons hot lard or other fat. Remove to a Dutch oven or other large heavy pan. Cook onions and chopped garlic in fat until soft; add to short ribs. Combine remaining ingredients and ½ teaspoon salt and pour over ribs. Cover tightly and cook over low heat until tender, 2½ to 3 hours. Remove ribs to a serving platter and keep warm. Pour most of fat from drippings, stir in 2 tablespoons flour and enough water to dilute to strength desired. Cook until thickened. Serve short ribs and gravy on hot buttered noodles. 4 servings.

Barbecued Pot Roast
- 3 pounds beef pot roast
- Salt, pepper, lard
- ½ cup water
- 1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
- 3 medium onions
- 2 cloves garlic
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- ½ cup lemon juice
- ¼ cup catsup
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Sprinkle meat well with salt and pepper. Brown in a Dutch oven or other large, heavy pan in several tablespoons hot lard. Add water, tomato sauce, thinly sliced onions and chopped garlic. Cover and cook over low heat 1½ hours. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over meat. Cover and continue cooking for 1 hour or until meat is very tender. Remove roast to a hot platter. Skim most of fat from gravy, dilute with water to suit taste, then thicken with 2 tablespoons flour mixed to a smooth paste with a little water. 6 servings.

PRAISEWORTHY STEWS

If you'd like to make a stew as delectable as that of a French chef's, remember these helpful pointers:

1. Brown the meat thoroughly in a little hot lard; sprinkle well with salt, pepper and paprika.
2. Add a small amount of liquid —just enough to barely cover the meat. Meat stock or bouillon makes an extra rich tasting stew.

Nutrition For Senior Citizens

"Good Nutrition" . . . . those two words so bandied about seem vague and difficult of definition. Yet in terms of North American food customs, good nutrition simply means getting meat, fish or poultry, milk or milk products, eggs, vegetables, fruits, enriched and whole grain breads and cereals and some butter or fortified margarine in the daily diet. This variety of foods provides those mysterious and scientific proteins, vitamins, minerals, fat and carbohydrates needed to maintain health.

How often though are one or more requirements of this basic food guide ignored. Perhaps a person skimps on meat or other protein foods that build and repair body cells. Perhaps fruits and vegetables with their protective vitamins A and C, or milk with its calcium for bones and teeth, are slighted.

Certain foods for good nutrition are frequently omitted from the diets of senior citizens . . . those persons over 60 years of age. Among this age group there is not yet enough acceptance of the fact that older people need the same variety of foods as in earlier years . . . . but perhaps smaller quantities because of less exercise and energy output.

In the senior citizen household of one or two persons this good nutrition regime may call for a revised shopping program. Small purchases of most foods are thriftier for the small family. It's also more economical to buy food according to the cost per serving than the cost per pound. Frozen or canned vegetables, for example, may be cheaper than fresh vegetables with pods or outer leaves to be removed.

Senior citizens of the one or two household who use cans and jars of foods processed for infants will have ingredients prepared and cooked in small quantity. These foods can be served as is, or as an ingredient in attractive desserts and salads. The strained prunes, for example, might be used in a quick prune whip with unflavored gelatine. Beets and carrots prepared for junior are colorful additions in gelatine salads for adults.

While it is best to prepare foods only in that quantity which will be used up at a meal, some meats and casseroles can be prepared in sufficient quantity so that there will be enough for another meal . . . . a tip to save on meal time preparation. Packaged, prepared mixes can be measured out and used at one's convenience and in the amount needed for a small household. Also there is the trick of preparing food so that it can be served two ways without monotony. A basic unflavored gelatine mixture can make both a dessert and salad with one preparation effort.

Salad-Dessert Gel Duet

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
½ cup cold water
¾ cup hot water
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup lemon juice
1 cup diced cooked or raw vegetables
1 cup drained fresh or canned fruit

Soften gelatine in cold water. Add hot water, sugar and salt, stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice. Chill until the mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. For salad use, fold in diced cooked or raw vegetables to half of mixture. For a molded fruit dessert, fold in drained fresh or canned fruit to remaining half of gelatine mixture. Turn fruit and vegetable mixtures into individual molds, chill until firm. Unmold and serve. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Q. By what cookery methods may liver be prepared?

A. All types of liver may be braised. Calf and lamb liver may be broiled. Calf, beef or lamb liver may be panfried or deep-fat fried.

Q. What are the steps to follow in cooking by these methods?

A. In braising, as pictured, dredge sliced liver with flour. Brown on both sides in lard or drippings, cover and cook until tender, about 20 minutes. In broiling, have liver sliced ½ to ¾ inch thick. Broil at a moderate temperature, just long enough to change color, about 3 minutes on each side. For frying have liver sliced about ½-inch thick. Roll in seasoned flour and place in frying-pan in enough fat to cover surface of frying-pan. After liver is browned on both sides, reduce the temperature and continue cooking for a few minutes until the liver is done. In deep-fat frying have the liver cut in long, thin strips. Fry in deep-fat, heated to 360°F., until nicely browned.

Variations For Rice Dinners

Rice is one of the oldest foods known to man and one of the most important too, since it furnishes the major food requirements for over half the world's population.

In our own country many of the rice dishes we serve have been adapted from native dishes of many countries. In addition, however, we serve rice in many ways that are typically American, such as rice pudding and rice served with meat and gravy, and scores of other ways, equally tempting.

By far the most American thing that has happened to rice, however, is the development of packaged pre-cooked rice. With this modern product, you can cook fluffy tender rice in only 13 short minutes with less effort than was ever thought possible. No more will you be disappointed with a sticky gummy rice. Your results are assure before you start when you use this quick-cooking variety.

Serve packaged pre-cooked rice as an accompaniment to meat, fish, or fowl. A bit of your favorite herb seasoning added to the rice before cooking makes for some very tempting flavor combinations.

For a simple meal with party qualities, try a very simple rice ring. Cook packaged pre-cooked rice according to package directions and pack firmly into well oiled ring mold. Turn onto a platter, fill the center with Creamed Chipped Beef and sprinkle with chopped chives.

When serving ham, use packaged pre-cooked rice cooked with a bit of grated orange or lemon rind to accompany it. The fruit flavor is a perfect combination with the smoky flavor of the ham.

For meal variation serve that delicious gravy from a roast over fluffy, packaged pre-cooked rice. It's a delicious flavor combination and best of all, this quick-cooking type of rice is a breeze to prepare.

When making cup custard, try adding a bit of cooked rice for texture. Packaged pre-cooked rice is so quick to prepare you can cook it in a few short minutes.

To use leftover meat, fish, or poultry, cut in cubes and alternate between layers of packaged pre-cooked rice cooked according to package directions, and condensed mushroom soup. It's an easy, tasty, and economical casserole that takes only twenty minutes.

Baby Green Lima 'N Tuna Casserole

Arrange defrosted Baby Green Lima Beans in greased casserole. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon chopped onion. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Cover with layer of tuna. Spread 1 cup sour cream over top. Cover casserole and bake about 30 to 35 minutes in moderate oven, 350° F. (You may substitute salmon for tuna—or use left-over cooked chicken or pork, chopped). Serves 4 to 5.

Baby Green Lima Bean Chili con Carne

Saute ½ cup chopped onion in 2 or 3 tablespoons fat until lightly browned. Add 1 pound ground beef, cook until well done. Season with 1 tablespoon chili powder and salt and pepper to taste. Add 1 package of Green Baby Lima Beans and 1½ cups tomatoes. Cover and cook slowly 30 to 35 minutes. Serve 5 to 6.

Veal Steak Casserole

2 pounds veal steak, cut ½ inch thick; 2 teaspoons salt; Dash of pepper; ¼ cup flour; ⅓ cup butter; 2½ cups milk, scalded.

Cut meat into serving- size portions; combine flour, salt, and pepper. Dip meat in this mixture. Brown veal on both sides in butter and put in a casserole. Pour hot milk over the veal. Cover and bake in a slow oven, 300°F., for about 1½ hours, or until meat is tender. If desired, 1 cup fresh peas and 1 cup sliced mushrooms may be added to the casserole half an hour before the meat is done. Serve veal on a hot platter with gravy. Serves 6.

Frozen Spinach In A Bright New Flavor Combination

Frozen spinach—bright and colorful—and all ready for cooking—a fine green vegetable for any meal. For new interest in serving, try this excellent combination of frozen spinach with rice and a tasty tomato-cheese sauce. This attractive combination is sure to please—even non-spinach lovers!

Frozen Spinach With Rice and Tomato-Cheese Sauce

1 pkg. frozen spinach
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup tomato juice
1 cup grated sharp cheese
1 ½ to 2 cups cooked rice

Cook spinach according to instructions on package. Melt butter or margarine; stir in flour and salt to smooth paste. Stir in tomato juice and cook until thickened. Stir in grated cheese until well blended. Drain spinich and arrange over cooked rice. Pour tomato-cheese sauce over spinach. Amount: 4 to 6 servings.

Spanish Rice Goes Modern

Spanish Rice is a Castilian favorite that has won its way into the menus of our land because of its rich spicy flavor, acquired from long, slow cooking. Now, American ingenuity has discovered how to attain this same richness and savor within 18 minutes. The answer is packaged pre-cooked rice and tomato sauce, both designed to take the drudgery out of food preparation.

This Spanish Rice Pronto has all the pleasing attributes of the best Spanish Rice you've ever eaten, yet has a versatility all its own. Try it plain or with tuna, ground beef, or bits of chicken; any one of the three is good enough to gain the praise of all who taste it.

Spanish Rice Pronto

¼ cup bacon drippings, margarine, or butter
1 medium onion, thinly sliced (about ½ cup)
½ medium green pepper, diced (about ⅓ cup)
1⅓ cups packaged pre-cooked rice
1¾ cups hot water
2 cans tomato sauce
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 teaspoon prepared mustard, if desired

Melt fat in saucepan. Add onion, green pepper, and rice, and cook and stir over high heat until lightly browned. Add water, tomato sauce, salt, pepper, and mustard. Mix well. Bring quickly to a boil. Cover tightly, lower heat, and simmer gently 10 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Nutrition For Senior Citizens

"Good Nutrition" . . . . those two words so bandied about seem vague and difficult of definition. Yet in terms of North American food customs, good nutrition simply means getting meat, fish or poultry, milk or milk products, eggs, vegetables, fruits, enriched and whole grain breads and cereals and some butter or fortified margarine in the daily diet. This variety of foods provides those mysterious and scientific proteins, vitamins, minerals, fat and carbohydrates needed to maintain health.

How often though are one or more requirements of this basic food guide ignored. Perhaps a person skimps on meat or other protein foods that build and repair body cells. Perhaps fruits and vegetables with their protective vitamins A and C, or milk with its calcium for bones and teeth, are slighted.

Certain foods for good nutrition are frequently omitted from the diets of senior citizens . . . those persons over 60 years of age. Among this age group there is not yet enough acceptance of the fact that older people need the same variety of foods as in earlier years . . . . but perhaps smaller quantities because of less exercise and energy output.

In the senior citizen household of one or two persons this good nutrition regime may call for a revised shopping program. Small purchases of most foods are thriftier for the small family. It's also more economical to buy food according to the cost per serving than the cost per pound. Frozen or canned vegetables, for example, may be cheaper than fresh vegetables with pods or outer leaves to be removed.

Senior citizens of the one or two household who use cans and jars of foods processed for infants will have ingredients prepared and cooked in small quantity. These foods can be served as is, or as an ingredient in attractive desserts and salads. The strained prunes, for example, might be used in a quick prune whip with unflavored gelatine. Beets and carrots prepared for junior are colorful additions in gelatine salads for adults.

While it is best to prepare foods only in that quantity which will be used up at a meal, some meats and casseroles can be prepared in sufficient quantity so that there will be enough for another meal . . . . a tip to save on meal time preparation. Packaged, prepared mixes can be measured out and used at one's convenience and in the amount needed for a small household. Also there is the trick of preparing food so that it can be served two ways without monotony. A basic unflavored gelatine mixture can make both a dessert and salad with one preparation effort.

Salad-Dessert Gel Duet

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
½ cup cold water
¾ cup hot water
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup lemon juice
1 cup diced cooked or raw vegetables
1 cup drained fresh or canned fruit

Soften gelatine in cold water. Add hot water, sugar and salt, stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice. Chill until the mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. For salad use, fold in diced cooked or raw vegetables to half of mixture. For a molded fruit dessert, fold in drained fresh or canned fruit to remaining half of gelatine mixture. Turn fruit and vegetable mixtures into individual molds, chill until firm. Unmold and serve. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Q. By what cookery methods may liver be prepared?

A. All types of liver may be braised. Calf and lamb liver may be broiled. Calf, beef or lamb liver may be panfried or deep-fat fried.

Q. What are the steps to follow in cooking by these methods?

A. In braising, as pictured, dredge sliced liver with flour. Brown on both sides in lard or drippings, cover and cook until tender, about 20 minutes. In broiling, have liver sliced ½ to ¾ inch thick. Broil at a moderate temperature, just long enough to change color, about 3 minutes on each side. For frying have liver sliced about ½-inch thick. Roll in seasoned flour and place in frying-pan in enough fat to cover surface of frying-pan. After liver is browned on both sides, reduce the temperature and continue cooking for a few minutes until the liver is done. In deep-fat frying have the liver cut in long, thin strips. Fry in deep-fat, heated to 360°F., until nicely browned.

Variations For Rice Dinners

Rice is one of the oldest foods known to man and one of the most important too, since it furnishes the major food requirements for over half the world's population.

In our own country many of the rice dishes we serve have been adapted from native dishes of many countries. In addition, however, we serve rice in many ways that are typically American, such as rice pudding and rice served with meat and gravy, and scores of other ways, equally tempting.

By far the most American thing that has happened to rice, however, is the development of packaged pre-cooked rice. With this modern product, you can cook fluffy tender rice in only 13 short minutes with less effort than was ever thought possible. No more will you be disappointed with a sticky gummy rice. Your results are assure before you start when you use this quick-cooking variety.

Serve packaged pre-cooked rice as an accompaniment to meat, fish, or fowl. A bit of your favorite herb seasoning added to the rice before cooking makes for some very tempting flavor combinations.

For a simple meal with party qualities, try a very simple rice ring. Cook packaged pre-cooked rice according to package directions and pack firmly into well oiled ring mold. Turn onto a platter, fill the center with Creamed Chipped Beef and sprinkle with chopped chives.

When serving ham, use packaged pre-cooked rice cooked with a bit of grated orange or lemon rind to accompany it. The fruit flavor is a perfect combination with the smoky flavor of the ham.

For meal variation serve that delicious gravy from a roast over fluffy, packaged pre-cooked rice. It's a delicious flavor combination and best of all, this quick-cooking type of rice is a breeze to prepare.

When making cup custard, try adding a bit of cooked rice for texture. Packaged pre-cooked rice is so quick to prepare you can cook it in a few short minutes.

To use leftover meat, fish, or poultry, cut in cubes and alternate between layers of packaged pre-cooked rice cooked according to package directions, and condensed mushroom soup. It's an easy, tasty, and economical casserole that takes only twenty minutes.

Baby Green Lima 'N Tuna Casserole

Arrange defrosted Baby Green Lima Beans in greased casserole. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon chopped onion. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Cover with layer of tuna. Spread 1 cup sour cream over top. Cover casserole and bake about 30 to 35 minutes in moderate oven, 350° F. (You may substitute salmon for tuna—or use left-over cooked chicken or pork, chopped). Serves 4 to 5.

Baby Green Lima Bean Chili con Carne

Saute ½ cup chopped onion in 2 or 3 tablespoons fat until lightly browned. Add 1 pound ground beef, cook until well done. Season with 1 tablespoon chili powder and salt and pepper to taste. Add 1 package of Green Baby Lima Beans and 1½ cups tomatoes. Cover and cook slowly 30 to 35 minutes. Serve 5 to 6.

Veal Steak Casserole

2 pounds veal steak, cut ½ inch thick; 2 teaspoons salt; Dash of pepper; ¼ cup flour; ⅓ cup butter; 2½ cups milk, scalded.

Cut meat into serving- size portions; combine flour, salt, and pepper. Dip meat in this mixture. Brown veal on both sides in butter and put in a casserole. Pour hot milk over the veal. Cover and bake in a slow oven, 300°F., for about 1½ hours, or until meat is tender. If desired, 1 cup fresh peas and 1 cup sliced mushrooms may be added to the casserole half an hour before the meat is done. Serve veal on a hot platter with gravy. Serves 6.

Frozen Spinach In A Bright New Flavor Combination

Frozen spinach—bright and colorful—and all ready for cooking—a fine green vegetable for any meal. For new interest in serving, try this excellent combination of frozen spinach with rice and a tasty tomato-cheese sauce. This attractive combination is sure to please—even non-spinach lovers!

Frozen Spinach With Rice and Tomato-Cheese Sauce

1 pkg. frozen spinach
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup tomato juice
1 cup grated sharp cheese
1 ½ to 2 cups cooked rice

Cook spinach according to instructions on package. Melt butter or margarine; stir in flour and salt to smooth paste. Stir in tomato juice and cook until thickened. Stir in grated cheese until well blended. Drain spinich and arrange over cooked rice. Pour tomato-cheese sauce over spinach. Amount: 4 to 6 servings.

Spanish Rice Goes Modern

Spanish Rice is a Castilian favorite that has won its way into the menus of our land because of its rich spicy flavor, acquired from long, slow cooking. Now, American ingenuity has discovered how to attain this same richness and savor within 18 minutes. The answer is packaged pre-cooked rice and tomato sauce, both designed to take the drudgery out of food preparation.

This Spanish Rice Pronto has all the pleasing attributes of the best Spanish Rice you've ever eaten, yet has a versatility all its own. Try it plain or with tuna, ground beef, or bits of chicken; any one of the three is good enough to gain the praise of all who taste it.

Spanish Rice Pronto

¼ cup bacon drippings, margarine, or butter
1 medium onion, thinly sliced (about ½ cup)
½ medium green pepper, diced (about ⅓ cup)
1⅓ cups packaged pre-cooked rice
1¾ cups hot water
2 cans tomato sauce
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 teaspoon prepared mustard, if desired

Melt fat in saucepan. Add onion, green pepper, and rice, and cook and stir over high heat until lightly browned. Add water, tomato sauce, salt, pepper, and mustard. Mix well. Bring quickly to a boil. Cover tightly, lower heat, and simmer gently 10 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Buffet Salad Service

"Pretty as a pitcure" is this colorful Italian pottery platter with its trio of bright molded salads. And just right, too, for help-yourself buffet service. There's a choice here, of rich creamy Avocado Mousse; tangy Tomato Aspic in a melon mold; and a shimmery fruit mold of Lemon Gelatin with a crown of sweet dessert cherries.

For the fruit mold and tangy Tomato Aspic, use this basic lemon gelatin recipe. It's simple and so quick to make when using canned or frozen lemon juice which comes already to use in handy little cans. The Avocado Mousse, too, calls for a generous amount of lemon juice to pep up its mild flavor.

Basic Lemon Gelatin

1 envelope plain gelatin
½ cup cold water
1 cup hot water
⅛ cup sugar
¼ cup canned or frozen lemon juice
1/8 teaspoon salt

METHOD: Soften the gelatin in the cold water, then add the sugar, salt and the hot water and stir until dissolved. Add the lemon juice, mix thoroughly and pour into mold that has been rinsed with cold water and chill. When the mixture reaches the consistency of unbeaten egg whites, add fruit, vegetables or seafood and continue chilling. Unmold when firm. Vary the amount of sugar in the recipe to taste, using less sugar for vegetable, chicken or seafood salads; the full amount for fruit salads.

Fruit Salad

Add 1 cup pitted sweet dessert cherries to basic lemon gelatin recipe. Other interesting variations include: diced melon balls; avocado segments and grapefruit segments; diced tart apple, celery and nuts; well-drained fruit cocktail.

Tomato Aspic

Use basic lemon gelatin recipe, substituting 1 cup hot tomato juice for the 1 cup of hot water. When gelatin begins to thicken add 2 drops Tabasco sauce, 1 tablespoon grated onion and 3 tablespoons diced green pepper.

Avocado Mousse

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin (1 package)
2 tablespoons cold water
1 cup boiling water
3 tablespoons canned or frozen lemon juice
1 cup mashed avocado
1 cup whipped cream
½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon grated onion
½ teaspoon salt

METHOD: Sprinkle the gelatin on cold water; allow to stand until soft. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add lemon juice. Peel avocado; remove stone and mash the pulp through a sieve. When the gelatin mixture has cooled, add the avocado pulp, whipped cream, mayonnaise, grated onion and salt. Rinse a mold with cold water, or oil the mold, place in the refrigerator and chill until firm. Unmold on chicory, endive or lettuce. If ring mold is used, fill the center with shrimp salad.

Tabasco Wafers Nibble Hit

PEOPLE who like fine food know that Tabasco makes most anything zippier and more flavorful, and now they are raving about the newest use, in a Tabasco cheese wafer.

Using a few simple ingredients, this recipe follows the procedure for refrigerator cookies; you can make up a quantity of the mixture and bake your wafers just before the guests arrive. The secret of their goodness is Tabasco, the liquid pepper seasoning which blends so well with cheese in any form. Tabasco is unlike any other product, so be sure you use only the real thing.

Simple to do, and yet so different that you'll find them the perfect answer for what to serve as afternoon snacks with fruit juices or as handy accompaniments to cocktails.

Tabasco Cheese Wafers

¼ teaspoon Tabasco
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 3-ounce package sharp processed cheese
⅔ cup sifted all-purpose flour

Add Tabasco to butter; cream well. Blend in cheese and flour. Form mixture into roll; wrap in waxed paper and chill several hours. Cut into ⅛-inch slices; place on waxed paper lined baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) 12 to 15 minutes.

YIELD Approximately 4 dozen.

At last—it's here!

A mix that gives you cakes that stay as fresh as cakes made the slow, old-fashioned way!

Buffet Salad Service

"Pretty as a pitcure" is this colorful Italian pottery platter with its trio of bright molded salads. And just right, too, for help-yourself buffet service. There's a choice here, of rich creamy Avocado Mousse; tangy Tomato Aspic in a melon mold; and a shimmery fruit mold of Lemon Gelatin with a crown of sweet dessert cherries.

For the fruit mold and tangy Tomato Aspic, use this basic lemon gelatin recipe. It's simple and so quick to make when using canned or frozen lemon juice which comes already to use in handy little cans. The Avocado Mousse, too, calls for a generous amount of lemon juice to pep up its mild flavor.

Basic Lemon Gelatin

1 envelope plain gelatin
½ cup cold water
1 cup hot water
⅓ cup sugar
¼ cup canned or frozen lemon juice
1/8 teaspoon salt

METHOD: Soften the gelatin in the cold water, then add the sugar, salt and the hot water and stir until dissolved. Add the lemon juice, mix thoroughly and pour into mold that has been rinsed with cold water and chill. When the mixture reaches the consistency of unbeaten egg whites, add fruit, vegetables or seafood and continue chilling. Unmold when firm. Vary the amount of sugar in the recipe to taste, using less sugar for vegetable, chicken or seafood salads; the full amount for fruit salads.

Fruit Salad

Add 1 cup pitted sweet dessert cherries to basic lemon gelatin recipe. Other interesting variations include: diced melon balls; avocado segments and grapefruit segments; diced tart apple, celery and nuts; well-drained fruit cocktail.

Tomato Aspic

Use basic lemon gelatin recipe, substituting 1 cup hot tomato juice for the 1 cup of hot water. When gelatin begins to thicken add 2 drops Tabasco sauce, 1 tablespoon grated onion and 3 tablespoons diced green pepper.

Avocado Mousse

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin (1 package)
2 tablespoons cold water
1 cup boiling water
3 tablespoons canned or frozen lemon juice
1 cup mashed avocado
1 cup whipped cream
½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon grated onion
½ teaspoon salt

METHOD: Sprinkle the gelatin on cold water; allow to stand until soft. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add lemon juice. Peel avocado; remove stone and mash the pulp through a sieve. When the gelatin mixture has cooled, add the avocado pulp, whipped cream, mayonnaise, grated onion and salt. Rinse a mold with cold water, or oil the mold, place in the refrigerator and chill until firm. Unmold on chicory, endive or lettuce. If ring mold is used, fill the center with shrimp salad.

Tabasco Wafers Nibble Hit

PEOPLE who like fine food know that Tabasco makes most anything zippier and more flavorful, and now they are raving about the newest use, in a Tabasco cheese wafer.

Using a few simple ingredients, this recipe follows the procedure for refrigerator cookies; you can make up a quantity of the mixture and bake your wafers just before the guests arrive. The secret of their goodness is Tabasco, the liquid pepper seasoning which blends so well with cheese in any form. Tabasco is unlike any other product, so be sure you use only the real thing.

Simple to do, and yet so different that you'll find them the perfect answer for what to serve as afternoon snacks with fruit juices or as handy accompaniments to cocktails.

Tabasco Cheese Wafers

¼ teaspoon Tabasco
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 3-ounce package sharp processed cheese
⅔ cup sifted all-purpose flour

Add Tabasco to butter; cream well. Blend in cheese and flour. Form mixture into roll; wrap in waxed paper and chill several hours. Cut into ⅛-inch slices; place on waxed paper lined baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) 12 to 15 minutes.

YIELD Approximately 4 dozen.

Buffet Salad Service

"Pretty as a pitcure" is this colorful Italian pottery platter with its trio of bright molded salads. And just right, too, for help-yourself buffet service. There's a choice here, of rich creamy Avocado Mousse; tangy Tomato Aspic in a melon mold; and a shimmery fruit mold of Lemon Gelatin with a crown of sweet dessert cherries.

For the fruit mold and tangy Tomato Aspic, use this basic lemon gelatin recipe. It's simple and so quick to make when using canned or frozen lemon juice which comes already to use in handy little cans. The Avocado Mousse, too, calls for a generous amount of lemon juice to pep up its mild flavor.

Basic Lemon Gelatin

1 envelope plain gelatin
½ cup cold water
1 cup hot water
⅓ cup sugar
¼ cup canned or frozen lemon juice
1/8 teaspoon salt

METHOD: Soften the gelatin in the cold water, then add the sugar, salt and the hot water and stir until dissolved. Add the lemon juice, mix thoroughly and pour into mold that has been rinsed with cold water and chill. When the mixture reaches the consistency of unbeaten egg whites, add fruit, vegetables or seafood and continue chilling. Unmold when firm. Vary the amount of sugar in the recipe to taste, using less sugar for vegetable, chicken or seafood salads; the full amount for fruit salads.

Fruit Salad

Add 1 cup pitted sweet dessert cherries to basic lemon gelatin recipe. Other interesting variations include: diced melon balls; avocado segments and grapefruit segments; diced tart apple, celery and nuts; well-drained fruit cocktail.

Tomato Aspic

Use basic lemon gelatin recipe, substituting 1 cup hot tomato juice for the 1 cup of hot water. When gelatin begins to thicken add 2 drops Tabasco sauce, 1 tablespoon grated onion and 3 tablespoons diced green pepper.

Avocado Mousse

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin (1 package)
2 tablespoons cold water
1 cup boiling water
3 tablespoons canned or frozen lemon juice
1 cup mashed avocado
1 cup whipped cream
½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon grated onion
½ teaspoon salt

METHOD: Sprinkle the gelatin on cold water; allow to stand until soft. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add lemon juice. Peel avocado; remove stone and mash the pulp through a sieve. When the gelatin mixture has cooled, add the avocado pulp, whipped cream, mayonnaise, grated onion and salt. Rinse a mold with cold water, or oil the mold, place in the refrigerator and chill until firm. Unmold on chicory, endive or lettuce. If ring mold is used, fill the center with shrimp salad.

Tabasco Wafers Nibble Hit

PEOPLE who like fine food know that Tabasco makes most anything zippier and more flavorful, and now they are raving about the newest use, in a Tabasco cheese wafer.

Using a few simple ingredients, this recipe follows the procedure for refrigerator cookies; you can make up a quantity of the mixture and bake your wafers just before the guests arrive. The secret of their goodness is Tabasco, the liquid pepper seasoning which blends so well with cheese in any form. Tabasco is unlike any other product, so be sure you use only the real thing.

Simple to do, and yet so different that you'll find them the perfect answer for what to serve as afternoon snacks with fruit juices or as handy accompaniments to cocktails.

Tabasco Cheese Wafers

¼ teaspoon Tabasco
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 3-ounce package sharp processed cheese
⅔ cup sifted all-purpose flour

Add Tabasco to butter; cream well. Blend in cheese and flour. Form mixture into roll; wrap in waxed paper and chill several hours. Cut into ⅛-inch slices; place on waxed paper lined baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) 12 to 15 minutes.

YIELD Approximately 4 dozen.

At last—it's here!

A mix that gives you cakes that stay as fresh as cakes made the slow, old-fashioned way!

Vinson's Dissent In Steel Case Joke To Butler

Senator Seeks Curbs On Treaty Powers

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8 (AP) — Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md) told a Kiwanis Club audience today that the dissenting opinion of Supreme Court Chief Justice Vinson in the steel seizure case "came as a joke to me."

Butler explained that Justice Vinson held that since the United Nations charter was the supreme law of the land and the U. N. had called upon this country to resist aggression in Korea, President Truman could ignore property laws and take over the steel mills.

He branded the doctrine as one of "inherent power" and "dangerous."

Butler is one of the sponsors of a resolution introduced into the Senate which calls for study of a possible constitutional amendment to prevent treaties this country makes with other powers from becoming supreme law of the land.

Butler pointed out that state laws prohibiting aliens from owning property in California and Idaho and mixed marriages in California have been called invalid by courts because of the U. N. charter, a treaty, which declares all men are equal.

In reply from a question to the floor, Butler said there would be civil rights legislation in this session of Congress but indicated he thought any invasion of state's rights by the Federal government would be turned down.

Power Failure

frigerators, stoves and deep freeze units.

Candles, left over from the Christmas holiday season, furnished the only light in hundreds of homes of the area.

Cumberland suffered only slight damage to power lines, but Potomac Edison Company officials said a few lines were out for a short time after ice laden trees snapped and fell across power lines.

Garrett Is Hit

The blackout extended to Garrett County yesterday as the freezing rain piled up on the roads and snapped trees and power and telephone wires.

Damage Is Heavy

Incomplete reports indicated most of the lines in the Grantsville and Deep Creek Lake area were affected.

Mercifully, the thermometer, which hovered about the freezing mark all day, did not drop much, and did not add the danger of freezing water lines inside the cold and clammy homes.

Short wave radios proved their worth yesterday for PE line crews as telephone lines went down.

Service was restored to the lower end of LaVale by 3 p.m., but the upper end, from the State Police Barracks to Red Hill, was still in darkness at 10:10 p.m.

The State Police Barracks was slightly better off than most early last night, since they were able to borrow a portable generator to maintain normal operations at the barracks.

State Police said at 10 p.m. that the situation seemed to be worsening in Garrett County as freezing rain and fog covered the area.

Lonaconing Hit Twice

Lonaconing was hit twice by the power failure and was still in darkness late last night.

The first break in service occurred when the main westbound power lines snapped between here and Frostburg. Service was restored by 12:55 p.m. as service crews switched to transmission lines from Keyser.

The power went off in the community again at 9:30 p.m. as ice laden lines snapped.

PE crews tackled the job of restoring service at once but had not located the trouble by 10:15 p.m.

The heavy ice which built up on the trees snapped off limbs. The window of a Main Street home was broken by a falling limb.

Resident Is Lauded For Church Service

E. T. Dixon, of 650 Fayette Street, who was 90 years old Wednesday, was congratulated by Rev. Howard M. Amoss, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church, since he has been a member of that church for 56 years.

Dixon has been active as financial secretary from 1917-1943, in missionary and benevolence work and as a lay member of the annual conference. A charter member of the Kiwanis Club and still active in its work Dixon curtailed only one club activity, that as a member of the bowling team. An informal party was held Wednesday night at the home of the Dixons, who marked their 58th wedding anniversary January 2.

Maryland Farm Bureau Meets

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8 (AP)—Organizations affiliated with the Maryland Farm Bureau met here today, discussed their individual problems, elected officers and then turned the spotlight over to the parent body.

Major sessions of the 37th annual meeting of the Maryland Farm Bureau, Inc., are set for tomorrow and Saturday.

Among the affiliated organizations convening today was the Maryland Nurserymen's Association which elected Robert Johnston of Easton as president.

Other officers chosen by the nurserymen were Carl Orndorff, Chevy Chase, first vice president; Ed Stock, Bethesda, second vice president, and Paul S. Hofmann, Towson, treasurer.

Hofmann was voted the professional achievement award for long service to the industry. Also honored was Dr. George S. Langford, who is the association's educational secretary and newly elected president of the National Shade Tree Conference.

Col. Hamilton Heads Military District

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8 (AP)—Col. James R. Hamilton, Regular Army infantry officer, was named today as new chief of the Maryland Military District.

He succeeds Col. Arthur L. Shreve, who retired at the end of 1952 after more than 34 years of service.

A native of Willow Hill, Ill., Hamilton was commissioned in 1921. His commands have included the 264th Infantry Regiment of the 66th Division, 10th Infantry Regiment of the 5th Division, the Army Test Branch of the Army Field Forces and the Arctic Training Center in Alaska.

He is married and the father of two sons, one of them a cadet at U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

Lima Bean And Sausage Casserole

½ pound link sausage; 4 cups cooked lima beans; (1 pound dried beans); 2 tablespoons flour; 1¾ cups milk; 1 teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; 1 teaspoon dry mustard; 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce; ½ cup buttered crumbs.

Fry sausages slowly 12 to 15 minutes, turning frequently. Cut in pieces and arrange in alternate layers with beans in a buttered baking dish. Blend flour with 3 tablespoons sausage fat. Add milk gradually and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add seasonings and pour over sausage and beans. Sprinkle with buttered crumbs. Bake in moderate oven, 375°F., 30 to 45 minutes or until brown on top. Serves 6.

Raines' Cows On Record List

Seven cows belonging to Lester Raines, Baltimore Pike, produced a total of 12,690 pounds of milk and 534 pounds of butterfat during December according to a report by the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

Raines' cows were listed among the ten highest producers of butterfat and milk during the period, Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, supervisors, said yesterday.

The highest individual producer was a Holstein belonging to the Shumaker Brothers of Rawlings which gave 2,140 pounds of milk and 86 butterfat.

A Holstein owned by John T. Mason, Cresaptown, produced 1,460 pounds of milk and 75 butterfat. Another Holstein belonging to Ivan C. Wilson, Midland, produced 1,460 pounds of milk and 73 butterfat.

The total number of cows on test during December was 860. The average production of all cows for the month was milk, 617 pounds; butterfat test, 4.16 per cent; and butterfat, 25.6 pounds.

Five Area Men Enlist In Army

Five area men have enlisted in the armed forces this week, according to M/Sgt. R. W. Stewart, local recruiter.

Joining the Army Security Agency were James W. Winnebrenner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Granty Winnebrenner, RFD 2, Frostburg, and Bertrand Michael, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Michael, RFD 2, Frostburg. Both are graduates of Grantsville High School.

Gilbert Zimmerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Zimmerman, Oldtown, enlisted in the Army and will be sent to a military school. He is a graduate of Oldtown High School.

Enlisting in the Regular Army were Homer V. Mongold, veteran of 10 and one-half years service, and Olen M. Buckley, veteran of 11 years service. Both men are from Romney, W. Va.

The five enlistees were dispatched to Fort George G. Meade for processing.

Seek Beer Licenses

Two applications for beer licenses were filed yesterday with the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners. John J. Yeager seeks one on Main Street in Midland and Betty Jane Schroeter wants the other one at The Narrows.

To Hold Supper

A ham supper will be held by the Short Gap firemen and Ladies Auxiliary from 5 until 8 Saturday night in the fire hall.

Maryland GOP

Luber already was stalking off the rostrum declaring "I have already made my decision."

Gov. McKeldin, chortling with Republican legislators at the Democratic hostilities, also waited. He has had a "State of the State" message ready to deliver since noon yesterday. It's supposed to be given to a joint session of Senate and House.

Fallen Trees

Linemen soon arrived on the scene and cut power stopping the blaze. They had to cut part of the tree away from the wire.

Near Cumberland, roads were clear, but at Frostburg and west into Garrett County, one and one-half inches of ice covered roads. State Road Commission cinder crews were ashing Route 40 in that section last night.

However, most of the trouble on Route 40 was being caused by falling trees and branches from the weight of ice. Two trucks were patrolling the area last night. An SRC official said the highway looked like a tunnel because of leaning trees. He said trees laden with ice were leaning far over into the road from side embankments.

Trees Block Road

Maryland State Police at LaVale reported two large trees had fallen across the Mt. Savage Road to Frostburg and traffic was blocked. Road crews were busy clearing the fallen branches.

Both SRC and city crews were working on two fallen trees on Braddock Road last night, where branches were scattered all along the highway. City workers were also clearing fallen trees in different parts of the Queen City.

State Police in Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania reported highways were slippery last night as wet roads froze with dropping temperatures.

In Tucker County, W. Va., and further west at Elkins, mercury was as high as 52 degrees last night. It was raining in that section with roads not yet freezing.

In other sections reports were Hardman, 48, cloudy; Blazer, W. Va., 38, cloudy; Terra Alta, W. Va., 38, cloudy, Altamont, 33, sleeting; Orleans Road, 32, raining; Harpers Ferry, 36, raining; Deal, Pa., 30, sleeting and Confluence, Pa., 36, raining.

Vinson's Dissent In Steel Case Joke To Butler

Senator Seeks Curbs On Treaty Powers

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8 (AP) — Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md) told a Kiwanis Club audience today that the dissenting opinion of Supreme Court Chief Justice Vinson in the steel seizure case "came as a joke to me."

Butler explained that Justice Vinson held that since the United Nations charter was the supreme law of the land and the U. N. had called upon this country to resist aggression in Korea, President Truman could ignore property laws and take over the steel mills.

Butler is one of the sponsors of a resolution introduced into the Senate which calls for study of a possible constitutional amendment to prevent treaties this country makes with other powers from becoming supreme law of the land.

Butler pointed out that state laws prohibiting aliens from owning property in California and Idaho and mixed marriages in California have been called invalid by courts because of the U. N. charter, a treaty, which declares all men are equal.

In reply from a question to the floor, Butler said there would be civil rights legislation in this session of Congress but indicated he thought any invasion of state's rights by the Federal government would be turned down.

Power Failure

frigerators, stoves and deep freeze units.

Candles, left over from the Christmas holiday season, furnished the only light in hundreds of homes of the area.

Cumberland suffered only slight damage to power lines, but Potomac Edison Company officials said a few lines were out for a short time after ice laden trees snapped and fell across power lines.

Garrett Is Hit

The blackout extended to Garrett County yesterday as the freezing rain piled up on the roads and snapped trees and power and telephone wires.

Damage Is Heavy

Incomplete reports indicated most of the lines in the Grantsville and Deep Creek Lake area were affected.

Mercifully, the thermometer, which hovered about the freezing mark all day, did not drop much, and did not add the danger of freezing water lines inside the cold and clammy homes.

Short wave radios proved their worth yesterday for PE line crews as telephone lines went down.

Service was restored to the lower end of LaVale by 3 p.m., but the upper end, from the State Police Barracks to Red Hill, was still in darkness at 10:10 p.m.

The State Police Barracks was slightly better off than most early last night, since they were able to borrow a portable generator to maintain normal operations at the barracks.

State Police said at 10 p.m. that the situation seemed to be worsening in Garrett County as freezing rain and fog covered the area.

Lonaconing Hit Twice

Lonaconing was hit twice by the power failure and was still in darkness late last night.

The first break in service occurred when the main westbound power lines snapped between here and Frostburg. Service was restored by 12:55 p.m. as service crews switched to transmission lines from Keyser.

The power went off in the community again at 9:30 p.m. as ice laden lines snapped.

PE crews tackled the job of restoring service at once but had not located the trouble by 10:15 p.m.

The heavy ice which built up on the trees snapped off limbs. The window of a Main Street home was broken by a falling limb.

Resident Is Lauded For Church Service

E. T. Dixon, of 650 Fayette Street, who was 90 years old Wednesday, was congratulated by Rev. Howard M. Amoss, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church, since he has been a member of that church for 56 years.

Dixon has been active as financial secretary from 1917-1943, in missionary and benevolence work and as a lay member of the annual conference. A charter member of the Kiwanis Club and still active in its work Dixon curtailed only one club activity, that as a member of the bowling team. An informal party was held Wednesday night at the home of the Dixons, who marked their 58th wedding anniversary January 2.

Maryland Farm Bureau Meets

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8 (AP)—Organizations affiliated with the Maryland Farm Bureau met here today, discussed their individual problems, elected officers and then turned the spotlight over to the parent body.

Major sessions of the 37th annual meeting of the Maryland Farm Bureau, Inc., are set for tomorrow and Saturday.

Among the affiliated organizations convening today was the Maryland Nurserymen's Association which elected Robert Johnston of Easton as president.

Other officers chosen by the nurserymen were Carl Orndorff, Chevy Chase, first vice president; Ed Stock, Bethesda, second vice president, and Paul S. Hofmann, Towson, treasurer.

Hofmann was voted the professional achievement award for long service to the industry. Also honored was Dr. George S. Langford, who is the association's educational secretary and newly elected president of the National Shade Tree Conference.

Col. Hamilton Heads Military District

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8 (AP)—Col. James R. Hamilton, Regular Army infantry officer, was named today as new chief of the Maryland Military District.

He succeeds Col. Arthur L. Shreve, who retired at the end of 1952 after more than 34 years of service.

A native of Willow Hill, Ill., Hamilton was commissioned in 1921. His commands have included the 264th Infantry Regiment of the 66th Division, 10th Infantry Regiment of the 5th Division, the Army Test Branch of the Army Field Forces and the Arctic Training Center in Alaska.

He is married and the father of two sons, one of them a cadet at U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

Lima Bean And Sausage Casserole

½ pound link sausage; 4 cups cooked lima beans; (1 pound dried beans); 2 tablespoons flour; 1¾ cups milk; 1 teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; 1 teaspoon dry mustard; 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce; ½ cup buttered crumbs.

Fry sausages slowly 12 to 15 minutes, turning frequently. Cut in pieces and arrange in alternate layers with beans in a buttered baking dish. Blend flour with 3 tablespoons sausage fat. Add milk gradually and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add seasonings and pour over sausage and beans. Sprinkle with buttered crumbs. Bake in moderate oven, 375°F., 30 to 45 minutes or until brown on top. Serves 6.

Raines' Cows On Record List

Seven cows belonging to Lester Raines, Baltimore Pike, produced a total of 12,690 pounds of milk and 534 pounds of butterfat during December according to a report by the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

Raines' cows were listed among the ten highest producers of butterfat and milk during the period, Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, supervisors, said yesterday.

The highest individual producer was a Holstein belonging to the Shumaker Brothers of Rawlings which gave 2,140 pounds of milk and 86 butterfat.

A Holstein owned by John T. Mason, Cresaptown, produced 1,460 pounds of milk and 75 butterfat. Another Holstein belonging to Ivan C. Wilson, Midland, produced 1,460 pounds of milk and 73 butterfat.

The total number of cows on test during December was 860. The average production of all cows for the month was milk, 617 pounds; butterfat test, 4.16 per cent; and butterfat, 25.6 pounds.

Five Area Men Enlist In Army

Five area men have enlisted in the armed forces this week, according to M/Sgt. R. W. Stewart, local recruiter.

Joining the Army Security Agency were James W. Winnebrenner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Granty Winnebrenner, RFD 2, Frostburg, and Bertrand Michael, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Michael, RFD 2, Frostburg. Both are graduates of Grantsville High School.

Gilbert Zimmerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Zimmerman, Oldtown, enlisted in the Army and will be sent to a military school. He is a graduate of Oldtown High School.

Enlisting in the Regular Army were Homer V. Mongold, veteran of 10 and one-half years service, and Olen M. Buckley, veteran of 11 years service. Both men are from Romney, W. Va.

The five enlistees were dispatched to Fort George G. Meade for processing.

Seek Beer Licenses

Two applications for beer licenses were filed yesterday with the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners. John J. Yeager seeks one on Main Street in Midland and Betty Jane Schroeter wants the other one at The Narrows.

To Hold Supper

A ham supper will be held by the Short Gap firemen and Ladies Auxiliary from 5 until 8 Saturday night in the fire hall.

Maryland GOP

Luber already was stalking off the rostrum declaring "I have already made my decision."

Gov. McKeldin, chortling with Republican legislators at the Democratic hostilities, also waited. He has had a "State of the State" message ready to deliver since noon yesterday. It's supposed to be given to a joint session of Senate and House.

Linemen soon arrived on the scene and cut power stopping the blaze. They had to cut part of the tree away from the wire.

Near Cumberland, roads were clear, but at Frostburg and west into Garrett County, one and one-half inches of ice covered roads. State Road Commission cinder crews were ashing Route 40 in that section last night.

However, most of the trouble on Route 40 was being caused by falling trees and branches from the weight of ice. Two trucks were patrolling the area last night. An SRC official said the highway looked like a tunnel because of leaning trees. He said trees laden with ice were leaning far over into the road from side embankments.

Trees Block Road

Maryland State Police at LaVale reported two large trees had fallen across the Mt. Savage Road to Frostburg and traffic was blocked. Road crews were busy clearing the fallen branches.

Both SRC and city crews were working on two fallen trees on Braddock Road last night, where branches were scattered all along the highway. City workers were also clearing fallen trees in different parts of the Queen City.

State Police in Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania reported highways were slippery last night as wet roads froze with dropping temperatures.

In Tucker County, W. Va., and further west at Elkins, mercury was as high as 52 degrees last night, It was raining in that section with roads not yet freezing.

In other sections reports were Hardman, 48, cloudy; Blazer, W. Va., 38, cloudy; Terra Alta, W. Va., 38, cloudy, Altamont, 33, sleeting; Orleans Road, 32, raining; Harpers Ferry, 36, raining; Deal, Pa., 30, sleeting and Confluence, Pa., 36, raining.

WMI Openers Set Tonight At Beall, Allegany And Fort Hill

Bruce, Beall Quints Defend Perfect Marks

Central At Fort Hill, AHS Will Host Barton; Ridgeley At LaSalle

The W.M.I. Basketball League starts its 33rd annual grind tonight and highlighting the three-game card will be the Bruce-Beall contest at Frostburg.

This game brings together Allegany county's only undefeated quints. Bruce High, coached by Augie Eichhorn, has notched six wins while Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's Beall High outfit has bagged six straight.

Here are the records of these teams:

Beall		Bruce
49-Mt. Savage	20	61-Hyndman	44
79-Mt. Savage	47	59-Fort Ashby	41
70-Ridgeley	55	74-Alumni	50
69-Alumni	42	82-Southern	61
74-Piedmont	65	63-Mt. Savage	29
53-Fort Ashby	45	58-Piedmont	57
394-Totals	274	397-Totals	282

The two other W.M.I. League contests are scheduled here.

At Campobello, Allegany (5-2) entertains the Barton High Braves (1-4), coached by Paul Footen this season. Fort Hill (3-4) will host Johnny Meyers' Central High cagers from Lonaconing who have a 7-2 record.

Officials for tonight's games are: Joe Stanislawczyk and Fred "Tack" Clark at Fort Hill, Bill Hahn and Eddie Diehl at Allegany and Bob Pence and Joe Wagner at Beall High.

Stopped by their old nemesis Fort Hill on Tuesday night, LaSalle's Explorers hope to return to the win column when they play Ridgeley High's Blackhawks tonight at 8 on SS. Peter and Paul court. LaSalle is now 4-3 while Ridgeley is hitting .500 with a 3-3 record.

Keyser Tests Romney

Seven games are on tap in the 16-team Potomac Valley Conference.

Undefeated Romney High (7-0) does battle with John Shelton's Keyser High floormen at Keyser in what looms as the No. 1 contest in that circuit. The Keyserites are batting .600 with a 3-2 record. The Pioneers are 5-0 in the conference and Keyser is 2-1.

Moorefield, undefeated in seven starts, including five games in the P.V.C., plays host to Thomas High from Tucker County tonight.

Other conference tests find Capon Bridge at Fort Ashby, Circleville at the West Virginia School for the Deaf (Romney), Petersburg at Franklin, Mathias at Wardensville and Elk Garden at Piedmont.

Other Tilts Tonight

The independent schedule of games shows Harman High of Randolph county at Davis, Hyndman, Pa., invades Paw Paw, W. Va., Mt. Savage at Southern High, Oakland; Northern High, of Accident, at Salisbury, Pa.; Howard of Piedmont at Lincoln High, Wheeling; Bedford at Somerset, Hagerstown at Westminster and University High of Morgantown at Martinsburg.

Idle during the holiday season, Bill Moore's Shepherd College cagers tackle Wilson Teachers' College of Washington, D. C., tonight at Shepherdstown. The Rams have won four of five games played to date.

Peskin's cagers knocked off the American Legion in a 44-43 thriller last night in the YMCA Senior Men's Basketball League, enabling the Tri-State Cleaners, who were idle, to take a one-game lead in the first half championship race.

Lou Bell's Five tied the Legion for the runner-up position by defeating The Spot by the score of 63-38.

Bill Day headed Peskin's scorers with 10 points and J. Fahey was top man for the Legion with 12. Murry Hardinger and Bob Beck were the "big guns" for Bell's Five with 14 and 13 points. Chris Lockard headed The Spot with 17.

Five Detroit Lions Chosen For All Pro Team

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Five members of the champion Detroit Lions have been selected for The Associated Press All-Pro two platoon football team. Chosen for the offensive array were End Cloyce Box, Guard Lou Creekmur and Quarterback Bobby Layne. Lions on the defensive squad are Tackle Thurman McGraw and Halfback Jack Christiansen.

Four Cleveland Browns, who lost to the Lions in the championship playoff, were picked for the team after polling Associated Press sports writers in the various National League cities.

Browns named for the offensive eleven are Center Frank Gatski and Guard Lou Groza. Those on the defensive setup are Guard Bill Willis and End Len Ford.

49ers Place Three

The San Francisco 49ers, third place finishers in the Western Division won by Detroit after a playoff with Los Angeles, surprisingly placed three men on the offensive team. They are Halfback Hugh McElhenny, the league's outstanding rookie, End Gordon Soltau and Tackle Leo Nomellini.

Besides the Lions, Browns and 49ers on the offensive team others chosen are Tackle George Connor of the Chicago Bears, Halfback Eddie Price of the New York Giants and Fullback Dan Towler of the Los Angeles Rams.

Players from five other teams besides the Lions and Browns were selected for the defensive eleven. Two Giants, Safety Emlen Tunnell and Tackle Arnie Weinmeister, were the biggest vote getters. Also on the team are Guard Stan West of the Rams, End Peter Pihos and Linebacker Chuck Bednarik of the Philadelphia Eagles, Linebacker Jerry Shipkey of the Pittsburgh Steelers and Halfback Ollie Matson of the Chicago Cardinals.

Three teams—Washington, Green Bay and Dallas — failed to gain places on the 22-man squad.

Towler Gained 894 Yards

Towler, 220-pound Negro who played for Washington and Jefferson during his collegiate career, led the league in ground gaining. In 156 attempts he gained 894 yards and averaged 5.7 yards per carry. Both figures topped the marks of Price who failed to regain the ground gaining title he won in 1951.

McElhenny, a star at the University of Washington, had the best ground gaining average in the league. On 98 attempts he averaged seven yards and was the league's fourth best ground gainer.

Bobby Layne got the quarterback spot after a close vote with Cleveland's Otto Graham. Layne ranked seventh in league passing yet he tossed 19 touchdown passes as against fourth ranked Graham's 20. However, the Lion coaches credited the team's offensive success during the season to Layne's play calling. He called every play himself and is one of the few T quarterbacks who can run with the ball. Among the signal callers Layne was top ground gainer with a 4.4 average on 94 carries. Graham is strictly a passer—the best in the game, in fact.

In a circuit featuring brilliant ends few could argue with the selection of Frisco's Soltau and Detroit's Box. They finished one-two in the individual scoring race. Soltau led with 94 points, four more than Box who got his tallies on 15 touchdowns, high mark in the league. Soltau made seven touchdowns on passes, kicked 34 extra points in 36 attempts and made six field goals.

Groza Acclaimed

Cleveland's Lou Groza finally received an honor which seemed long overdue. Possibly the most accurate kicker in the game today, Groza made the offensive team on his line play as a guard. However, in the booting department he set a new field goal record with 19 in 33 attempts. He made all 32 extra points attempted to finish third in league scoring with 89 points.

The team, chosen after all games were played, was selected on the basis of reports from Associated Press sports writers in each city where the pros played.

In Saturday's Pro-Bowl game in Los Angeles, 18 of the 22 All Pros are scheduled to see action.

AS YOU WERE

Here's a ballplayer whose "drag" bunts and speedy base running enabled the Midland Indians to beat the Cumberland Colts in the series for the county championship in 1919. But eight years later his southpaw slants figured prominently in the series that gave Cumberland's Colts their first championship in the Middle Atlantic League. In 1919 he starred as a centerfielder with Midland and the fact that he could "run like a deer" turned what appeared to be sure base hits for the Colts into easy outs. In 1927 he came through in the "clutch" in the Cumberland-Johnstown championship series when he tossed a 5-hitter to beat Joe Hartman, 4-2. That triumph came after two straight Johnstown wins, tied up the series at 2-all, and the Colts eventually bagged the crown, four games to two.

In 1920 the player pictured here and "Lefty" Grove embarked on their careers in organized baseball with Martinsburg in the Blue Ridge League. Grove's pitching for Midland in 1919 had earned him the tryout. This speed merchant really got around in the minors. He also played with Chambersburg of the Blue Ridge League; Bristol, Okmulgee, Okla., Rocky Mount, N. C., Dover, Del., of the Eastern Shore League, and Cumberland and Clarksburg of the Middle Atlantic League. He advanced as high as the International League when he was with Rochester, N. Y. for a brief period.

A native of Piedmont, W. Va., he attended St. Peter's School, Westernport; Mt. St. Joseph's, Baltimore, and Georgetown University, Washington. At Frederick, Md., he played with the YMCA basketball team whose personnel included Johnny Neun, "Vic" Kreh, Alvin Quinn, Noah and Leonard Downes and Clarence "Climax" Blethen. What's his name?

In baseball parlance a speedy outfielder often is referred to as one who "carries the mail." This fellow is still in that class as he is now the postmaster at Westernport.

Thomas V. "Tommy" McGuire.

Bob Mathias Named 1952's Top Athlete

Marciano Is Second, Bobby Shantz, Third

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif. Jan. 8 (AP) — Bob Mathias modestly received the news that he had been named the male "Athlete of the Year" for 1952 in the 22nd Associated Press poll.

Bob Mathias

Then he declared he would have liked to have seen an Olympic teammate win the award.

Mathias, 21-year-old from Tulare, said he "personally would have liked" to have seen his Olympic teammate, Horace Ashenfelter, former Penn State star who captured the 3,000 meter steeple chase at Helsinki last summer, win the AP award.

In the poll, Mathias received 64 first place votes and 249 points on a 3-2-1 basis.

Marciano Is Second

Second place went to Rock Marciano of Brockton, Mass., who won the world's heavyweight boxing championship by knocking out Jersey Joe Walcott.

Marciano received 19 first place votes and 135 points.

Third place winner with 65 points, was Emil Zatopek, Czechoslovakian distance runner who ran the 5,000 and 10,000 meter runs and the marathon in last summer's Olympics.

Shantz Cops Fourth

Billy Vessels, Oklahoma's All-America back, was next with 52 points; Julius Boros, U. S. Open golf champion, 44; Robin Roberts, Philadelphia Phillies pitcher, 40; Mickey Mantle, New York Yankees outfielder, 39; Clyde Lovellette, Kansas, All-America basketball player, 18; Dick Groat, Duke All-America basketball player and rookie shortstop with the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinals' outfielder and National League batting champion, 17 points each.

SPORT SLANTS

16 Teams, 16th Season — Hartman's 348 Tops
Keyser Leads Winners — Those Uncashed Ducats

By C. V. BURNS

The 16-school Potomac Valley Conference, comprising teams from Mineral, Hardy, Hampshire, Grant, Tucker and Pendleton counties in West Virginia, is now in its 16th season and the race for the championship finds Romney, Moorefield and Piedmont as the leading contenders.

Keyser has won five titles, Ridgeley has finished on top four times and Parsons, no longer in the circuit, is a triple winner.

Teams coached by Jesse Riggleman, now at Petersburg High, won three times when he was mentor at Ridgeley. John Shelton has headed three Keyser winners and Myrl Kepner tutored three championship quints at Parsons High.

Year	Winner	Record	Coach
1938	Parsons	(7-1)	Myrl Kepner
1939	Parsons	(12-2)	Myrl Kepner
1940	Parsons	(11-1)	Myrl Kepner
1941	Ridgeley	(10-0)	Wm. B. Hahn
1942	Keyser	(11-1)	John Shelton
1943	Romney	(11-3)	Chuck Collette
1944	Keyser	(10-0)	Fred Clark
1945	Keyser	(10-0)	Fred Clark
1946	Moorefield	(13-3)	Jonathan Paugh
1947	Keyser	(11-1)	John Shelton
1948	Ridgeley	(10-0)	Jesse Riggleman
1949	Ridgeley	(9-1)	Jesse Riggleman
	Davis	(8-0)	Weider Pell
1950	Ridgeley	(8-0)	Jesse Riggleman
1951	Moorefield	(17-0)	Jonathan Paugh
1952	Keyser	(12-1)	John Shelton

In 1938 the P. V. C. started its first basketball campaign with nine schools represented. Eight are still in the circuit but none of the original coaches are at the helm today.

Fifteen years ago Myrl Kepner was at Parsons, Forrest "Whitey" Kendall, Petersburg; Vernon Callaway, Franklin; Homer Fizer, Keyser; "Bill" Hahn, Piedmont; Emil Suder, Thomas; John Mathias, Moorefield; Bob Kyle, Romney and Harry E. Wenrich, Circleville.

Coaches of the teams this season are:

Cliff Towles, Capon Bridge; Guy Propst, Circleville; Emery Anderson, Davis; Paul Kalbaugh, Elk Garden; Earl Hess, Fort Ashby; Robert Hartman, Franklin; John Shelton, Keyser; Wendell Mathias, Mathias; Jonathan Paugh, Moorefield; Jesse Riggleman, Petersburg; William Miers, Piedmont; Chester Payne, Ridgeley; Allen Swick, Romney; Ed Supak, Thomas; Charles E. Vance, Wardensville, and Glenn R. Hawkins, West Virginia School for the Deaf.

Carl "Wink" Hartman, now playing for Alderson-Broaddus College at Philippi, W. Va., is the holder of four individual scoring records that were established in 1950-51 when he played at Ridgeley High.

They were 348 points in 12 games, an average of 29 per game, 29 field goals and 62 points in a single game.

Last year's scoring champion was Pat Kern who garnered 269 points in 17 games for Moorefield.

He's running wild again this season as statistics from the first five games played by the Yellow Jackets give him a point total of 128 which is an average of 25.6 points per contest.

The New Jersey Racing Commission reports that it has turned over to the state $121,444.80 in uncashed pari-mutuel tickets from the Atlantic City, Camden, Oceanport and Freehold tracks this year.

St. Patrick's Loses In Frostburg, 54-24

FROSTBURG, Jan. 8 — St. Michael's extended its winning streak to eight games in the Catholic Youth Basketball League by defeating St. Patrick's of Cumberland here tonight by the score of 54-24.

The loss was the sixth in a row for the visitors.

Charles Passarell topped the winners with 15 points while Barry and D. Lavin had 10 tallies each. McGreevy collected 13 points to pace St. Patrick's.

Two other games scheduled tonight in Cumberland were postponed on account of the slippery roads which made traveling hazardous. Lineups:

Biddy Basketball Program To Open Here Tomorrow

Games Set At Fort Hill And Allegany Courts

Grade school boys, nine to twelve years of age, have been invited to participate in the Recreation Department Biddy Basketball Program which will begin at Fort Hill and Allegany High School gymnasiums at ten o'clock Saturday morning.

Any boy interested from Gephart School, Columbia Street School, Centre Street School, West Side School and Mount Royal School should report to the Allegany High School Gym at 10 a. m. on Saturday. Boys from East Side School, John Humbird School, Johnson Heights School, Virginia Avenue School, Pennsylvania Avenue School and Carver Elementary School should report to the Fort Hill High School Gym at 10 a. m. on Saturday. All boys should bring gym shoes, pants, shirt and towel. Letters to the principals of these schools were sent out this week informing the youngsters of the starting date.

The instructors will be Bill Hahn at Fort Hill and Charlie Bryce at Allegany. Fundamentals of shooting, passing, dribbling, and ball handling will be taught in the early sessions, and a short schedule will be played in the latter sessions.

According to Biddy Basketball Rules, the baskets are lowered to 8½ feet instead of the regulation 10, the playing floor is shortened, and the basketball is 3 inches smaller in circumference. Playing periods are shortened to six minute quarters, and the foul line is reduced from 15 to 12 feet.

The program is open to boys 9 to 12 years of age, who are not participating in the Y.M.C.A. Sunday School League, as it is felt that it is too strenuous for boys of that age to play both mornings and afternoons of the same day. Several Sunday School League Teams have indicated that they intend to enter a team in the Biddy League for boys who are not yet developed sufficiently to participate in the Y. M. C. A. League.

It is hoped that each grade school will enter one or more teams.

Last year, the Biddy League was held at Fort Hill High School only, though the distance from other sections of town limited the participation. This year, Allegany and Fort Hill will both be utilized.

The program will run from January 10 to Feb. 28.

Touring Netmen Head For Garden

Pros To Play There Saturday And Sunday

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Frank Sedgman and Jack Kramer and Co., headed for the big town tonight with tremendous interest building up for the third meeting between the two tennis titans.

All square after two sessions in Los Angeles before capacity houses, Sedgman, the tyro pro, and Kramer, old pro with the "big" game, will trade shots in Madison Square Garden Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Ken McGregor, Sedgman's Australian Davis Cup team partner, and Pancho Segura, the little man with the two-handed wallop, also will renew their young rivalry in the two matinee performances. Pancho is two up on the lanky Australian youngster.

There was a strong possibility that both of the shows would sell out to daily crowds of 15,000 and gates of $50,000.

Crosby Tourney To Start Today

Million Dollar Cast Will Play In Pro-Am

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Jan. 8 (AP)—Professional stars, topnotch amateurs and celebrities from the entertainment and sports world team up here tomorrow for the first round of the annual $10,000 pro-amateur golf tournament sponsored by Bing Crosby.

Bing pays all the bills and gives the profits to worthy causes.

A "million dollar" cast will be chopping divots during the three day 54-hole event. More than 100 two-man teams, professional paired with amateur, will play a round each over the three scenic courses in this resort area—Cypress Point, Monterey Peninsula County Club and Pebble Beach.

After tomorrow's and Saturday's rounds, the field will be trimmed to the low 60 teams for Sunday's final 18 over Pebble Beach, a par 72 test that has been the site of many national tournaments.

Crosby hasn't made plans to play in his personal undertaking which has netted some $113,000 for local charities in the last six years.

Ben Hogan and Sam Snead, who have participated in the "Crosby clambake" before, were unable to accept invitations to this one.

Final Report May Allow Relaxation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 — The Television Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association hoisted a red flag of caution today against unrestricted TV broadcasts of football games and urged a continuation of curbs similar to those of 1952.

Stay-at-home TV fans raised loud wails last year over the NCAA policy of permitting only one college grid game to be telecast each week.

Committee Chairman Bob Hall of Yale told newsmen he believes the group's final report allows room for some relaxation of the much-criticized 1952 program.

Hall said it might permit almost unlimited television of games in some areas where it could be done without hurting other colleges.

Two Bitterly Opposed

Notre Dame and the University of Pennsylvania have taken the lead in bitterly opposing the restricted TV program. Other colleges have called for even tighter controls, possibly even a complete TV ban.

While cautioning against the dangers of unlimited television, Hall's committee specifically recommended that proper supervision could be achieved by:

1. A national TV plan which recognizes regional problems and distinctions.

2. Continuation of the rule al-

Bruce, Beall Quints Defend Perfect Marks

Central At Fort Hill, AHS Will Host Barton; Ridgeley At LaSalle

The W.M.I. Basketball League starts its 33rd annual grind tonight and highlighting the three-game card will be the Bruce-Beall contest at Frostburg.

This game brings together Allegany county's only undefeated quints. Bruce High, coached by Augie Eichhorn, has notched six wins while Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's Beall High outfit has bagged six straight.

Here are the records of these teams:

Beall		Bruce

394-Totals	274	397-Totals	282

The two other W.M.I. League contests are scheduled here.

At Campobello, Allegany (5-2) entertains the Barton High Braves (1-4), coached by Paul Footen this season. Fort Hill (3-4) will host Johnny Meyers' Central High cagers from Lonaconing who have a 7-2 record.

Officials for tonight's games are: Joe Stanislawczyk and Fred "Tack" Clark at Fort Hill, Bill Hahn and Eddie Diehl at Allegany and Bob Pence and Joe Wagner at Beall High.

Stopped by their old nemesis Fort Hill on Tuesday night, LaSalle's Explorers hope to return to the win column when they play Ridgeley High's Blackhawks tonight at 8 on SS. Peter and Paul court. LaSalle is now 4-3 while Ridgeley is hitting .500 with a 3-3 record.

Keyser Tests Romney

Seven games are on tap in the 16-team Potomac Valley Conference.

Undefeated Romney High (7-0) does battle with John Shelton's Keyser High floormen at Keyser in what looms as the No. 1 contest in that circuit. The Keyserites are batting .600 with a 3-2 record. The Pioneers are 5-0 in the conference and Keyser is 2-1.

Moorefield, undefeated in seven starts, including five games in the P.V.C., plays host to Thomas High from Tucker County tonight.

Other conference tests find Capon Bridge at Fort Ashby, Circleville at the West Virginia School for the Deaf (Romney), Petersburg at Franklin, Mathias at Wardensville and Elk Garden at Piedmont.

Other Tilts Tonight

The independent schedule of games shows Harman High of Randolph county at Davis, Hyndman, Pa., invades Paw Paw, W. Va., Mt. Savage at Southern High, Oakland; Northern High, of Accident, at Salisbury, Pa.; Howard of Piedmont at Lincoln High, Wheeling; Bedford at Somerset, Hagerstown at Westminster and University High of Morgantown at Martinsburg.

Idle during the holiday season, Bill Moore's Shepherd College cagers tackle Wilson Teachers' College of Washington, D. C., tonight at Shepherdstown. The Rams have won four of five games played to date.

Five Detroit Lions Chosen For All Pro Team

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Five members of the champion Detroit Lions have been selected for The Associated Press All-Pro two platoon football team. Chosen for the offensive array were End Cloyce Box, Guard Lou Creekmur and Quarterback Bobby Layne. Lions on the defensive squad are Tackle Thurman McGraw and Halfback Jack Christiansen.

Four Cleveland Browns, who lost to the Lions in the championship playoff, were picked for the team after polling Associated Press sports writers in the various National League cities.

Browns named for the offensive eleven are Center Frank Gatski and Guard Lou Groza. Those on the defensive setup are Guard Bill Willis and End Len Ford.

49ers Place Three

The San Francisco 49ers, third place finishers in the Western Division won by Detroit after a playoff with Los Angeles, surprisingly placed three men on the offensive team. They are Halfback Hugh McElhenny, the league's outstanding rookie, End Gordon Soltau and Tackle Leo Nomellini.

Besides the Lions, Browns and 49ers on the offensive team others chosen are Tackle George Connor of the Chicago Bears, Halfback Eddie Price of the New York Giants and Fullback Dan Towler of the Los Angeles Rams.

Players from five other teams besides the Lions and Browns were selected for the defensive eleven. Two Giants, Safety Emlen Tunnell and Tackle Arnie Weinmeister, were the biggest vote getters. Also on the team are Guard Stan West of the Rams, End Peter Pihos and Linebacker Chuck Bednarik of the Philadelphia Eagles, Linebacker Jerry Shipkey of the Pittsburgh Steelers and Halfback Ollie Matson of the Chicago Cardinals.

Three teams—Washington, Green Bay and Dallas — failed to gain places on the 22-man squad.

Towler Gained 894 Yards

Towler, 220-pound Negro who played for Washington and Jefferson during his collegiate career, led the league in ground gaining. In 156 attempts he gained 894 yards and averaged 5.7 yards per carry. Both figures topped the marks of Price who failed to regain the ground gaining title he won in 1951.

McElhenny, a star at the University of Washington, had the best ground gaining average in the league. On 98 attempts he averaged seven yards and was the league's fourth best ground gainer.

Bobby Layne got the quarterback spot after a close vote with Cleveland's Otto Graham. Layne ranked seventh in league passing yet he tossed 19 touchdown passes as against fourth ranked Graham's 20. However, the Lion coaches credited the team's offensive success during the season to Layne's play calling. He called every play himself and is one of the few T quarterbacks who can run with the ball. Among the signal callers Layne was top ground gainer with a 4.4 average on 94 carries. Graham is strictly a passer—the best in the game, in fact.

In a circuit featuring brilliant ends few could argue with the selection of Frisco's Soltau and Detroit's Box. They finished one-two in the individual scoring race. Soltau led with 94 points, four more than Box who got his tallies on 15 touchdowns, high mark in the league. Soltau made seven touchdowns on passes, kicked 34 extra points in 36 attempts and made six field goals.

Groza Acclaimed

Cleveland's Lou Groza finally received an honor which seemed long overdue. Possibly the most accurate kicker in the game today, Groza made the offensive team on his line play as a guard. However, in the booting department he set a new field goal record with 19 in 33 attempts. He made all 32 extra points attempted to finish third in league scoring with 89 points.

The team, chosen after all games were played, was selected on the basis of reports from Associated Press sports writers in each city where the pros played.

In Saturday's Pro-Bowl game in Los Angeles, 18 of the 22 All Pros are scheduled to see action.

As You Were

Here's a ballplayer whose "drag" bunts and speedy base running enabled the Midland Indians to beat the Cumberland Colts in the series for the county championship in 1919. But eight years later his southpaw slants figured prominently in the series that gave Cumberland's Colts their first championship in the Middle Atlantic League. In 1919 he starred as a centerfielder with Midland and the fact that he could "run like a deer" turned what appeared to be sure base hits for the Colts into easy outs. In 1927 he came through in the "clutch" in the Cumberland-Johnstown championship series when he tossed a 5-hitter to beat Joe Hartman, 4-2. That triumph came after two straight Johnstown wins, tied up the series at 2-all, and the Colts eventually bagged the crown, four games to two.

In 1920 the player pictured here and "Lefty" Grove embarked on their careers in organized baseball with Martinsburg in the Blue Ridge League. Grove's pitching for Midland in 1919 had earned him the tryout. This speed merchant really got around in the minors. He also played with Chambersburg of the Blue Ridge League; Bristol, Okmulgee, Okla., Rocky Mount, N. C., Dover, Del., of the Eastern Shore League, and Cumberland and Clarksburg of the Middle Atlantic League. He advanced as high as the International League when he was with Rochester, N. Y. for a brief period.

A native of Piedmont, W. Va., he attended St. Peter's School, Westernport; Mt. St. Joseph's, Baltimore, and Georgetown University, Washington. At Frederick, Md., he played with the YMCA basketball team whose personnel included Johnny Neun, "Vic" Kreh, Alvin Quinn, Noah and Leonard Downes and Clarence "Climax" Blethen. What's his name?

In baseball parlance a speedy outfielder often is referred to as one who "carries the mail." This fellow is still in that class as he is Thomas V. "Tommy" McGuire, now the postmaster at Westernport.

Billy Vessels, Oklahoma's All-America back, was next with 52 points; Julius Boros, U. S. Open golf champion, 44; Robin Roberts, Philadelphia Phillies pitcher, 40; Mickey Mantle, New York Yankees outfielder, 39; Clyde Lovellette, Kansas, All-America basketball player, 18; Dick Groat, Duke All-America basketball player and rookie shortstop with the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinals' outfielder and National League batting champion, 17 points each.

16 Teams, 16th Season — Hartman's 348 Tops — Keyser Leads Winners — Those Uncashed Ducats

By C. V. BURNS

The 16-school Potomac Valley Conference, comprising teams from Mineral, Hardy, Hampshire, Grant, Tucker and Pendleton counties in West Virginia, is now in its 16th season and the race for the championship finds Romney, Moorefield and Piedmont as the leading contenders.

Keyser has won five titles, Ridgeley has finished on top four times and Parsons, no longer in the circuit, is a triple winner.

Teams coached by Jesse Riggleman, now at Petersburg High, won three times when he was mentor at Ridgeley. John Shelton has headed three Keyser winners and Myrl Kepner tutored three championship quints at Parsons High.

Year	Winner	Record	Coach
1938	Parsons	(7-1)	Myrl Kepner
1939	Parsons	(12-2)	Myrl Kepner
1940	Parsons	(11-1)	Myrl Kepner
1941	Ridgeley	(10-0)	Wm. B. Hahn
1942	Keyser	(11-1)	John Shelton
1943	Romney	(11-3)	Chuck Collette
1944	Keyser	(10-0)	Fred Clark
1945	Keyser	(10-0)	Fred Clark
1946	Moorefield	(13-3)	Jonathan Paugh
1947	Keyser	(11-1)	John Shelton
1948	Ridgeley	(10-0)	Jesse Riggleman
1949	Ridgeley	(9-1)	Jesse Riggleman
	Davis	(8-0)	Weider Pell
1950	Ridgeley	(8-0)	Jesse Riggleman
1951	Moorefield	(17-0)	Jonathan Paugh
1952	Keyser	(12-1)	John Shelton

In 1938 the P. V. C. started its first basketball campaign with nine schools represented. Eight are still in the circuit but none of the original coaches are at the helm today.

Fifteen years ago Myrl Kepner was at Parsons, Forrest "Whitey" Kendall, Petersburg; Vernon Callaway, Franklin; Homer Fizer, Keyser; "Bill" Hahn, Piedmont; Emil Suder, Thomas; John Mathias, Moorefield; Bob Kyle, Romney and Harry E. Wenrich, Circleville.

Coaches of the teams this season are:

Cliff Towles, Capon Bridge; Guy Propst, Circleville; Emery Anderson, Davis; Paul Kalbaugh, Elk Garden; Earl Hess, Fort Ashby; Robert Hartman, Franklin; John Shelton, Keyser; Wendell Mathias, Mathias; Jonathan Paugh, Moorefield; Jesse Riggleman, Petersburg; William Miers, Piedmont; Chester Payne, Ridgeley; Allen Swick, Romney; Ed Supak, Thomas; Charles E. Vance, Wardensville, and Glenn R. Hawkins, West Virginia School for the Deaf.

Carl "Wink" Hartman, now playing for Alderson-Broaddus College at Philippi, W. Va., is the holder of four individual scoring records that were established in 1950-51 when he played at Ridgeley High.

They were 348 points in 12 games, an average of 29 per game, 29 field goals and 62 points in a single game.

Last year's scoring champion was Pat Kern who garnered 269 points in 17 games for Moorefield.

He's running wild again this season as statistics from the first five games played by the Yellow Jackets give him a point total of 128 which is an average of 25.6 points per contest.

The New Jersey Racing Commission reports that it has turned over to the state $121,444.80 in uncashed pari-mutuel tickets from the Atlantic City, Camden, Oceanport and Freehold tracks this year.

Biddy Basketball Program To Open Here Tomorrow

Games Set At Fort Hill And Allegany Courts

Grade school boys, nine to twelve years of age, have been invited to participate in the Recreation Department Biddy Basketball Program which will begin at Fort Hill and Allegany High School gymnasiums at ten o'clock Saturday morning.

Any boy interested from Gephart School, Columbia Street School, Centre Street School, West Side School and Mount Royal School should report to the Allegany High School Gym at 10 a. m. on Saturday. Boys from East Side School, John Humbird School, Johnson Heights School, Virginia Avenue School, Pennsylvania Avenue School and Carver Elementary School should report to the Fort Hill High School Gym at 10 a. m. on Saturday. All boys should bring gym shoes, pants, shirt and towel. Letters to the principals of these schools were sent out this week informing the youngsters of the starting date.

The instructors will be Bill Hahn at Fort Hill and Charlie Bryce at Allegany. Fundamentals of shooting, passing, dribbling, and ball handling will be taught in the early sessions, and a short schedule will be played in the latter sessions.

According to Biddy Basketball Rules, the baskets are lowered to 8½ feet instead of the regulation 10, the playing floor is shortened, and the basketball is 3 inches smaller in circumference. Playing periods are shortened to six minute quarters, and the foul line is reduced from 15 to 12 feet.

The program is open to boys 9 to 12 years of age, who are not participating in the Y.M.C.A. Sunday School League, as it is felt that it is too strenuous for boys of that age to play both mornings and afternoons of the same day. Several Sunday School League Teams have indicated that they intend to enter a team in the Biddy League for boys who are not yet developed sufficiently to participate in the Y. M. C. A. League.

It is hoped that each grade school will enter one or more teams.

Last year, the Biddy League was held at Fort Hill High School only, though the distance from other sections of town limited the participation. This year, Allegany and Fort Hill will both be utilized.

The program will run from January 10 to Feb. 28.

Pros To Play There Saturday And Sunday

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Frank Sedgman and Jack Kramer and Co., headed for the big town tonight with tremendous interest building up for the third meeting between the two tennis titans.

All square after two sessions in Los Angeles before capacity houses, Sedgman, the tyro pro, and Kramer, old pro with the "big" game, will trade shots in Madison Square Garden Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Ken McGregor, Sedgman's Australian Davis Cup team partner, and Pancho Segura, the little man with the two-handed wallop, also will renew their young rivalry in the two matinee performances. Pancho is two up on the lanky Australian youngster.

There was a strong possibility that both of the shows would sell out to daily crowds of 15,000 and gates of $50,000.

Million Dollar Cast Will Play In Pro-Am

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Jan. 8 (AP)—Professional stars, topnotch amateurs and celebrities from the entertainment and sports world team up here tomorrow for the first round of the annual $10,000 pro-amateur golf tournament sponsored by Bing Crosby.

Bing pays all the bills and gives the profits to worthy causes.

A "million dollar" cast will be chopping divots during the three day 54-hole event. More than 100 two-man teams, professional paired with amateur, will play a round each over the three scenic courses in this resort area—Cypress Point, Monterey Peninsula County Club and Pebble Beach.

After tomorrow's and Saturday's rounds, the field will be trimmed to the low 60 teams for Sunday's final 18 over Pebble Beach, a par 72 test that has been the site of many national tournaments.

Crosby hasn't made plans to play in his personal undertaking which has netted some $113,000 for local charities in the last six years.

Ben Hogan and Sam Snead, who have participated in the "Crosby clambake" before, were unable to accept invitations to this one.

Final Report May Allow Relaxation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 — The Television Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association hoisted a red flag of caution today against unrestricted TV broadcasts of football games and urged a continuation of curbs similar to those of 1952.

Stay-at-home TV fans raised loud wails last year over the NCAA policy of permitting only one college grid game to be telecast each week.

Committee Chairman Bob Hall of Yale told newsmen he believes the group's final report allows room for some relaxation of the much-criticized 1952 program.

Hall said it might permit almost unlimited television of games in some areas where it could be done without hurting other colleges.

Two Bitterly Opposed

Notre Dame and the University of Pennsylvania have taken the lead in bitterly opposing the restricted TV program. Other colleges have called for even tighter controls, possibly even a complete TV ban.

While cautioning against the dangers of unlimited television, Hall's committee specifically recommended that proper supervision could be achieved by:

1. A national TV plan which recognizes regional problems and distinctions.

2. Continuation of the rule al-

Vets Increase Shuffle Lead

Win Over GFC, 3-0; Legion, Amvets Cop

Cumberland's V.F.W. shufflers swept three games from the Goodfellowship Club last night to increase their lead to 4½ games over Military Purple Heart which was idle and plays its next match with Fisher and Robinette Monday night.

The Vets' record now is 32-10. Purple Heart is runner-up with 26-13 followed by Alhambra Club and Stadium Inn tied at 27-15.

Glen Watson led the V.F.W. with 27 points. Wilson and Ryan of GFC tied at 14 points.

Frostburg Legion blanked the Frostburg K. of C., 3-0, the Cumberland Amvets topped Stadium Inn, Frostburg, 2-1, and Hann's Tavern claimed three games via the forfeit route when Golden Nugget of Frostburg failed to put in its appearance.

Other high scorers were: Paul "Poodles" Stewart, Frostburg Legion, 27; Paul Jackson, Frostburg K. of C., 12; Pete Winters, Amvets, 18, and Shuey, Stadium Inn, 15.

In matches tonight, the Amvets visit Cumberland V.F.W. and the Hi Dee Club is at the Alhambra Club.

Indians Will Play 29 Night Games At Home

CLEVELAND, Jan. 8 (AP)—With a snub for Bill Veeck's St. Louis Browns, the Cleveland Indians announced today a 29-game home night schedule for the 1953 season.

Veeck and his Brownies won't play any night games in Cleveland for this reason:

Veeck said last month he would keep his Browns off TV screens in cities where the home club refused to cut him in on a share of the television receipts.

The Indians—and it is understood the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox may follow suit—retaliated by refusing to schedule his Browns at night when the gate sales get big.

Willie Lester Rides Triple At Tropical

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 8 (AP) — The sensational riding of Willie Lester, 20-year-old apprentice from Cass, W. Va., highlighted the racing card today before 10,355, who braved the wettest afternoon of the winter season at Tropical Park.

Lester completed his second triple of the week, scoring with Betsy Marie, $12.90 in the third; Bangaway, $10.00 in the fourth, and Blue Helmet, $8.70, in the sixth. He was unplaced with two other mounts. In all, the New York-developed rider has kicked home 12 winners during his short term of action at the Gables course.

Torrential rains all but flooded the track and the grounds, converting the course into a veritable gumbo of goo. This afforded mudlarks their first opportunity of the winter to strut their stuff. The rains began around noon and continued through the afternoon.

New Football Code Would Stop Coaches Predicting Results

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Coaches would be curbed from criticizing fellow coaches, officials and players and from making a practice of predicting results of games under a code of ethics which will be presented to the American Football Coaches Association tomorrow.

Dudley DeGroot, coach at the University of New Mexico, announced the contents of the code which his special committee drew up.

If approved by the coaches association, a coach could be suspended or expelled for a violation of any part of the code. A special five-man committee would be set up to review all cases under provisions of the recommendation.

The suggestion to avoid predictions would curb the practice of several coaches who write newspaper columns and conduct television and radio shows. Prominent among these is Frank Leahy of Notre Dame.

NCAA Favors Limit On Number Of Tilts

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — A special committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association tonight recommended a limitation on the number of football and basketball games a college can play. It also suggested a rule stating when practice sessions should start.

It was the first time that any NCAA group had called for a limit on the number of games.

The committee's suggestion:

No football team to play more than 10 regularly scheduled games in a season. Ideally, it said, the limit should be nine.

Basketball should be limited to 26 regularly scheduled games plus games in Christmas holiday tournaments.

The recommendations also would permit teams to accept football bowl games or invitations to the NCAA Basketball Tournament. The recommendations was that no fall football practice start before Sept. 1 and that basketball practice should not begin before the third full week in October.

The Cleveland Indians had the dubious distinction of striking out the most times during the 1952 American League season. The Indians whiffed 749 times.

Puppy Match Planned Here

Kennel Club Plans Event For March

The Upper Potomac Kennel Club, at its luncheon meeting Wednesday at the Cumberland Brewery, installed officers for 1953 and discussed plans for the staging of a Puppy Match early in March.

The second AKC sanctioned match is planned for April or May.

Announcement was made that the club's membership drive is under way. Single memberships are $5 and man and wife memberships are $7.50 a year.

Officers installed were: Walter E Corley, president; Mrs. Earl Smith, Lonaconing, vice president; Mrs. Donald Prichard, Frostburg, treasurer, and Mrs. Henrietta Snyder, secretary. Members of the board of governors are Dr. C. N. Foose, Jr., Harvey Ware, Earl Smith, Phil Carolan and Clifton Jeffries. Melvin Wigfield is custodian.

Meeting night will be the first Wednesday in each month. Movies will be shown at the next session set for February 4.

Gene Shue Leads Terps To Victory

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 8 (AP) — Gene Shue, Maryland's great sharpshooting forward, flipped in two quick layups in an overtime period here tonight to enable Maryland's Terps to defeat Richmond, 63-60, in a Southern Conference basketball thriller.

Shue, who tallied 32 points in all, almost single-handedly showed Maryland the way to its fifth conference victory to go with one setback. With Richmond leading 57-55, it was Shue who dropped in the goal in the last four seconds that deadlocked the score at 57—all and sent the tussle into overtime.

Freshman Guard Ed Harrison led the Spider charge which brought Richmond back into the game after its poor start. Harrison dunked in 18 points to become Richmond's high scorer, making good on six of eleven shots from the floor.

Basketball should be limited to 26 regularly scheduled games plus games in Christmas holiday tournaments.

The recommendations also would permit teams to accept football bowl games or invitations to the NCAA Basketball Tournament. The recommendations was that no fall football practice start before Sept. 1 and that basketball practice should not begin before the third full week in October.

The Cleveland Indians had the dubious distinction of striking out the most times during the 1952 American League season. The Indians whiffed 749 times.

Puppy Match Planned Here

Kennel Club Plans Event For March

The Upper Potomac Kennel Club, at its luncheon meeting Wednesday at the Cumberland Brewery, installed officers for 1953 and discussed plans for the staging of a Puppy Match early in March.

The second AKC sanctioned match is planned for April or May.

Announcement was made that the club's membership drive is under way. Single memberships are $5 and man and wife memberships are $7.50 a year.

Officers installed were: Walter E Corley, president; Mrs. Earl Smith, Lonaconing, vice president; Mrs. Donald Prichard, Frostburg, treasurer, and Mrs. Henrietta Snyder, secretary. Members of the board of governors are Dr. C. N. Foose, Jr., Harvey Ware, Earl Smith, Phil Carolan and Clifton Jeffries. Melvin Wigfield is custodian.

Meeting night will be the first Wednesday in each month. Movies will be shown at the next session set for February 4.

Gene Shue Leads Terps To Victory

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 8 (AP) — Gene Shue, Maryland's great sharpshooting forward, flipped in two quick layups in an overtime period here tonight to enable Maryland's Terps to defeat Richmond, 63-60, in a Southern Conference basketball thriller.

Shue, who tallied 32 points in all, almost single-handedly showed Maryland the way to its fifth conference victory to go with one setback. With Richmond leading 57-55, it was Shue who dropped in the goal in the last four seconds that deadlocked the score at 57—all and sent the tussle into overtime.

Freshman Guard Ed Harrison led the Spider charge which brought Richmond back into the game after its poor start. Harrison dunked in 18 points to become Richmond's high scorer, making good on six of eleven shots from the floor.

QUESTIONS

1—What football team has the "Nine Old Men" on its squad?
2—What team was last in the American league in 1951?
3—What do the initials NCAA stand for?

HOOHEE?

A VERY versatile fellow, he broke into big league ball with the Chicago Cubs in 1934, played infield and outfield positions for that club and the Dodgers, Reds and Giants with equal facility. Can you name him?

ANSWERS

(Hoohee: Augie Galan.)
1—The Cleveland Browns. The nine have played with the Browns since that club was organized.
2—The St. Louis Browns.
3—National Collegiate Athletic association.

One person forgot to cash a $50 ticket that was worth $1,300 on the closing day of the meeting at Garden State in Camden.

Maryland law provides that uncashed mutuel tickets may be redeemed up to three years after the date the race was run.

All unclaimed monies, which are banked here, are turned over to the state after the three-year period.

Incidentally, a total of $2,541.90 in uncashed mutuel tickets is now in a local bank from the 10-day meeting at Fairgo in June 1952.

Rio Grande College of Ohio which appears on the tailend of Frostburg State Teachers' College basketball schedule this season is still undefeated, having won 16 games and piling up 1,558 points against 743 for the opposition.

The Pennsylvania Angler reports that the lobster will live fifty years, if it escapes the fisherman, and the American Eagle will live to be 55.

Whales, largest of the mammals, will live to be 30 or more, while the horse, if put out to pasture, will reach 50 years.

The wise old owl reaches 68, the alligator 56, the pelican 51, and the elephant tops 69.

Dogs will live to be 22 or more; cats 23, toads from 20 to 36 while the bullfrog has to struggle along for about 16 years.

Man, perhaps because he has learned to live better and protect himself, has the longest life of all creatures. Modern science and medical research have increased the span of life 20 years in the past half century.

Three Marylanders Join 100 MPH Club, To Receive Awards

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Eighteen motorboat speed demons, including a woman, have joined the 100 mile an hour club. Each qualified for the exclusive group by driving a motor boat at 100 miles an hour or faster during 1952.

Certificates will be presented to the new members at the Gulf Marine Racing Hall of Fame awards breakfast here Saturday.

The 18 include Mildred Foulke of Essex, Md., who drove the 266 cubic inch hydroplane "Agana XIII" at 111.28 m.p.h. at Miami, Fla., Dec. 29; Edward Aleksandrowicz, Baltimore; William Martens, Hampton, Va., and Franklin Foulke, Essex, Md.

Del Flanagan Advised To Quit For Six Weeks

CLEVELAND, Jan. 8 (AP)—X-rays showed no fracture in the right arm of Welterweight Del Flanagan today, but a doctor advised the St. Paul boxer not to try fighting again for six weeks.

The injury caused Flanagan to lose to Lester Felton of Detroit here last night on a technical knockout after three rounds. It was described by Dr. C. L. Lambright as either a torn muscle or ligament just above the right elbow.

Flanagan wept bitterly for a long time after the fight was stopped. It was a lost opportunity for the 25-year-old scrapper to demonstrate to a national television audience his right to get a shot at the welterweight crown now worn by Kid Gavilan. The St. Paul Irishman, who's been battling for six years, has said he would quit the ring unless 1953 brought him a crack at the title.

Bowie Race Track Sued For $200,000

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8 (AP)—Two real estate men, Herbert Kaufman of Baltimore and Guy Stein of Miami Beach, Fla., today sued Bowie Race Track for $100,000 apiece, charging they were falsely arrested on trespassing charges while attending the races Dec. 4.

Their suit was filed in a circuit court here and named the Thoroughbred Racing and Protective Bureau, Inc., a policing unit set up cooperatively by most of the nation's race tracks, as a co-defendant.

Kaufman and Stein alleged they were arrested at Bowie, removed from the track, transferred to the county seat at Upper Marlboro, confined, questioned and docketed on trespassing charges. They were dismissed without a trial the next day.

During the 1952 season, Bob Lemon of the Cleveland Indians had the top complete game total in the league, 28, worked the most innings, 310, and faced the most batsmen, 1,132.

West Virginia Gets 249 Days For Race Meets

Wheeling Granted 108 And Charles Town 76

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 8 (AP)—The State Racing Commission set dates today for 249 days of racing at West Virginia's three tracks in 1953.

The biggest share went to Wheeling Downs where 108 days were authorized.

Waterford Park at Chester, the state's only one-mile track, was alloted 65 days. Charles Town, a half mile oval like Wheeling, was given 76 days.

The schedule:

Charles Town — Feb. 28-March 28, June 26-July 2, July 3-Aug. 8 and Dec. 5-19, all dates inclusive.

Wheeling Downs—May 1-30, July 18-Sept. 26 and Nov. 4-28.

Waterford Park—June 1-16 and Oct. 3-31.

The commission announced a total parimutuel handle of $52,652,756 in 206 days of racing at the tracks in 1952. Revenue to the state in the year totaled $1,684,840.

Almost half of the non-farm homes occupied by owners in the United States carry mortgages.

Three Marylanders Join 100 MPH Club, To Receive Awards

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Eighteen motorboat speed demons, including a woman, have joined the 100 mile an hour club. Each qualified for the exclusive group by driving a motor boat at 100 miles an hour or faster during 1952.

Certificates will be presented to the new members at the Gulf Marine Racing Hall of Fame awards breakfast here Saturday. The 18 include Mildred Foulke of Essex, Md., who drove the 266 cubic inch hydroplane "Agana XIII" at 111.28 m.p.h. at Miami, Fla., Dec. 29; Edward Aleksandrowicz, Baltimore; William Martens, Hampton, Va., and Franklin Foulke, Essex, Md.

Del Flanagan Advised To Quit For Six Weeks

CLEVELAND, Jan. 8 (AP)—X-rays showed no fracture in the right arm of Welterweight Del Flanagan today, but a doctor advised the St. Paul boxer not to try fighting again for six weeks.

The injury caused Flanagan to lose to Lester Felton of Detroit here last night on a technical knockout after three rounds. It was described by Dr. C. L. Lambright as either a torn muscle or ligament just above the right elbow.

Flanagan wept bitterly for a long time after the fight was stopped. It was a lost opportunity for the 25-year-old scrapper to demonstrate to a national television audience his right to get a shot at the welterweight crown now worn by Kid Gavilan. The St. Paul Irishman, who's been battling for six years, has said he would quit the ring unless 1953 brought him a crack at the title.

THEY HAVE GOOD CHANCE TO JOIN BASEBALL HALL OF FAME THIS YEAR

Bill Terry

Dizzy Dean

Al Simmons

Joe DiMaggio

Rabbit Maranville

Bill Dickey

BASEBALL WRITERS Association of America is balloting on Hall of Fame members and the six former stars pictured above are believed to have the best chance to crash the select circle. DiMaggio becomes eligible for election this year and the others received a flock of votes, but not enough, in the 1952 balloting. To be elected a candidate must receive 75 per cent of the votes cast.

Bowie Race Track Sued For $200,000

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8 (AP)—Two real estate men, Herbert Kaufman of Baltimore and Guy Stein of Miami Beach, Fla., today sued Bowie Race Track for $100,000 apiece, charging they were falsely arrested on trespassing charges while attending the races Dec. 4.

Their suit was filed in a circuit court here and named the Thoroughbred Racing and Protective Bureau, Inc., a policing unit set up cooperatively by most of the nation's race tracks, as a co-defendant.

Kaufman and Stein alleged they were arrested at Bowie, removed from the track, transferred to the county seat at Upper Marlboro, confined, questioned and docketed on trespassing charges. They were dismissed without a trial the next day.

During the 1952 season, Bob Lemon of the Cleveland Indians had the top complete game total in the league, 28, worked the most innings, 310, and faced the most batsmen, 1,132.

West Virginia Gets 249 Days For Race Meets

Wheeling Granted 108 And Charles Town 76

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 8 (AP)—The State Racing Commission set dates today for 249 days of racing at West Virginia's three tracks in 1953.

The biggest share went to Wheeling Downs where 108 days were authorized.

Waterford Park at Chester, the state's only one-mile track, was alloted 65 days. Charles Town, a half mile oval like Wheeling, was given 76 days.

The schedule:

Charles Town — Feb. 28-March 28, June 26-July 2, July 3-Aug. 8 and Dec. 5-19, all dates inclusive.

Wheeling Downs—May 1-30, July 18-Sept. 26 and Nov. 4-28.

Waterford Park—June 1-16 and Oct. 3-31.

The commission announced a total parimutuel handle of $52,652,756 in 206 days of racing at the tracks in 1952. Revenue to the state in the year totaled $1,684,840.

January 15 Deadline For Filing 1952 Tax Estimate

Federal income taxpayers in this area are reminded by Richard J. Stakem, division chief of the local Internal Revenue Bureau office, that January 15 is the deadline for filing amended declarations of estimated income tax for 1952.

An amendment to the previously filed estimate may be made by filing on or before January 15, the revised estimate on Form 1040 ES or a completed return on form 1040, he explained.

Law Explained

Stakem also added that if a taxpayer didn't incur liability for filing a declaration of estimated tax for 1952 until after September 1, 1952, that he could comply with the law by filing Form 1040-ES or a complete return on Form 1040 on or before the deadline date.

Taxpayers deriving at least two-thirds of their income from farming may file a declaration of estimated tax for 1952 on or before January 15 and file their completed return on Form 1040 along with Farm Schedule Form 1040-F on or before March 15.

Stakem urged all individual taxpayers who earned $600 or more to file their returns as early as possible before March 15, the deadline for such filings.

Maryland income tax return forms are being received by local taxpayers. However, they are considerably less bulky than the federal material. The average taxpayer's envelope contains only two copies of form 502, a return envelope, and a slip of paper bearing his name.

April 15 For State

The state returns needn't be filed until April 15. Later this winter assistance will be available for taxpayers at the comptroller's office, 9 Market Street.

The state tax blanks are similar in appearance to those of last year. Each blank may be used as either a short or a full form. Persons using the short form need to fill in only a dozen or fewer figures, and pay a tax which is calculated by the state with an average allowance for deductions.

Persons using the long form must list all the exemptions they claim, then calculate the exact total of their tax bill at rates of two per cent and five per cent.

Nine Students Are Initiated Into Fort Hill Honor Group

The Fort Hill High School Chapter of the National Honor Society held the semi-annual initiation of members from the senior class yesterday in the school auditorium.

Ceremonies were conducted by the nine senior members elected to membership in their junior year. These are Mary Hafer, president; Elizabeth Purinton, vice president; Shirley Brinkman, secretary; Gerald Arthur, treasurer; and Carol Kniseley, Marlene Popp, James Squires, Mary Porter, and Wanda Adams. Victor D. Heisey, principal, gave a congratulatory message.

Inductees included Ann Adams, Eugene Alderton, Barbara Beighfol, Thomas Buser, Barbara Ann Campbell, Robert DeVore, Louise Ewald, Dolores Fahey, James Farnes, Wendyl Furlow, Barbara Garlitz, Beverly Heckert, Shirley Knippenberg, John McVicker, Don Mencer, Donna Rowan, Thomas Rowan, Joan Schaidt, Dorothy Stafford, Janet Taschenberger, Myrtle Twigg, Ermina Warnick, Ann Webster, and Mary J. Wilson.

Membership in the National Honor Society is based on scholarship, leadership, service, and character and is awarded to 15 per cent of the senior class by vote of the faculty.

Poster Contest Gets Underway

The Governor's Committee to Promote Employment of the Physically Handicapped has announced its third annual poster contest, which opened January 1. Entries will be received at 6 North Liberty Street, Baltimore-1, until noon, Friday, February 20.

The theme, according to the Co-Chairmen D. L. B. Fringer and R. C. Thompson, is "Hire the Handicapped—It's Good Business."

As in the past, the contest is open to students in eleventh and twelfth grades and undergraduates of any college, university or art school in Maryland.

Judges for the 1953 contest include Q. Richard Yardley, nationally known cartoonist; Edward S. King, director of the Walters Art Gallery, and Miss Kate Coplan of the Enoch Pratt Free Library.

Posters must be hand drawn, illustrated or lettered to carry out the theme of the contest, unmounted; size 15" x 20", and suitable for reproduction by two-color silk screen process. They must carry on the reverse side the artist's full name and address, year in school, name of instructor, and name and location of school.

In judging the contest, up to 50 points will be given for the appeal of the entry and the force with which it carries out the contest theme. Up to 25 points will be given for originality, 15 for artistic arrangement, and ten for neatness.

Prizes for the four best posters will total $250, with a $100 Savings Bond going to the first place winner and $75, $50 and $25 Bonds to the sbusequent places respectively.

More than 100 students competed in last year's contest, which was won by Phillip W. Horak of Mergenthaler High School.

Former County Man May Survive Gunshot Wound

A former Allegany County resident is a patient in a Rochester, Pa., hospital where he was admitted last Saturday night with a bullet wound in the head.

He is John W. McKenzie, 29, whose wife, Betty J. McKenzie, lives at Borden Shaft. The injured man was employed by the Koppers Company chemical plant at Monaca, Pa., near Rochester, as a plant guard.

Pennsylvania State Police said McKenzie went to the plant last Saturday and using a revolver, shot himself under the chin. The bullet traversed through his chin, into the roof of his mouth and thence to a point near the left eye and forehead. His condition was critical for several days but he is given a reasonable chance to recover, according to police.

Police said the McKenzie couple had been having marital trouble and gave this as the reason McKenzie shot himself. Records at the Court House here show McKenzie's wife filed suit for divorce last November 7.

McKenzie, a veteran of three years service with the Marine Corps during World War II, is a former Celanese Corporation plant worker. His wife and mother went to Rochester when advised of his condition. He will be questioned by State Police this week end.

Heart Victim May Be Former Resident

A man identified as William Francis Ryland, about 45, formerly of Cumberland, was found dead Wednesday in a rooming house in New York City. Death was attributed to a heart condition.

The body is at the Bellevue morgue awaiting identification of relatives. Papers found on the body indicated the man was a brother of Mrs. Angela Senkbeil, this city. She was notified and left for New York.

Ryland, familiarly known as "Red," left Cumberland about 10 years ago. He was employed as a clerk at The Hub, North Centre Street, for several years and resided at 210 Bedford Street.

Harry Price Retires

Harry Price, vice president of the Celanese Corporation, has retired after 26 years of service with the company. Price had served as yarn sales manager from 1939 until 1945, when he was named a vice president.

Christian Science is the religion founded by Mary Baker Eddy in 1866.

January 15 Deadline For Filing 1952 Tax Estimate

Federal income taxpayers in this area are reminded by Richard J. Stakem, division chief of the local Internal Revenue Bureau office, that January 15 is the deadline for filing amended declarations of estimated income tax for 1952.

An amendment to the previously filed estimate may be made by filing on or before January 15, the revised estimate on Form 1040 ES or a completed return on form 1040, he explained.

Law Explained

Stakem also added that if a taxpayer didn't incur liability for filing a declaration of estimated tax for 1952 until after September 1, 1952, that he could comply with the law by filing Form 1040-ES or a complete return on Form 1040 on or before the deadline date.

Taxpayers deriving at least two-thirds of their income from farming may file a declaration of estimated tax for 1952 on or before January 15 and file their completed return on Form 1040 along with Farm Schedule Form 1040-F on or before March 15.

Stakem urged all individual taxpayers who earned $600 or more to file their returns as early as possible before March 15, the deadline for such filings.

Maryland income tax return forms are being received by local taxpayers. However, they are considerably less bulky than the federal material. The average taxpayer's envelope contains only two copies of form 502, a return envelope, and a slip of paper bearing his name.

April 15 For State

The state returns needn't be filed until April 15. Later this winter assistance will be available for taxpayers at the comptroller's office, 9 Market Street.

The state tax blanks are similar in appearance to those of last year. Each blank may be used as either a short or a full form. Persons using the short form need to fill in only a dozen or fewer figures, and pay a tax which is calculated by the state with an average allowance for deductions.

Persons using the long form must list all the exemptions they claim, then calculate the exact total of their tax bill at rates of two per cent and five per cent.

Nine Students Are Initiated Into Fort Hill Honor Group

The Fort Hill High School Chapter of the National Honor Society held the semi-annual initiation of members from the senior class yesterday in the school auditorium.

Ceremonies were conducted by the nine senior members elected to membership in their junior year. These are Mary Hafer, president; Elizabeth Purinton, vice president; Shirley Brinkman, secretary; Gerald Arthur, treasurer; and Carol Kniseley, Marlene Popp, James Squires, Mary Porter, and Wanda Adams. Victor D. Heisey, principal, gave a congratulatory message.

Inductees included Ann Adams, Eugene Alderton, Barbara Beighol, Thomas Buser, Barbara Ann Campbell, Robert DeVore, Louise Ewald, Dolores Fahey, James Farries, Wendyl Furlow, Barbara Garlitz, Beverly Heckert, Shirley Knippenberg, John McVicker, Don Mencer, Donna Rowan, Thomas Rowan, Joan Schaidt, Dorothy Stafford, Janet Taschenberger, Myrtle Twigg, Ermina Warnick, Ann Webster, and Mary J. Wilson.

Membership in the National Honor Society is based on scholarship, leadership, service, and character and is awarded to 15 per cent of the senior class by vote of the faculty.

Poster Contest Gets Underway

The Governor's Committee to Promote Employment of the Physically Handicapped has announced its third annual poster contest, which opened January 1. Entries will be received at 6 North Liberty Street, Baltimore-1, until noon, Friday, February 20.

The theme, according to the Co-Chairmen D. L. B. Fringer and R. C. Thompson, is "Hire the Handicapped—It's Good Business."

As in the past, the contest is open to students in eleventh and twelfth grades and undergraduates of any college, university or art school in Maryland.

Judges for the 1953 contest include Q. Richard Yardley, nationally known cartoonist; Edward S. King, director of the Walters Art Gallery, and Miss Kate Coplan of the Enoch Pratt Free Library.

Posters must be hand drawn, illustrated or lettered to carry out the theme of the contest, unmounted, size 15" x 20", and suitable for reproduction by two-color silk screen process. They must carry on the reverse side the artist's full name and address, year in school, name of instructor, and name and location of school.

In judging the contest, up to 50 points will be given for the appeal of the entry and the force with which it carries out the contest theme. Up to 25 points will be given for originality, 15 for artistic arrangement, and ten for neatness.

Prizes for the four best posters will total $250, with a $100 Savings Bond going to the first place winner and $75, $50 and $25 Bonds to the sbusequent places respectively.

More than 100 students competed in last year's contest, which was won by Phillip W. Horak of Mergenthaler High School.

Harry Price Retires

Harry Price, vice president of the Celanese Corporation, has retired after 26 years of service with the company. Price had served as yarn sales manager from 1939 until 1945, when he was named a vice president.

Former County Man May Survive Gunshot Wound

A former Allegany County resident is a patient in a Rochester, Pa., hospital where he was admitted last Saturday night with a bullet wound in the head.

He is John W. McKenzie, 29, whose wife, Betty J. McKenzie, lives at Borden Shaft. The injured man was employed by the Koppers Company chemical plant at Monaca, Pa., near Rochester, as a plant guard.

Pennsylvania State Police said McKenzie went to the plant last Saturday and using a revolver, shot himself under the chin. The bullet traversed through his chin, into the roof of his mouth and thence to a point near the left eye and forehead. His condition was critical for several days but he is given a reasonable chance to recover, according to police.

Police said the McKenzie couple had been having marital trouble and gave this as the reason McKenzie shot himself. Records at the Court House here show McKenzie's wife filed suit for divorce last November 7.

McKenzie, a veteran of three years service with the Marine Corps during World War II, is a former Celanese Corporation plant worker. His wife and mother went to Rochester when advised of his condition. He will be questioned by State Police this week end.

Heart Victim May Be Former Resident

A man identified as William Francis Ryland, about 45, formerly of Cumberland, was found dead Wednesday in a rooming house in New York City. Death was attributed to a heart condition.

The body is at the Bellevue morgue awaiting identification of relatives. Papers found on the body indicated the man was a brother of Mrs. Angela Senkbeil, this city. She was notified and left for New York.

Ryland, familiarly known as "Red," left Cumberland about 10 years ago. He was employed as a clerk at The Hub, North Centre Street, for several years and resided at 210 Bedford Street.

Canada Building Atomic Reactor Dwarfing Old One

CHALK RIVER, Ont. — (AP) — The world's most powerful atomic reactor, ruptured inside and leaking dangerous waters, will be out of action for months but Canadian scientists are working on a new and bigger machine.

Top officials say the Dec. 12 breakdown of the atom-splitting heart of Canada's atomic project has injected a new sense of urgency into the job Chalk River presently is doing—building a new, 30-million dollar reactor whose capabilities will dwarf those of the ailing one.

Date for completion of the new reactor is some time next year. Right now it consists of holes blasted in a rock foundation and a skeleton framework of lumber.

Scientists say the reactor will lengthen Canada's lead in the field of reactors or nuclear furnaces, the complex mechanisms which split atoms and release energy. At the same time they are beginning to put on paper their ideas for the power plants that will eventually bring atomic energy to the practical use level. The first plant may exist in Canada within five years.

Twenty reporters, making a tour of Chalk River, were told by Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, Canada's atomic chief, that the breakdown of the existing reactor—called the NRX—is largely the biggest blow Chalk River has yet suffered.

He disclosed that seven times in the last five years NRX has been knocked out for from three to eight weeks. He said scientists now intend to give it a major overhaul and will be able to see what five years have done to NRX; they will learn more about how to keep reactors in good shape. NRX would still have a useful role when NRU—the spectacular successor—goes into action.

Dr. Mackenzie said NRX could be out of action a year without seriously affecting the research work at Chalk River because there are stockpiles of its products—radioactive isotopes, plutonium and other things. It is mainly a research tool, not a production instrument.

Canada Building Atomic Reactor Dwarfing Old One

CHALK RIVER, Ont. — (AP) — The world's most powerful atomic reactor, ruptured inside and leaking dangerous waters, will be out of action for months but Canadian scientists are working on a new and bigger machine.

Top officials say the Dec. 12 breakdown of the atom-splitting heart of Canada's atomic project has injected a new sense of urgency into the job Chalk River presently is doing—building a new, 30-million dollar reactor whose capabilities will dwarf those of the ailing one.

Date for completion of the new reactor is some time next year. Right now it consists of holes blasted in a rock foundation and a skeleton framework of lumber.

Scientists say the reactor will lengthen Canada's lead in the field of reactors or nuclear furnaces, the complex mechanisms which split atoms and release energy. At the same time they are beginning to put on paper their ideas for the power plants that will eventually bring atomic energy to the practical use level. The first plant may exist in Canada within five years.

Twenty reporters, making a tour of Chalk River, were told by Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, Canada's atomic chief, that the breakdown of the existing reactor—called the NRX—is largely the biggest blow Chalk River has yet suffered.

He disclosed that seven times in the last five years NRX has been knocked out for from three to eight weeks. He said scientists now intend to give it a major overhaul and will be able to see what five years have done to NRX; they will learn more about how to keep reactors in good shape. NRX would still have a useful role when NRU—the spectacular successor—goes into action.

Dr. Mackenzie said NRX could be out of action a year without seriously affecting the research work at Chalk River because there are stockpiles of its products—radioactive isotopes, plutonium and other things. It is mainly a research tool, not a production instrument.

McNinch Couple Awarded 1952 Plaque

JACKSON'S MILL, W. Va.—The West Virginia Dairymen's Association plaque for 1952 has been won by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McNinch of Marshall County.

Presentation was made here yesterday by G. Heebink, extension dairyman, West Virginia University, during the annual meeting of the association, held in conjunction with the 12th annual WVU Dairy Short Course now in progress. Heebink is secretary of the association.

The award has been made yearly since 1925 to promote a continuous testing program and to honor those dairymen who have developed herds that produce at high levels consistently from year to year, Heebink pointed out. "Mr. and Mrs. McNinch have demonstrated unusual ability in operating a dairy farm and in developing a superior herd of Ayrshire cattle," he said.

Here is the story of their achievements:

After they were married, the McNinches lived in Moundsville for 13 years. In 1938, they took the opportunity to return to the rural community where they grew up, when they rented the farm owned by Arthur's father. In 1941, they purchased a nearby farm to which they moved in 1943.

This 100-acre farm could scarcely produce enough feed for 11 head of cattle when Mr. and Mrs. McNinch bought it. They realized that their first challenge was to increase the productivity of the land. Fifty acres of copeland were laid out in 13 contour strips with the assistance of the Soil Conservation Service. Applications of lime and fertilizer were made as required. A system of crop rotation suited to the hilly nature of the farm was adopted, in which corn is followed by wheat which in turn is followed by hay for five years. The meadow mixture consists of alfalfa, timothy, and alsike and red clover.

Forty acres of permanent pasture also have been treated with lime and fertilizer. Each year, a few acres of Sudan grass are grown to provide additional grazing during the summer months.

Today, the farm produces more than enough pasture, hay, and silage for a herd of 30 head of dairy cattle and two horses. Corn silage yields 20 tons per acre.

When McNinch lived in Moundsville, he kept a few family cows. Because one of them which he liked very much was an Ayrshire, he chose that breed when he started to develop his farm herd. During 1939 and 1940, he purchased nine registered heifer calves from breeders in West Virginia, Ohio, and Conecticut. Most of his sires were obtained from the famous Reymann Memorial Herd at West Virginia University. Now McNinch is a member of the West Virginia Artificial Breeders Cooperative and the entire herd is bred artificially. The herd is entirely registered and was classified for type in 1947. All surplus breeding stock finds a ready market in his own and adjacent counties.

This herd has been on Dairy Herd Improvement Association test for 11 years. Average fat production has never been below 622 pounds a year and has gone as high as 429 pounds. During eight of those years, the herd average exceeded 350 pounds.

Daily Bridge Lesson

EARS AS GOOD AS EYES

WITH a keen pair of ears, a kibitzer, not having looked at anybody's hand, may be able to tell you exactly how many cards each member of a sound partnership holds in each of the four suits. By listening to the bids and rebids, he can infer the lengths of the various holdings. Then it is fun to take a look and see how close he came. You ought to try that yourself the next time you are a kibitzer awaiting your turn to cut into a game.

As the veteran kibitzer listened to that bidding, he constructed the East and West hands in his own imagination. It turned out that he was exactly right this time, so far as suit-lengths are concerned.

First he read West as having five spades and only four diamonds, since he rebid the higher suit instead of the lower, after having shown both. Then he reckoned East had six hearts and only four diamonds. Next he deduced West as having only two hearts for his belated support of that suit, as with three he would have supported it on his first turn after hearing East's rebid.

He was sure East likewise read West as having only two hearts, since with three there would have been earlier support of the major. East therefore would not have left the bid in hearts if he himself held only five, consequently East had six. With that many hearts, the kibitzer surmised, East would not have supported the diamonds on his third turn unless he had four of them.

With West marked for five spades, four diamonds and two hearts, he therefore had two clubs. East having six hearts and four diamonds, surely did not have three of West's rebid spades, so held only one, two or none of them. East's three cards in the black suits not being identified, the kibitzer had to guess and, since the bidding had been strong by East surmised two in spades and only one in clubs. He happened to be right.

East of course made the 4-Hearts, losing only to three aces.

After the new high school is open in September, Central school will be used for the elementary schools of Jackson, Rockville, Detmold and Central districts, and a new PTA will be formed.

Lonaconing Rotarians Asked To Give Blood On February 2

LONACONING — James Linder, Cumberland, was guest speaker at the Lonaconing Rotary Club meeting Wednesday.

Linder discussed bee keeping and had bee hives, combs and honey to demonstrate.

Frederick H. Sheeley was program chairman. It was announced the mobile blood bank unit will visit to Lonaconing Monday, February 2. Members of the club were asked to be donors.

Other guests were Major Elmer Wall and James Conlin, Cumberland; Ben Manlen, Piedmont; and Charles Hill, Frostburg.

Major Wall reported that the Christmas cheer kettles manned by the Rotary Club netted over $123, and with the Lonaconing Lions Club, collections totalling over $167. A grand total of $291.52 was collected in Lonaconing's kettle drive December 20.

Lonaconing received $362 in aid from the Salvation Army, Major Wall reported. Fifty-seven families were aided with food, garments, or children's toys for the holidays. Shoes will be provided children at Lonaconing High School.

A Valentine party is planned for a Ladies Night program in February. The Rotary Anns will be in charge of the Valentine program.

Aden Miller will be program chairman for next week's meeting.

Council Given Police Report

FROSTBURG—At a meeting of the Mayor and City Council Monday night the Council granted William Kroll and John Lapp, both of Washington Street, permission to operate a used car businesss on their property. They were warned, however, not to burn or in any way demolish cars, as to create a nuisance in the neighborhood.

Police Commissioner Perry Myers submitted his monthly report of the activities of the Police Department.

The report follows:

Seventeen arrests—careless driving, five; traffic light, two; assault and battery, one; drunk and disorderly, three; destruction of property, one; double parking, one, and disorderly conduct, three.

One mental case, 426 cars tagged; six auto accidents investigated; 12 funerals, two weddings and three fires policed; two stolen cars recovered; 63 calls and complaints answered; two breaking and entering cases investigated; nine investigations for U. S. Military Service; two boys sentenced to Juvenile Court for unauthorized use of cars; $263.50 collected in fines and $562.91 collected from parking meters.

Sportsman's Association Meets At Grantsville

GRANTSVILLE — The Casselman Valley Sportsmans Association held its regular meeting recently in the Legion Hall, here. Edgar Bender presided and the regular business was transacted.

The association has received a special permit from the Game and Inland Fish Commission for a dog training area, which is to be used by members of the association. A shooting match will be held in the legion basement on January 29 at 7:30 p. m. The next regular meeting will be January 16th.

Barton Firemen Hold Installation Of Officers

Henry Howell was installed as president for his 31st term. He served as president when officers were elected each six-months. The by-laws were changed several years ago to one-year term.

Wilbur B. Johnson was installed as vice-president; David E. Kirk, recording secretary; Joseph Shuhart Sr., treasurer for 26th year; Jack Saville, financial treasurer; Calvin G. Lamberson, chief; Ernest Poland, assistant chief; James Ashby, captain of reels; James Chappell, captain of drills; Jesse L. Kimble, manager of the armory; Forrest Mowbray, manager of the fire house; and John Howell, chairman, Lucian Davis, William Kyle, Paul Davis, and Howard Wilkes, Board of Trustees.

Chief Calvin G. Lamberson submitted his annual report to the company. It stated that the company had answered seven alarms, five with in their district of Nikep and Mill Run, and two in other communities.

Chief Lamberson credits the fine record to the citizens of the community for their cooperation given during the drought season which was felt throughout Allegany County this year.

Westernport Charter To Be Presented To Assembly Soon

WESTERNPORT — The Mayor and City Council met Wednesday night and passed a resolution to have Town Attorney Horace P. Whitworth revise the new proposed charter, eliminating the towns of Franklin and Brophytown.

The Mayor and Council recently voted not to annex the two towns with Westernport, following a public meeting at which representatives of Franklin and Brophytown voted against being incorporated.

The revised charter will be submitted to the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly for enactment during the 1953 session of the Assembly.

The Mayor and Council also ordered a donation of $5 to the Franklin Mission for the use of the church for a recent public meeting.

The Council ordered that a "stop sign" be erected on Green Street, due to the number of children sled riding.

Raymond L. Wilt, police commissioner, gave the following report for December; $144.73 received from parking meters, $42.75 collected in fines by Trial Magistrate Carl W. Shaffer, $3 paid in fines to the city clerk. Police Department expenses totaled $789.15.

The Mayor and Commissioners stated they had received compliments that street employes were doing a good job in the removal of snow and putting ashes on the streets during recent snows.

Effective at once, when town employes are called out after working hours to cinder streets, plow and remove snow or ice from streets, or repair broken water lines, they shall be paid time and half for hours worked.

Street and Water Superintendent Burt Reed will be paid for hours worked equivalent to his hourly rate from December 1 to March 31.

W. Va. Dairymen Cite Marshall Countians

McNinch Couple Awarded 1952 Plaque

JACKSON'S MILL, W. Va.—The West Virginia Dairymen's Association plaque for 1952 has been won by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McNinch of Marshall County.

Presentation was made here yesterday by G. Heebink, extension dairyman, West Virginia University, during the annual meeting of the association, held in conjunction with the 12th annual WVU Dairy Short Course now in progress. Heebink is secretary of the association.

The award has been made yearly since 1925 to promote a continuous testing program and to honor those dairymen who have developed herds that produce at high levels consistently from year to year, Heebink pointed out. "Mr. and Mrs. McNinch have demonstrated unusual ability in operating a dairy farm and in developing a superior herd of Ayrshire cattle," he said.

Here is the story of their achievements:

After they were married, the McNinches lived in Moundsville for 13 years. In 1938, they took the opportunity to return to the rural community where they grew up, when they rented the farm owned by Arthur's father. In 1941, they purchased a nearby farm to which they moved in 1943.

This 100-acre farm could scarcely produce enough feed for 11 head of cattle when Mr. and Mrs. McNinch bought it. They realized that their first challenge was to increase the productivity of the land. Fifty acres of copeland were laid out in 13 contour strips with the assistance of the Soil Conservation Service. Applications of lime and fertilizer were made as required. A system of crop rotation suited to the hilly nature of the farm was adopted, in which corn is followed by wheat which in turn is followed by hay for five years. The meadow mixture consists of alfalfa, timothy, and alsike and red clover.

Forty acres of permanent pasture also have been treated with lime and fertilizer. Each year, a few acres of Sudan grass are grown to provide additional grazing during the summer months.

Today, the farm produces more than enough pasture, hay, and silage for a herd of 30 head of dairy cattle and two horses. Corn silage yields 20 tons per acre.

When McNinch lived in Moundsville, he kept a few family cows. Because one of them which he liked very much was an Ayrshire, he chose that breed when he started to develop his farm herd. During 1939 and 1940, he purchased nine registered heifer calves from breeders in West Virginia, Ohio, and Conecticut. Most of his sires were obtained from the famous Reymann Memorial Herd at West Virginia University. Now McNinch is a member of the West Virginia Artificial Breeders Cooperative and the entire herd is bred artificially. The herd is entirely registered and was classified for type in 1947. All surplus breeding stock finds a ready market in his own and adjacent counties.

This herd has been on Dairy Herd Improvement Association test for 11 years. Average fat production has never been below 622 pounds a year and has gone as high as 429 pounds. During eight of those years, the herd average exceeded 350 pounds.

EARS AS GOOD AS EYES

WITH a keen pair of ears, a kibitzer, not having looked at anybody's hand, may be able to tell you exactly how many cards each member of a sound partnership holds in each of the four suits. By listening to the bids and rebids, he can infer the lengths of the various holdings. Then it is fun to take a look and see how close he came. You ought to try that yourself the next time you are a kibitzer awaiting your turn to cut into a game.

3 ♦	Pass	3 ♥	Pass

As the veteran kibitzer listened to that bidding, he constructed the East and West hands in his own imagination. It turned out that he was exactly right this time, so far as suit-lengths are concerned.

First he read West as having five spades and only four diamonds, since he rebid the higher suit instead of the lower, after having shown both. Then he reckoned East had six hearts and only four diamonds. Next he deduced West as having only two hearts for his belated support of that suit, as with three he would have supported it on his first turn after hearing East's rebid.

He was sure East likewise read West as having only two hearts, since with three there would have been earlier support of the major. East therefore would not have left the bid in hearts if he himself held only five, consequently East had six. With that many hearts, the kibitzer surmised, East would not have supported the diamonds on his third turn unless he had four of them.

With West marked for five spades, four diamonds and two hearts, he therefore had two clubs. East having six hearts and four diamonds, surely did not have three of West's rebid spades, so held only one, two or none of them. East's three cards in the black suits not being identified, the kibitzer had to guess and, since the bidding had been strong by East surmised two in spades and only one in clubs. He happened to be right.

East of course made the 4-Hearts, losing only to three aces.

Moorefield Club Hears Address By Clergyman

Rev. Sutton Talks About Great Men

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Rev. Paul Sutton, pastor of the Duffey Memorial Methodist Church, spoke at the meeting of the Moorefield Woman's Club Monday evening, using the topic, "Men and Women Who Have Made America Great."

Rev. Sutton emphasized the fact that the thing that has made America a great nation is the fact that America has been essentially a good nation and the people who have contributed to that greatness have been good people. He mentioned briefly many outstanding leaders in the nation's history from the time of Roger Williams and Ann Hutchinson, who contributed to our attitude of tolerance and religious freedom, through such men as William Penn, George Fox, James Oglethorpe, Benjamin Franklin; presidents like George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson, Abraham Lincoln and Woodrow Wilson; men like John Marshall, the jurist, Andrew Carnegie and Henry Ford, industrialists, and others.

During the business meeting, Mrs. M. W. Gamble, Jr., reported on the progress of the Youth Conservation's plan to form a Girl Scout troop. A troop committee, composed of Rev. Milton Austin, Mrs. J. W. Kuykendall and Mrs. R. E. Fisher were to meet the next evening.

Plans for a money raising project were discussed and it was decided to hold a card party in the middle of March.

The February meeting is in the hands of the Department of American Homes and it was decided that each member would bring to that meeting some object of her own creation — a picture she had painted, a bed-spread or some piece of hand work, a poem she had written or a special recipe she had worked out. Some object of her own work, either as a hobby or a vocation. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. S. Kuykendall.

Mrs. W. J. Teets, who has been appointed chairman for the woman's work for the March of Dimes, presented the request to the Woman's Club that again this year a Produce and Food Sale be held. Last year the Woman's Club raised more that $250 by its sale and they agreed to undertake such a project again this year. The sale will be held January 24. A committee, composed of Mrs. W. J. Teets, Mrs. John Harman, Mrs. Ashby Scea, Mrs. WynDell Everett, Mrs. R. E. Fisher, Mrs. M. W. Gamble, Jr., Mrs. M. H. Maxwell, Mrs. C. R. Powers, Mrs. Paul Sutton and Mrs. Richard Troy will be in charge of arrangements.

The meeting Monday night was held in the new Hardy County Library building for which the Woman's Club is helping to furnish the kitchen. The hostesses for the evening were Mrs. W. J. Teets, Mrs. Ashby Scea, Mrs. S. L. Dodd, Mrs. John Harman and Miss Elizabeth Wilson.

Fruit Growers Seek Lowering Of Weight Law

W. Va. Legislators Promise Support

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 8 (AP)—Fruit growers in this Eastern Panhandle hope to get a new State law lowering the minimum weight requirements for bushels of apples and peaches and quarters of strawberries.

Four legislators—State Senators Ralph Bean and Clarence E. Martin Jr. and Delegates Stewart Wright and W. P. C. Perry yesterday promised to back legislation making it possible.

The plan was presented to them by a committee from the West Virginia Horticulture Society and representatives of the extension division of West Virginia University.

The group proposes that minimum weight for a bushel of apples be lowered to 42 pounds, a bushel of peaches to 45 pounds, and a quart of strawberries to 21 ounces.

Present standard minimums are 48 pounds for apples and peaches and 24 ounces for strawberries.

The fruit men say these were set 30 years ago, when fruit was smaller. To meet the standard minimums with larger, improved fruit, they added, you have to pack it so tightly that much of it is bruised and becomes a loss to either the packer or the consumer.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Bruce Bradford Heads Keyser IOOF Lodge

Queen's Point Unit Installs Officers

KEYSER — Bruce W. Bradford, as noble grand, heads the staff of officers of Queen's Point Lodge No. 78, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, for the first term in 1953. He, with the following other officers, were installed at a recent meeting of the lodge:

Luke McDowell, secretary; M. W. Oates, financial secretary; C. D. Brown, treasurer; C. M. Chilcoat, chaplain; William R. Liller, warden; William J. Bailey, conductor; C. A. Steiding and J. A. Athey, supporters to the noble grand; S. M. Bright, supporter to the vice-grand; D. F. Ritchie, scene supporter; W. A. Mitchell, inside guardian and William M. Zacot, outside guardian.

The installation ceremony was directed by William R. Liller, district deputy grand master, assisted by C. A. Steiding, deputy grand master of West Virginia, and past grands Raymond Rice, C. M. Chilcoat, J. A. Athey and D. F. Ritchie.

Quiz master of the lodge, Raymond Rice, conducted a quiz. This test brought out information about the grand lodge of West Virginia and the Odd Fellows Home at Elkins.

The committee on program is Harry C. Ort, Carl G. Storm and Paul C. Haberlein. The "supper" committee is Mrs. Marie Lewis and Mrs. Anna Storm.

Fruit Growers Seek Lowering Of Weight Law

W. Va. Legislators Promise Support

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 8 (AP)—Fruit growers in this Eastern Panhandle hope to get a new State law lowering the minimum weight requirements for bushels of apples and peaches and quarters of strawberries.

Four legislators—State Senators Ralph Bean and Clarence E. Martin Jr. and Delegates Stewart Wright and W. P. C. Perry yesterday promised to back legislation making it possible.

The plan was presented to them by a committee from the West Virginia Horticulture Society and representatives of the extension division of West Virginia University.

The group proposes that minimum weight for a bushel of apples be lowered to 42 pounds, a bushel of peaches to 45 pounds, and a quart of strawberries to 21 ounces.

Present standard minimums are 48 pounds for apples and peaches and 24 ounces for strawberries.

The fruit men say these were set 30 years ago, when fruit was smaller. To meet the standard minimums with larger, improved fruit, they added, you have to pack it so tightly that much of it is bruised and becomes a loss to either the packer or the consumer.

Recent School Census In Allegany County Shows Need For Added Classroom Space

The results of the school census taken in October show that in many sections of Allegany County additional school space will be needed within five years.

The poll taken by teachers in a two-day project covered all children and youths in the county between the ages of one year and 19 years.

Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel for the Board of Education, said through the tabulation of the numbers in each age category, the Board of Education learns the trends in school population.

In this way the educators plan for the anticipated needs in facilities to handle any increases.

83 Per Cent At Hill Street

This year's census reveals there will be an alarming need for either new schools or additions in five years.

At one school, Hill Street in Frostburg, there is an anticipated 83 per cent increase in the number of pupils. Higgins said the increase will be gradual from 238 this year, 274 next year and 407 in 1957-58.

The largest numerical growth in the county will be at Allegany High School. There are 1,446 students enrolled. Next year there will be 1,583 with the peak year being 1957-58 when 1,896 will attend, for an increase of 450.

Another crucial point will be at Hammond Street School in Westernport. In October there were 396 enrolled. By the time the 1957 school year arrives there will be 600 attending for a growth of 51 per cent.

Other critical spots and the number enrolled now are: West Side, where there are 425 now, will be 480 next year and 566 in 1957-58, a growth of 141 or 31 per cent.

LaVale Going Up

Centre Street—194 in October, 218 next year and 255 in 1957-58, an increase of 61 or 24 per cent.

LaVale—340 in October, 381 next year and 463 in 1957-58, a growth of 123 or 36 per cent.

Columbia Street—369 in October; 420 next year and 498 in 1957-58, an addition of 129 or 32 per cent.

Cresaptown Elementary—552 in October, 596 next year and 669 in 1957-58, an increase of 117 or 21 per cent.

Cresaptown Junior High School—203 in October to 274 in 1957-58, a rise of 69 or 35 per cent.

Mt. Royal—274 in October, 299 next year, and 340 in 1957-58, a growth of 66 or 24 per cent. (This number of bus students had to be moved to West Side School).

Pennsylvania Avenue (elementary)— 546 in October to 739 in 1957-58, an increase of 162 or 37 per cent.

Pennsylvania Avenue (junior high pupils that cannot be handled at Fort Hill)—158 now.

Others Show Growth

Johnson Heights—421 in October, 468 next year, and 562 in 1957-58, an addition of 141 or 33 per cent. (This year a busload of children from the Williams Road section was transferred to John Humbird School because of crowded conditions).

Beall Elementary, Frostburg—434 in October, 494 next year and 569 in 1957-58, an increase of 162 or 37 per cent. (In addition there are 168 seventh graders enrolled who cannot be handled at Beall High School.)

Eckhart—193 in October, to 231 in 1957-58, a growth of 38 or 19 per cent.

Mt. Savage Elementary—299 in October, 343 next year and 427 in 1957-58, an addition of 128 or 43 per cent.

Corriganville—122 in October, 136 next year and 146 in 1957-58, a growth of 24 or 11 per cent.

Higgins explained these schools will have a total increase of 2,312 students. This develops a serious problem for the Board of Education.

He noted that state standards call for 30 children to a classroom. Therefore this increase constitutes a need for many more rooms.

Current Program Near End

The current building program that will end with the completion of the new schools at Lonaconing and Ellerslie and addition to Flintstone School was started over ten years ago. However, World War II halted all construction for five years.

It is understood that the Board of Education is working on plans for a program that will meet the coming needs.

Planning pays off as educators note the condition at the new Mt. Savage School. This year there are a few vacant classrooms. In 1957-58, the peak year, the population will have raised from 442 this year to 519. This is capacity for the junior-senior high school.

STAG LINES for men
by Bert Bacharach

Little Man in Big Links

Giant Cuff Links

PREDICTION: Men will put more on the cuff this year. Massive cuff links, big as a half dollar, are fast becoming a nation-wide trend. The oversize links aren't just for big men, either. Little fellows like Robert Clary (left), one of Broadway's "New Faces of 1952," can wear them as well as six-footers.

Tips: If you have to cut a cake of soap, make it easier by dipping the knife into boiling water first. . . . A splint made of toothpicks and tape will save the broken stem of a household plant. . . . A toothbrush will last longer if occasionally soaked overnight in salt water. . . . When you have a lot of envelopes to seal, moisten the flaps on an ice cube placed in a saucer.

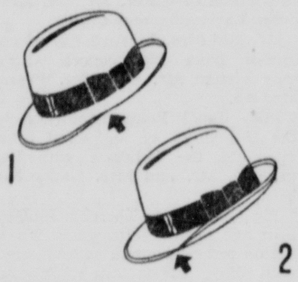
Factuals: The average American cigarette smoker spent $90.56 during 1951 for his favorite brand. . . . King Henry I of England established the length of his arm, thirty-six inches, as a unit of measure. He called it a "yard," for some unknown reason, and it's been a standard ever since.

Liquid Notes: When pouring wine, do not have the glasses more than three-quarters full. . . . Wine bottles should be stored on their sides to keep the corks moist. A dry cork can permit air to get into the bottle. . . . Many bars are now serving martinis-on-the-rocks.

Dress Tips: It's extra important to put trees in shoes when they've been wet and are being dried out. Incidentally, allow them to dry naturally—not near heat. . . . Breast pocket handkerchiefs rarely get soiled, so when you switch to a fresh one put the coat pocket one in your hip pocket for practical use. . . . No matter how clean your house, dust will settle on the collars and shoulders of extra suits that are hung away in closets. Brush them once a month to keep the dust from getting imbedded.

Sport Notes: The varnish on fishing rods will keep in better condition if you air them once in a while during the winter. . . . The first Tournament of Roses was held in 1889, but it had no football game until 1902. . . . In a tournament of thirty games of horseshoe pitching a competitor walks nine miles and pitches three tons of metal!

Hat Check: From personal observation, I'd guess that about 75 per cent of all men wear their snapbrim hats incorrectly and in an unflattering manner. The entire front half of the brim should be snapped down (see drawing 1), not just a part of it (2). Fix your own hat that way and see if it isn't a lot smarter looking.



Answer: Here's the way you make 1,000 by using only eight 8's (as mentioned in last week's column): 8 plus 8 plus 8 plus 88 plus 888 equals 1,000!

Pass the Cigars: This week to—Sammy Baugh, of the Washington Redskins, and Frankie Albert, of the San Francisco 49ers. Both were great competitors; both were a credit to professional football; both retired last month.

Keeping Up With Hollywood
by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 8 (INS)—Come midsummer, the fish in the isolated Salmon River of Northwest Idaho will have real cause to be jumpin'. The hotcha honey, Marilyn Monroe, journeys to this lonely spot to make "River of No Return," a western if you please, with only one woman (Marilyn) and two men in the cast.

Stanley Rubin, who will produce for 20th, says "this will be the lonesomest location trip on record. But that's because Lew Lantz wrote the story of three lonely people in this locale. I guess I'll be the most hated man in Hollywood taking the Monroe out of circulation like this."

I still say Joe DiMaggio can find her.

Back in Hollywood is Edmond O'Brien, none the worse for his encouraging fling on the stage in his short-lived John Van Druten play, "I've Got Sixpence."

But Eddie needn't worry on two counts. First, he and Olga San Juan have never been happier and all their last year's troubles are buried.

They've started 1953 with a bet- - understanding. Secondly, his career has never been better.

Olivia De Havilland tells me when she goes to England to make "End of the Affair" she will probably take an apartment in France before she comes home.

"I've never been in Paris," she said, "or in Normandy, where the De Havilland family lived for 900 years. My father will show me France. He and his wife have sold their property in Canada and plan to take a house in the south of France.

"In France there is more tolerance of all races, and my father's Japanese wife will be more welcome there. She speaks French fluently and is a lovely person. I think it will be wonderful for Benjie to have his grandfather take him to the place where the De Havilland's lived so many years.

A tired Carleton Carpenter telephoned to say that Movita and he are back from Korea safe and sound. Of the others who were down with flu, Keenan Wynn was the sickest, Carp said. He ran a fever of 104, but the Army doctors were taking care of him, Debbie Reynolds and Peggy King, who were all hospitalized.

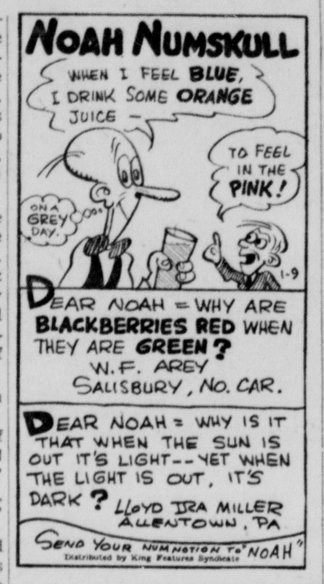
Martha Vickers, who was very broken up over her marital unhappiness with Mickey Rooney, is finding happiness with Rancher Bob Lane. They've been at Sportsman's Lodge together several times recently.



Lauren Bacall will accompany Bogey as far as New York when he heads for Europe. But "Baby" will return to the coast after a week's vacation. She's slated for a 20th movie.

Cornel Wilde, Jean and the three children, a dog, a cat and a parrot leave today for Morocco. The third child is Jean's little sister, and the other two are Franchot Tone's boys.

Olivia De Havilland is being loudly mentioned as an Academy nominee. Her "My Cousin Rachel" is doing the trick.

Ronald Reagan and his pretty Nancy are in Chicago for a few days to visit Nancy's family, then they'll proceed on to New York.

Lucille Ball, who is slated for a Caesarean section Jan. 19, may not wait that long. Kay Williams has given Lucille some of the maternity wardrobe she had designed in Paris.

The treasurer at MGM did a double-take when he was handed the expense account of the "Mogambo" company. It read: "5000 francs to witch doctors for favorable omens." Director John Ford says they aren't kidding, as they must work with these superstitious African tribes.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

There are more than 60 species of warblers found in the United States.

Eight Scouts Will Receive Highest Rank

Eight Boy Scouts of Potomac Council have been approved to receive Scouting's highest award, the rank of Eagle, Dr. Albert C. Cook, chairman of the council advancement committee announced.

Those approved included an adult, Robert Kilroy, 27, of Piedmont, an assistant scoutmaster, and the two sons of Willis V. Smith, council executive, Kent Smith, 15, and Neal Smith, 16.

Others who will receive the rank are William K. Harris, 16, and Theodore M. Judy, 18, both of Romney.

Martin O'Rourke, 16, of Westernport; Gerald M. Huff, 14, of Mt. Savage, and James Devine, 18, of Westernport.

Wanted To Finish

Dr. Cook pointed out that usually adults do not try for the Eagle Scout rank, but devote their time to work on training awards. In Kilroy's case, he explained, the man had most of his merit badge requirements met before entering the service in World War II.

After leaving the service, Kilroy received permission to continue his Eagle Scout goal as he had only a few merit badges to fulfill.

Kilroy is assistant scoutmaster of Troop 34, which is sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church of Piedmont.

The Smith brothers attend Allegany High School and reside at Bowling Green. They belong to Troop 4, sponsored by Centre Street Methodist Church.

Harris is a member of Troop 32 sponsored by Hampshire Post, American Legion, at Romney. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Harris of Romney and attends Romney High School.

Judy and Devine are college students. Judy, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Judy of Romney, is studying forestry at West Virginia University.

Scheduled For February

Devine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Devine of Westernport, is enrolled at Potomac State School. He is a member of Troop 36 sponsored by the Piedmont Rotary Club.

O'Rourke is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh M. O'Rourke, of Westernport. He is a member of Troop 36 at Westernport which is sponsored by Philos Lodge 34, IOOF. He is a student at St. Peter's High School.

Huff, a member of Troop 48, sponsored by St. John's Episcopal Church, Frostburg, attends Mt. Savage High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Huff.

Seven of the new Eagle Scouts will receive their awards during Boy Scout Week, February 7 through 13. O'Rourke must serve two more months as a Life Scout before he can receive his badge.

Mount Apo, with an elevation of 9,610 feet, is the highest peak in the Philippine islands.

Recent School Census In Allegany County Shows Need For Added Classroom Space

The results of the school census taken in October show that in many sections of Allegany County additional school space will be needed within five years.

The poll taken by teachers in a two-day project covered all children and youths in the county between the ages of one year and 19 years.

Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel for the Board of Education, said through the tabulation of the numbers in each age category, the Board of Education learns the trends in school population.

In this way the educators plan for the anticipated needs in facilities to handle any increases.

83 Per Cent At Hill Street

This year's census reveals there will be an alarming need for either new schools or additions in five years.

At one school, Hill Street in Frostburg, there is an anticipated 83 per cent increase in the number of pupils. Higgins said the increase will be gradual from 238 this year, 274 next year and 407 in 1957-58.

The largest numerical growth in the county will be at Allegany High School. There are 1,446 students enrolled. Next year there will be 1,583 with the peak year being 1957-58 when 1,896 will attend, for an increase of 450.

Another crucial point will be at Hammond Street School in Westernport. In October there were 396 enrolled. By the time the 1957 school year arrives there will be 600 attending for a growth of 51 per cent.

Other critical spots and the number enrolled now are: West Side, where there are 425 now, will be 480 next year and 566 in 1957-58, a growth of 141 or 31 per cent.

LaVale Going Up

Centre Street—194 in October, 218 next year and 255 in 1957-58, an increase of 61 or 24 per cent.

LaVale—340 in October, 381 next year and 463 in 1957-58, a growth of 123 or 36 per cent.

Columbia Street—369 in October; 420 next year and 498 in 1957-58, an addition of 129 or 32 per cent.

Cresaptown Elementary—552 in October, 596 next year and 669 in 1957-58, an increase of 117 or 21 per cent.

Cresaptown Junior High School—203 in October to 274 in 1957-58, a rise of 69 or 35 per cent.

Mt. Royal—274 in October, 299 next year, and 340 in 1957-58, a growth of 66 or 24 per cent. (This number of bus students had to be moved to West Side School).

Pennsylvania Avenue (elementary)— 546 in October to 739 in 1957-58, an increase of 162 or 37 per cent.

Pennsylvania Avenue (junior high pupils that cannot be handled at Fort Hill)—158 now.

Others Show Growth

Johnson Heights—421 in October, 468 next year, and 562 in 1957-58, an addition of 141 or 33 per cent. (This year a busload of children from the Williams Road section was transferred to John Humbird School because of crowded conditions).

Beall Elementary, Frostburg—434 in October, 494 next year and 569 in 1957-58, an increase of 162 or 37 per cent. (In addition there are 168 seventh graders enrolled who cannot be handled at Beall High School.)

Eckhart—193 in October, to 231 in 1957-58, a growth of 38 or 19 per cent.

Mt. Savage Elementary—299 in October, 343 next year and 427 in 1957-58, an addition of 128 or 43 per cent.

Corriganville—122 in October, 136 next year and 146 in 1957-58, a growth of 24 or 11 per cent.

Higgins explained these schools will have a total increase of 2,312 students. This develops a serious problem for the Board of Education.

He noted that state standards call for 30 children to a classroom. Therefore this increase constitutes a need for many more rooms.

Current Program Near End

The current building program that will end with the completion of the new schools at Lonaconing and Ellerslie and addition to Flintstone School was started over ten years ago. However, World War II halted all construction for five years.

It is understood that the Board of Education is working on plans for a program that will meet the coming needs.

Planning pays off as educators note the condition at the new Mt. Savage School. This year there are a few vacant classrooms. In 1957-58, the peak year, the population will have raised from 442 this year to 519. This is capacity for the junior-senior high school.

STAG LINES for men

by Bert Bacharach

Little Man in Big Links

Giant Cuff Links

PREDICTION: Men will put more on the cuff this year. Massive cuff links, big as a half dollar, are fast becoming a nation-wide trend. The oversize links aren't just for big men, either. Little fellows like Robert Clary (left), one of Broadway's "New Faces of 1952," can wear them as well as six-footers.

Tips: If you have to cut a cake of soap, make it easier by dipping the knife into boiling water first. . . . A splint made of toothpicks and tape will save the broken stem of a household plant. . . . A toothbrush will last longer if occasionally soaked overnight in salt water. . . . When you have a lot of envelopes to seal, moisten the flaps on an ice cube placed in a saucer.

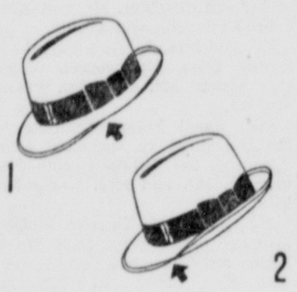
Factuals: The average American cigarette smoker spent $90.56 during 1951 for his favorite brand. . . . King Henry I of England established the length of his arm, thirty-six inches, as a unit of measure. He called it a "yard," for some unknown reason, and it's been a standard ever since.

Liquid Notes: When pouring wine, do not have the glasses more than three-quarters full. . . . Wine bottles should be stored on their sides to keep the corks moist. A dry cork can permit air to get into the bottle. . . . Many bars are now serving martinis-on-the-rocks.

Dress Tips: It's extra important to put trees in shoes when they've been wet and are being dried out. Incidentally, allow them to dry naturally—not near heat. . . . Breast pocket handkerchiefs rarely get soiled, so when you switch to a fresh one put the coat pocket one in your hip pocket for practical use. . . . No matter how clean your house, dust will settle on the collars and shoulders of extra suits that are hung away in closets. Brush them once a month to keep the dust from getting imbedded.

Sport Notes: The varnish on fishing rods will keep in better condition if you air them once in a while during the winter. . . . The first Tournament of Roses was held in 1889, but it had no football game until 1902. . . . In a tournament of thirty games of horseshoe pitching a competitor walks nine miles and pitches three tons of metal!

Hat Check: From personal observation, I'd guess that about 75 per cent of all men wear their snapbrim hats incorrectly and in an unflattering manner. The entire front half of the brim should be snapped down (see drawing 1), not just a part of it (2). Fix your own hat that way and see if it isn't a lot smarter looking.



Answer: Here's the way you make 1,000 by using only eight 8's (as mentioned in last week's column): 8 plus 8 plus 8 plus 88 plus 888 equals 1,000!

Pass the Cigars: This week to—Sammy Baugh, of the Washington Redskins, and Frankie Albert, of the San Francisco 49ers. Both were great competitors; both were a credit to professional football; both retired last month.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 8 (INS)—Come midsummer, the fish in the isolated Salmon River of Northwest Idaho will have real cause to be jumpin'. The hotcha honey, Marilyn Monroe, journeys to this lonely spot to make "River of No Return," a western if you please, with only one woman (Marilyn) and two men in the cast.

Stanley Rubin, who will produce for 20th, says "this will be the lonesomest location trip on record. But that's because Lew Lantz wrote the story of three lonely people in this locale. I guess I'll be the most hated man in Hollywood taking the Monroe out of circulation like this."

I still say Joe DiMaggio can find her.

Back in Hollywood is Edmond O'Brien, none the worse for his encouraging fling on the stage in his short-lived John Van Druten play, "I've Got Sixpence."

But Eddie needn't worry on two counts. First, he and Olga San Juan have never been happier and all their last year's troubles are buried.

They've started 1953 with a better understanding. Secondly, his career has never been better.

Olivia De Havilland tells me when she goes to England to make "End of the Affair" she will probably take an apartment in France before she comes home.

"I've never been in Paris," she said, "or in Normandy, where the De Havilland family lived for 900 years. My father will show me France. He and his wife have sold their property in Canada and plan to take a house in the south of France.

"In France there is more tolerance of all races, and my father's Japanese wife will be more welcome there. She speaks French fluently and is a lovely person. I think it will be wonderful for Benjie to have his grandfather take him to the place where the De Havilland's lived so many years.

A tired Carleton Carpenter telephoned to say that Movita and he are back from Korea safe and sound. Of the others who were down with flu, Keenan Wynn was the sickest, Carp said. He ran a fever of 104, but the Army doctors were taking care of him, Debbie Reynolds and Peggy King, who were all hospitalized.

Martha Vickers, who was very broken up over her marital unhappiness with Mickey Rooney, is finding happiness with Rancher Bob Lane. They've been at Sportsman's Lodge together several times recently.

Lauren Bacall will accompany Bogey as far as New York when he heads for Europe. But "Baby" will return to the coast after a week's vacation. She's slated for a 20th movie.

Cornel Wilde, Jean and the three children, a dog, a cat and a parrot leave today for Morocco. The third child is Jean's little sister, and the other two are Franchot Tone's boys.

Olivia De Havilland is being loudly mentioned as an Academy nominee. Her "My Cousin Rachel" is doing the trick.

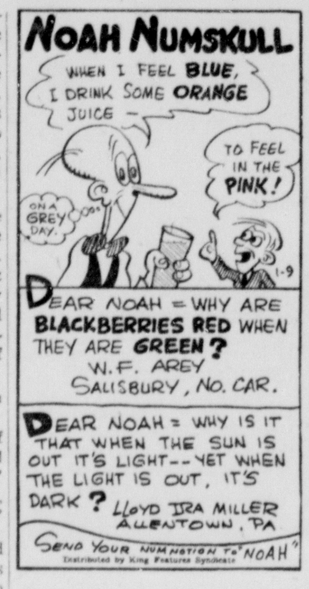
Lucille Ball, who is slated for a Caesarean section Jan. 19, may not wait that long. Kay Williams has given Lucille some of the maternity wardrobe she had designed in Paris.

The treasurer at MGM did a double-take when he was handed the expense account of the "Mogambo" company. It read: "5000 francs to witch doctors for favorable omens." Director John Ford says they aren't kidding, as they must work with these superstitious African tribes.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!



There are more than 60 species of warblers found in the United States.

Eight Scouts Will Receive Highest Rank

Eight Boy Scouts of Potomac Council have been approved to receive Scouting's highest award, the rank of Eagle, Dr. Albert C. Cook, chairman of the council advancement committee announced.

Those approved included an adult, Robert Kilroy, 27, of Piedmont, an assistant scoutmaster, and the two sons of Willis V. Smith, council executive, Kent Smith, 15, and Neal Smith, 16.

Others who will receive the rank are William K. Harris, 16, and Theodore M. Judy, 18, both of Romney.

Wanted To Finish

Dr. Cook pointed out that usually adults do not try for the Eagle Scout rank, but devote their time to work on training awards. In Kilroy's case, he explained, the man had most of his merit badge requirements met before entering the service in World War II.

Scheduled For February

Devine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Devine of Westernport, is enrolled at Potomac State School. He is a member of Troop 36 sponsored by the Piedmont Rotary Club.

O'Rourke is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh M. O'Rourke, of Westernport. He is a member of Troop 36 at Westernport which is sponsored by Philos Lodge 34, IOOF. He is a student at St. Peter's High School.

Huff, a member of Troop 48, sponsored by St. John's Episcopal Church, Frostburg, attends Mt. Savage High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Huff.

Seven of the new Eagle Scouts will receive their awards during Boy Scout Week, February 7 through 13. O'Rourke must serve two more months as a Life Scout before he can receive his badge.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

The Customer Isn't Always Right

Completely apart from the principle, the affair George Kaufman ought to act as some sort of useful guide to sponsors' conduct in future occurrences of this sort which are bound to take place. It ought to but it probably won't.

John Crosby

The principle involved in the original ousting of Mr. Kaufman, who has sensibly been reinstated by the Columbia Broadcasting System, is a very simple one. But it is, I think, dangerously wrong not only on moral grounds but also on practical ones. It is that a sponsor is trying to sell his product to all people and cannot afford to offend any of them. Therefore any program or personality which offends any minority must go. Now that, from a businessman's point of view, is very sound doctrine — if it works.

But in radio or television broadcasting it very conspicuously hasn't worked. There's hardly a radio or television program that doesn't offend somebody. But the reactions vary. Some people just turn the darn thing off. The more militant ones write or phone. This is usually a fairly small group of malcontents but a highly aggressive and sometimes highly organized group. While it is as entitled to its opinion and to the right to protest as anyone, this group is hardly qualified to act as arbiter of taste for all of us. Their private discontents are not necessarily the discontents of those quieter members of the community who don't rush to the telephone or to the writing desk the moment their sensibilities are ruffled.

However, purely as a practical matter, there is another graver objection to this way of doing business. Every time one of those cause celebres has arisen, whether it be Jean Muir or Philip Loeb or George Kaufman, there has been an uproar in the press. Two or three hundred people get upset about something — and let's not, for the moment, worry about what upsets them — and so the sponsor either cancels a program or fires an entertainer.

Then the uproar begins. The original handful of protesters is now joined by hundreds of thousands of others, most of whom will take sides one way or another. I didn't hear Mr. Kaufman make his now celebrated remark about "Silent Night." I read about it. So did thousands of others who would never have heard about it if Kaufman hadn't been fired. A very tiny tempest suddenly blew up into a great big one. If the idea is to keep out of trouble with the customers, this is one hell of a way to do it.

Messes of this sort spring up, it seems to me, because of that old precept that the customer is always right. This philosophy works very well in a department store where each man's problems are dealt with separately. It doesn't work at all on radio or television where millions of people, with conflicting opinions and tastes, are in the front row. You can't just fire the saleslady in this case. If you do, you mollify one customer and outrage a hundred others.

In other words, the idea of yielding to every small bleat of anguish from the listeners is not only morally indefensible but practically unworkable. No one was appeased by the Kaufman ousting and his subsequent rehiring. Far from solving the problem, the timidity simply created one. I bring it all up at this late date because this sort of thing has cropped up time after time and it'll happen again.

The most hardheaded way to settle the next batch of letters that comes in is to throw them in the wastebasket and settle the issue on its merits. Sooner or later popular opinion will force the sponsor to do this, anyhow.

To turn to other matters, the television trade-list is becoming a confounded nuisance. Every time I turn the set on, some comedian is holding up a copy of "Look" (probably the worst offender) or "Coronet" or "TV Guide" and pointing at his picture on the cover and reminding us not to miss the perfectly splendid article about him in the current issue.

This is the old You-scratch-my-back - I'll - scratch - yours gambit. There's much too much of it. Another overworked dodge is the award. Most every magazine with a circulation over 12 now hands out an award to, say, the Woman Cooking Expert of the Year. The Woman Cooking Expert of the Year then displays the magazine on her show. The magazine gets a free plug; she gets a scroll to show the sponsor. The promotion boys from the magazines are getting an awful lot of free publicity for very little effort.

Beall Casts Vote With Majority

In his first vote on a controversial issue in the upper house of Congress, Sen. J. Glenn Beall cast his ballot with a majority of his Republican Party Wednesday.

Sen. Beall voted to table consideration of a motion to consider new Senate rules aimed at abolishing the filibuster.

Maryland's other senator, John Marshall Butler, also voted to table the motion. Thirty-nine other Republicans and 29 Democrats voted the same way to defeat the proposal.

West Virginia's senators, Harley M. Kilgore and M. M. Neely, voted against tabling.

The Customer Isn't Always Right

Completely apart from the principle, the affair George Kaufman ought to act as some sort of useful guide to sponsors' conduct in future occurrences of this sort which are bound to take place. It ought to but it probably won't.

John Crosby

The principle involved in the original ousting of Mr. Kaufman, who has sensibly been reinstated by the Columbia Broadcasting System, is a very simple one. But it is, I think, dangerously wrong not only on moral grounds but also on practical ones. It is that a sponsor is trying to sell his product to all people and cannot afford to offend any of them. Therefore any program or personality which offends any minority must go. Now that, from a businessman's point of view, is very sound doctrine — if it works.

But in radio or television broadcasting it very conspicuously hasn't worked. There's hardly a radio or television program that doesn't offend somebody. But the reactions vary. Some people just turn the darn thing off. The more militant ones write or phone. This is usually a fairly small group of malcontents but a highly aggressive and sometimes highly organized group. While it is as entitled to its opinion and to the right to protest as anyone, this group is hardly qualified to act as arbiter of taste for all of us. Their private discontents are not necessarily the discontents of those quieter members of the community who don't rush to the telephone or to the writing desk the moment their sensibilities are ruffled.

However, purely as a practical matter, there is another graver objection to this way of doing business. Every time one of those cause celebres has arisen, whether it be Jean Muir or Philip Loeb or George Kaufman, there has been an uproar in the press. Two or three hundred people get upset about something — and let's not, for the moment, worry about what upsets them — and so the sponsor either cancels a program or fires an entertainer.

Then the uproar begins. The original handful of protesters is now joined by hundreds of thousands of others, most of whom will take sides one way or another. I didn't hear Mr. Kaufman make his now celebrated remark about "Silent Night." I read about it. So did thousands of others who would never have heard about it if Kaufman hadn't been fired. A very tiny tempest suddenly blew up into a great big one. If the idea is to keep out of trouble with the customers, this is one hell of a way to do it.

Messes of this sort spring up, it seems to me, because of that old precept that the customer is always right. This philosophy works very well in a department store where each man's problems are dealt with separately. It doesn't work at all on radio or television where millions of people, with conflicting opinions and tastes, are in the front row. You can't just fire the saleslady in this case. If you do, you mollify one customer and outrage a hundred others.

In other words, the idea of yielding to every small bleat of anguish from the listeners is not only morally indefensible but practically unworkable. No one was appeased by the Kaufman ousting and his subsequent rehiring. Far from solving the problem, the timidity simply created one. I bring it all up at this late date because this sort of thing has cropped up time after time and it'll happen again.

The most hardheaded way to settle the next batch of letters that comes in is to throw them in the wastebasket and settle the issue on its merits. Sooner or later popular opinion will force the sponsor to do this, anyhow.

To turn to other matters, the television trade-list is becoming a confounded nuisance. Every time I turn the set on, some comedian is holding up a copy of "Look" (probably the worst offender) or "Coronet" or "TV Guide" and pointing at his picture on the cover and reminding us not to miss the perfectly splendid article about him in the current issue.

This is the old You-scratch-my-back - I'll - scratch - yours gambit. There's much too much of it. Another overworked dodge is the award. Most every magazine with a circulation over 12 now hands out an award to, say, the Woman Cooking Expert of the Year. The Woman Cooking Expert of the Year then displays the magazine on her show. The magazine gets a free plug; she gets a scroll to show the sponsor. The promotion boys from the magazines are getting an awful lot of free publicity for very little effort.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Mother and Grandmother, Mrs. Mary I. Fazenbaker, who passed away Jan. 9, 1949.

Friends may think we have forgotten
And our wounded hearts are healed;
Do not ask us if we miss her,
There is such a vacant space.
Oft' we think we hear her calling
Or see her smiling face.

Sadly missed by:
Her daughter, Mrs. Charlotte Moses
Her granddaughter, Mrs. Tiny Wilson

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Mother and Grandmother, Mrs. Mary I. Fazenbaker, who passed away Jan. 9, 1949.

Friends may think we have forgotten
And our wounded hearts are healed;
Do not ask us if we miss her,
There is such a vacant space.
Oft' we think we hear her calling
Or see her smiling face.

Sadly missed by:
Her daughter, Mrs. Charlotte Moses
Her granddaughter, Mrs. Tiny Wilson

W. Va. To Hold Hearing On Gas Boost Request

A hearing on the proposal by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company for a temporary rate increase for West Virginia consumers has been set in Charleston (W. Va.) by the Public Service Commission for Friday, January 23.

The utility company, with offices in Pittsburgh, is asking the interim boost, which would amount to $338,619 annually, while its petition for a permanent increase of $780,000 is pending before the commission.

Hearing of the proposed permanent rate hike was continued indefinitely after a two-day hearing December 8-9, to allow PSC accountants to examine company records.

The company serves 10 counties in Eastern West Virginia and a portion of Western Maryland which includes Cumberland.

Company witnesses testified earlier that the permanent increase must be granted or the utility would have to cancel its 1953 construction program.

The proposed rates would affect West Virginia customers in the counties of Barbour, Braxton, Grant, Harrison, Lewis, Mineral, Preston, Randolph, Tucker and Upshur.

The interim proposal — the only part of the case to be taken up at the January 23 hearing—would provide a rate scale for general customers ranging downward from $1.25 for the first 700 cubic feet of gas used monthly to 55 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for all over 10,000 cubic feet consumed each month.

Industrial customers would pay a monthly scale beginning at $1.25 for the first 700 cubic feet and extending to 41 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for all consumption over one million cubic feet per month.

Election Is Delayed

WESTERNPORT — The Upper Potomac Rod and Gun Club has postponed the annual election of officers to Friday January 16, at 7:30 p. m. at the Westernport Tea Room. Refreshments will be served.

Railroads Get Meager Help From Others In Market Gain

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Railroads had it all their own way today on the upside in the Stock Market. Support from the rest of the list was meager.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 10 cents at $115.20. The industrial component of the average remained unchanged and the utility component lost 10 cents, while the railroads gained 50 cents.

Many distillers were down, including National Distillers which lost ¼ at 23 after the company announced price cuts on two leading straight bourbons. Park & Tilford, however, rebounded from its loss of 3 points yesterday and closed today up ¼ at 30¾. Hiram Walker on a few sales gained 1⅛ at 46½

It was followed by Baltimore & Ohio up ⅞ at 28⅞, Packard Motor Car up ⅛ at 5⅝ and Pennsylvania Railroad up ½ at 23⅜.

W. Va. To Hold Hearing On Gas Boost Request

A hearing on the proposal by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company for a temporary rate increase for West Virginia consumers has been set in Charleston (W. Va.) by the Public Service Commission for Friday, January 23.

The utility company, with offices in Pittsburgh, is asking the interim boost, which would amount to $338,619 annually, while its petition for a permanent increase of $780,000 is pending before the commission.

Hearing of the proposed permanent rate hike was continued indefinitely after a two-day hearing December 8-9, to allow PSC accountants to examine company records.

Present at that session as protestants to the proposal were representatives of the West Virginia cities of Keyser, Philippi, Piedmont, Elkins, Buckhannon, Kingwood and others.

The company serves 10 counties in Eastern West Virginia and a portion of Western Maryland which includes Cumberland.

The proposed increase would be realized from the firm's West Virginia customers. A petition for a similar increase also is pending in Maryland.

Company witnesses testified earlier that the permanent increase must be granted or the utility would have to cancel its 1953 construction program.

The proposed rates would affect West Virginia customers in the counties of Barbour, Braxton, Grant, Harrison, Lewis, Mineral, Preston, Randolph, Tucker and Upshur.

The interim proposal — the only part of the case to be taken up at the January 23 hearing—would provide a rate scale for general customers ranging downward from $1.25 for the first 700 cubic feet of gas used monthly to 55 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for all over 10,000 cubic feet consumed each month.

Industrial customers would pay a monthly scale beginning at $1.25 for the first 700 cubic feet and extending to 41 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for all consumption over one million cubic feet per month.

Election Is Delayed

WESTERNPORT — The Upper Potomac Rod and Gun Club has postponed the annual election of officers to Friday January 16, at 7:30 p. m. at the Westernport Tea Room. Refreshments will be served.

Railroads Get Meager Help From Others In Market Gain

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Railroads had it all their own way today on the upside in the Stock Market. Support from the rest of the list was meager.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 10 cents at $115.20. The industrial component of the average remained unchanged and the utility component lost 10 cents, while the railroads gained 50 cents.

Many distillers were down, including National Distillers which lost ¼ at 23 after the company announced price cuts on two leading straight bourbons. Park & Tilford, however, rebounded from its loss of 3 points yesterday and closed today up ¼ at 30¾. Hiram Walker on a few sales gained 1⅛ at 46½.

Half of the ten most active issues were railroads. New York Central topped the list up 1⅛ at 24⅝.

It was followed by Baltimore & Ohio up ⅞ at 28⅞, Packard Motor Car up ⅛ at 5⅝ and Pennsylvania Railroad up ½ at 23⅜.

Also gaining were the Frisco Road up ⅞ at 31½, Western Maryland ¼ at 28⅝, Sinclair Oil ¼ at 41¼, Fairchild Engine ⅜ at 7⅞, American Tobacco ½ at 65⅜, International Paper ¾ at 54¾, Eastman Kodak ⅝ at 46, Kennecott Copper ⅝ at 79, U. S. Steel ¼ at 43⅜, Montgomery Ward 1⅛ at 64 and Douglas Aircraft 1½ at 65⅜.

SLEET, ICE, SNOW HIT TRI-STATE AREA

Fallen Trees Block Roads As Ice Mounts

Highways Slippery In All Sections

Utility company crews, highway workers and railroad trouble-shooters were busy last night repairing fallen lines and clearing roads of toppled trees.

Conditions were worse west of Cumberland, while east of the Queen City and in West Virginia the mercury was rising, easing the pressure of ice and snow.

Meanwhile, the Weather Bureau forecast relief with a prediction of occasional rain and considerable fog this morning becoming warmer today. Lows this morning are expected to be between 32 and 36 degrees.

More Rain Today

It was raining in most sections of the Tri-State district last night and most areas reported icy highways with State Police warning motorists that roads were hazardous. Up to 8 p. m. last night Cumberland had had 1.10 inches of rain.

The C&P Telephone Company and Potomac Edison Company reported lines and poles snapping, mostly west of here. More trouble developed as trees began falling across powers lines.

The telephone company had crews working in Grantsville and Oakland areas last night where power was completely out. Special generators were sent to Oakland from Hagerstown, and an emergency radio trailer was later dispatched to that area.

Both the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Western Maryland Railway sent out "wire trains" last night with crews to repair telephone, telegraph and messenger lines. B&O officials reported most of their lines west of Cumberland were down, but trouble was not too bad east.

Freak Fire

Western Maryland Railway officials said their lines were snapping in numerous points all along the division.

ICY LACE—Ice-coated trees formed beautiful lacy patterns on trees and wires yesterday and last night, and this scene on a North End corner attracted the professional eye of the News photographer. To others, the ice and snow were no such dream-world, as trees toppled and telephone and power wires came down, hampering travel and communications.

County Teachers Support Green Pay Boost Plan

About 300 Would Gain Next Year

Allegany County's 585 public school teachers are almost unanimously supporting the Green Commission report which would give about 300 of them salary increases in the next school year, John E. Grindle, president of the County Teachers' Association, reported last night.

Grindle, who teaches algebra and plane geometry at Bruce High School in Westernport, explained that the teachers voted Wednesday at their respective schools on whether to accept the Green Commission recommendations and in almost every case were 100 per cent in support of the plan.

Sustain Veto

The county teachers want the General Assembly to sustain Governor Theodore R. McKeldin's veto of a 1951 bill which would have given Maryland teachers state-paid salary increases of $300 a year. Then they want the state legislators to go to work on a new measure patterned on the recommendations of the Green Commission.

The Green Commission was a citizens' group appointed last year by Governor McKeldin to study the matter of teachers' pay and other related school problems.

300 Will Benefit

Grindle explained that under the commission's plan, about 300 of the older teachers in Allegany County would get $200 a year increases effective with the 1953-54 school year. In the following year some 15 to 20 more would receive hikes in pay and by the third year — the 1955-56 school year — all teachers will get $300 increase.

By 1955-56 a new state schedule of teachers' salaries would become effective. That schedule would run from a minimum of $2,800 to a maximum of $4,600 for teachers with a bachelor's degree. The state range now is from $2,200 to $3,800. The county's schedule is higher, extending from $2,700 to $4,100. Under the Green plan it will take teachers about nine years to reach the maximum limits.

J. Stanley Hunter, industrial arts teacher at Beall High School in Frostburg and chairman of the Teachers' Association legislative committee, yesterday sent a telegram to the County Delegation in Annapolis informing the local men of the teachers' stand.

The Elementary Principals' Association also has taken similar action in support of the Green recommendations.

Chest Director Nominees Named

They are Robert W. Brown, Henry K. Duke, Mrs. Arthur G. Fuller, C. William Gilchrist, William B. Ludman, Lewis J. Ort, Ernest B. Treat and Chester T. Williams.

From the nominees four directors will be elected at the annual meeting of the Chest on Monday, January 19 at 7:30 p. m. at Central YMCA.

The meeting is open to all contributors to the Chest, each of whom is entitled to vote for the directors nominated. Additional nominations may be made at the written request of five members of the Chest, filed with the nominating committee three days before the meeting.

Following the election of four directors, an election of officers will be held at a meeting of the board of directors sometime before the end of the month.

Alexander Clarifies Pay Raise Position

Mayor Virgil Alexander of Lonaconing last night said he wished to clarify his position on a proposed increase for the town's policemen, which was defeated by the Mayor and Council at a meeting Tuesday night.

Alexander said he had introduced the proposal, and had voted for it at Tuesday's meeting. Voting with the Mayor were Councilmen William Berry and Wilmoth Garlitz, and against the proposal were Councilmen James Nightingale, Douglas Wadell and John Merrbach. Councilman Frederick Stoudt was absent from the meeting.

Most Schools Operate On Usual Plan

Several Dismiss Classes Earlier

St. Patrick's School and Catholic Girls Central High School had shortened sessions yesterday because of the bad weather conditions but nearly all other schools around the county apparently operated on a normal schedule.

LaSalle High School boys were dismissed about 1 p. m. yesterday but a school spokesman said that was primarily because the assembly program ran much longer than expected. As a result school ended as soon as the assembly was over and afternoon classes were called off.

At St. Patrick's the children were dismissed at 1:30 p. m., some 90 minutes before the usual dismissal time. Girls Central was dismissed at 1:45 p. m., 30 minutes earlier than usual. The principal stated that this earlier dismissal gave bus drivers the opportunity of getting pupils living out of town home earlier than usual.

Other parochial schools in Cumberland adhered to their usual schedules.

A CYO basketball game last night between SS. Peter and Paul and St. Joseph's of Midland was postponed because of the rain atop snow and ice.

Principals of Fort Hill, Allegany and Beall High School in Frostburg said that absenteeism was a little higher than usual yesterday but was far from alarming. It was even better than on some pleasant days, they added.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said that power failure in LaVale, Frostburg, Eckhart and Mt. Savage made cafeteria managers fearful that lack of refrigeration might cause some food to spoil. By late last night the power situation was approaching normal, however.

Three Men Held In Theft Here

City detectives last night were holding three men in connection with the theft of a radio from a Cumberland home, the theft of a car from Washington and a parole violation.

Detectives said Clifford McGettigan complained that a small radio was stolen from his home at 237 Henderson Avenue Wednesday night while he and his sister were visiting their sick mother at a local hospital.

Officer Leo E. P. Law of the Detective Bureau said he arrested three men on drunk charges, then held them in connection with the theft.

The prisoners were booked as Harry Reger, 34, of 900 block Gay Street; Thomas Davis, 35, of 133 C Street N. W., Washington, formerly of Lexington Avenue, and Walter Fields, 46 East Avenue, Hagerstown.

Law said a car which Davis allegedly had been driving had been reported stolen from Washington on January 2. Fields, he said, was wanted on a parole violation charge.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled Lillie S. Grove vs. Wilbur D. Grove.

Civil Trial Docketed Starting January 22

Some 20 civil suits have been docketed for trial during the January term of Allegany County Circuit Court.

The trials will begin Thursday, January 22, and will end Monday, February 2, according to present plans.

Jaycees Name Committees For Beauty Contest

Speech Contestants Guests At Meeting

Committees for the "Miss Western Maryland" beauty pageant to be sponsored by the Junior Association of Commerce this spring were named at a meeting at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club Wednesday night.

J. Kenneth Morgan, president, said the contest will be held in late May of early June. Committeemen named were:

Steering committee, Miles S. Amick, chairman; Robert E. Moore, assistant chairman; Floyd V. Cozad, Raymond G. Dorn and J. Kenneth Morgan.

Program, W. Perry Shaffer and Oscar L. Lashley; judges committee, Russell Ward; finance committee, Reggie E. Wolfe Jr., treasurer, and Albert A. Helmick, ticket sales.

Guests at the meeting were nine of the 13 Allegany County youths who participated in the local "I Speak For Democracy" contest. Carol Thompson, of Central High School, Lonaconing, county winner of the contest, recited her winning speech.

Miss Thompson was given a trophy from the Jaycee president for her county prize and Miles G. Thompson Jr., state vice president, presented her with another trophy for being one of the finalists in the state contest.

Morgan also presented trophies to the other three finalists in the county competition. They were Mary Hafer, Fort Hill High School; Janet Pisaneschi, St. Mary's High School, and Douglas Houck, Allegany High School.

All contestants were given certificates as winners at their respective schools.

Morgan announced that Richard Sell has been named membership chairman for the Jaycees, succeeding Arthur C. Morgan, who resigned because of pressing business.

Rabbis To Trade Pulpits Tonight

Rabbi David Schwartz of Congregation B'nai Abraham, Hagerstown, will be visiting rabbi at Congregation B'er Chayim at the 8 o'clock service tonight.

Rabbi Samuel Umen of B'er Chayim will occupy Rabbi Schwartz's pulpit tonight. Rabbi Schwartz will speak on "Democracy and the Jew."

Industrial Teachers Meet At Mt. Savage

About 15 of the industrial arts instructors in Allegany County schools met Wednesday night in the Mt. Savage High School to discuss various departmental problems.

J. D. Lonnholm, supervisor of vocational education, who led the meeting, said that the machine shop, woodworking and drafting teachers took the opportunity to examine some of the new equipment being used in the county's most modern school.

Power Failure Affects Much Of This Area

Garrett County Is Hit Hardest

Many Western Maryland communities were dark—and cold—last night as Potomac Edison Company line crews strove to splice together power lines which snapped early yesterday afternoon under the weight of freezing rain.

About a dozen Allegany County communities were affected by the power failure which began when transmission lines between Cumberland and Frostburg broke.

All line crews of the company were at work on the lines and all available crews from surrounding areas were dispatched to the Frostburg area in an attempt to restore service.

Other crews were sent to Garrett County, where Maryland State Police at LaVale, said the situation was worse than in Allegany County.

The effects of the power failure became worse by the hour, since gas and oil furnaces stopped operating as the electrical controls went dead.

Among the victims of the power failure were Frostburg, LaVale, Lonaconing, Hyndman, Ellerslie and a number of small communities in the Frostburg area.

Frostburg, hit by the power failure at 12:19 p. m., was without current for from seven to nine hours.

Current was restored in the center of the city about 7:05 p. m. and about two hours later, in the area west of Water Street and south of Main Street.

Hold Warming Parties

Among the most popular citizens of several areas were those whose homes were heated by manually operated furnaces.

In upper LaVale, a number of warming parties were held as neighbors, frozen out of their homes which had electrically controlled oil and gas furnaces, went visiting.

The lack of power of course affected all appliances, including re-

Bird-Feeding Urged In Wake Of Storm

Freezing Western Marylanders weren't the only victims of the snow and ice storm which chilled the area yesterday. The birds were having a rough time of it, too.

Conservationists and bird-lovers urged housewives to keep an eye out for birds foraging in the snow and slush for food, and to keep some bread crumbs on hand.

One West Side resident said he fed several birds which appeared near starvation because the ice had covered all their usual sources of food.

Self-Inflicted Bullet Wound Kills Area Man

The victim was identified as Jonas Arthur Harman, 45, lifelong resident of the Harman area in Randolph County, 24 miles east of Elkins.

According to State Police at Elkins, Harman was found by members of his family lying on his bed in his room. He had died of a .22 calibre rifle bullet wound in the temple.

Dr. Charles L. Leonard, Randolph County coroner, investigated and termed the death wound self-inflicted. State Police officers investigating were Cpl. L. W. Kelly and Trooper D. A. Burner, of the Elkins Detachment.

Harman was born April 11, 1887, at Lainesville, a son of Asa and Elizabeth (Ketterman) Harman.

Besides his parents, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Betty (Garrison) Harman, one son, Donald Harman, three daughters, Nancy, Patricia Ann and Ruth Harman, all at home; four brothers, Ted, Blake and Kermit Harman, all of Harman, and Robert Harman, Ashland, Ky.

Also surviving are four sisters, Mrs. Mary Peper, Mouth of Seneca; Mrs. Ova Wellman, Huntington; Mrs. Berill Ferguson, Pontiac, Mich., and Mrs. Josie Mullenex, Valley Bend.

A funeral service will be held tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. in Harman Church of the Brethren with Rev. Ellsworth Harman, officiating. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Maryland GOP Senators Stick By Guns And Enjoy Demos' Factional Fight

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 8 (AP) — Republicans in Maryland's Senate resolved today to stick by their guns and watch belligerent Democratic factions bombard each other in a battle for leadership.

The 11 GOP senators met privately and came out with a decision to support their own floor leader, Sen. Robert B. Kimble of Allegany County, and maintain a numerical edge over the warring Democratic groups. They voted down the line for Kimble in two short and indecisive roll calls which opened the second day of a General Assembly session which has bogged down in the Democratic tangle.

The majority was cut into the same halves that have failed to come together since bickering over legislative power began on the eve of the session.

Sen. George W. Della (D-Balto 6th,) who has been president, held his nine votes. So did Sen. C. Ferdinand Sybert, (D-Howard,) the contender of a band of rebelling senators who want to unseat Della and shake up the whole Democratic command in Maryland.

What happened in the Republicans' closed meeting was hushed, but highly qualified sources said they had a basis for discussing other courses of action.

One senator commented in reply to a question that "offers" would be "as good a way to phrase it as any." He declined to elaborate.

Sen. D. Kenneth McLaughlin (R-Washington) said "None of us will go to the other side."

The Republicans were obviously enjoying the spectacle. Since Tuesday night the Democrats have been unable to agree and a party organization already showing loose seams was threatening to fall apart over the fight.

Democrats backing Sybert said they were upset with the party's leadership. Republicans have captured most of the major offices in the last two elections.

George P. Mahoney, the Democratic nominee for the U. S. Senate who lost out last November, joined other prominent party personnel in the State House today. He said he had chatted with members of both Senate factions trying to work out an agreement.

While the Senate met and recessed immediately after one roll-call demonstrating the same split, delegates twiddled their thumbs.

The House broke out with a display of impatience after the third attempt by the Senate to organize. It has been ready since early yesterday afternoon.

Recalled to recess again, Del. Boone (D-Baltimore County) who is slated to lose his majority floor leadership had a run-in with his Democratic colleagues.

Del. Logan (D-Caroline), who is in line to succeed Boone, moved to recess until 8:30 tonight, half an hour later than the Senate is scheduled to try again. Boone suggested instead the delegates recess until tomorrow.

"It's becoming more and more obvious that the Senate may be still tied up at 8 o'clock and they may be tied up at 12 o'clock," argued Boone. "Only God Almighty can answer that. This House has been patient. We've been here 24 hours and I suggest some of the members might want to get some rest instead of lounging around the Statehouse."

Speaker Luber (D-Balto 5th) answered that if the Senate does succeed in organizing tonight then the two chambers could hold a joint session to hear Gov. McKeldin. While all these recesses have been going one, the two houses have stayed on the legislative day of Wednesday, January 7.

Luber ruled that a voice vote to recess until later tonight carried despite a chorus of negatives. Boone yelled for a roll call, but

Youth Convicted Of Murder In Jackson Slaying

Death Sentence Is Postponed

Gardner, an unemployed riverboat hand, was found guilty of murdering Roy Jackson, 54, last October 14. Jackson was the brother of Lonnie I. Jackson of Cumberland.

The Mason County (W. Va.) Circuit Court jury did not recommend mercy, making the death sentence mandatory. But Judge Lewis Miller postponed sentencing Gardner pending a decision on the motion of Defense Attorney William Rardin that the verdict be set aside.

Jackson, a taxi company owner and a former fire chief of Point Pleasant, W. Va., where the trial was held, was shot and robbed eight miles south of Point Pleasant.

State Police said Gardner admitted the slaying, declaring he had been drinking all evening before hiring Jackson to drive him home to Gallipolis Ferry, W. Va.

Once there, Gardner's statement said, he went inside, got a shotgun and returned to the cab, ordering Jackson to drive south.

On a lonely road eight miles away, the statement said, Gardner told Jackson to get out of the cab, then killed him.

Gardner, however, pleaded innocent to the charge of first-degree murder on the basis of his claim that he was drunk and was therefore incapable of committing premeditated murder.

Kimble Twits Demos For Calling GOP Minority

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 8 (AP)—Sen. Robert B. Kimble of Allegany County, starting his seventh year as Republican leader in the upper house, today jokingly objected to a Democratic colleague's reference to the Republicans as the "minority party."

Kimble said yesterday's vote, which gave Kimble 10 votes to eight for either Democratic faction, should be indication enough that there now were three parties in the Senate, with the Republicans emerging on top.

Republicans have never had a majority in the Maryland Senate.

Army Advisory Group Will Meet Tonight

The Cumberland Army Advisory Committee will meet tonight at 7:30 p. m. in the U. S. Army Reserve Armory, 301 South Mechanic Street, according to Thomas F. Conlon, chairman.

Conlon said members will discuss pertinent problems concerning the Army Reserve Program. All members are urged to attend.

WILL GET BRONZE STAR—Dr. Samuel R. Neel, Jr., son of Rev. Samuel R. Neel, Sr., retired Methodist minister, and Mrs. Neel, 311 Maryland Avenue, will be awarded the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in Korea. Dr. Neel, Florida State University chaplain and coordinator of religious activities, will be honored in ceremonies on the university's ROTC practice field January 13. Dr. Neel served as regimental chaplain with the 31st Infantry Regiment in Korea from August 23, 1951, to June 20, 1952. He received a similar Bronze Star Medal in World War II as combat chaplain with the 106th Infantry Division in the European Theater.

Garrett County Phone Service Is Paralyzed

Crews, Equipment Rushed To Section

The communication system and electrical power of Garrett County was practically paralyzed yesterday as a result of the winter's worst sleet and ice storm which has plagued the entire area during the past two days.

Emergency crews of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company were called into Garrett County from the entire western part of the state as the condition got worse last night.

150 Men Sent To Area

About 150 men including 25 crews and other maintenance men were sent into that county to help restore service to the section. About 150,000 feet of wire was also sought last night by the local office of the telephone company.

Richard E. Harman, manager of the Central Office here, last night said emergency power units were being brought in from Westminster, Frederick and Hagerstown. Baltimore is sending such equipment to those cities in the event trouble spreads in that direction.

Harman said four additional radio trailers, two from Baltimore and two from Clarksburg, W. Va., are also being brought in to aid in getting communication from Kitzmiller, Friendsville and Accident to Oakland, the toll center.

Last night, Harman added, all offices in Garrett County were without commercial electrical power. About 55 long distance lines were out and 500 telephones were without service.

Poles Snap Under Ice

Huge 30-foot telephone poles in Garrett County snapped under the weight of ice which formed along the company lines. During the afternoon in the Cumberland area, Frostburg and Lonaconing service was curtailed for sometime but was restored by yesterday evening.

Lines to Flintstone were down in five sections between Cumberland and that community. Five emergency crews were sent out and an emergency generator was sent to the area due to the loss of commercial power.

Yesterday, one of four circuits from Cumberland to Grantsville was out, Harman added.

From here to Piedmont, five out of 12 circuits were out and four out of five circuits were out to Clarksburg. Two of four circuits were out from here to Somerset.

Officials of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company stayed on the job late last night getting equipment to the isolated area and attempting to get service restored.

Dustfall Drops 30.3 Per Cent During 1952

Records released by the Smoke Abatement Department this week indicate that dustfall in Cumberland dropped 30.3 per cent last year from 1951, when the city held the national record among cities which had smoke control programs.

George M. Hitchcock, smoke abatement engineer, said the average dustfall here in 1952 was 10.15 tons per square mile.

This, he noted, is a 30.3 per cent improvement over 1951's 14.59 tons.

During 1949, when the Smoke Abatement program was getting underway, the city average was 28.45 tons. It rose to 31.24 tons in 1950.

Cites 1951 Record

"People who still believe Cumberland is a smoky city just don't know what they are talking about," Hitchcock declared at a Cumberland Terminal smoke meeting Wednesday afternoon.

He pointed out the department thought 1951, when the national record of 14.59 tons was set, was about as good an improvement as could be expected.

It is impossible, he added, to determine what the 1952 record of 10.15 tons has meant to the health of citizens of the city.

Chemical tests, he added, have determined that the quantity of sulfur compounds and other toxic compounds in the air are below the danger point and not harmful.

Termed Health Measure

Hitchcock said the smoke abatement program, which he termed a health measure of the first degree, "costs the average taxpayer about $3.76 a year, or one week's laundry and cleaning bill."

The 1952 smoke picture follows: January, 20.95 tons; February, 18.64; March, 12.78 tons; April, 7.50; May, 8.20; June, 4.80; July, the all-time low, 1.71; August, 5.20; September, 10.29; October, 12.03; November, 8.85 and December 10.67.

SLEET, ICE, SNOW HIT TRI-STATE AREA

Fallen Trees Block Roads As Ice Mounts

Highways Slippery In All Sections

Freezing rain created a winter wonderland in the Tri-State area yesterday, but amid the beauty, power lines, poles and trees fell under the load of ice.

Utility company crews, highway workers and railroad trouble-shooters were busy last night repairing fallen lines and clearing roads of toppled trees.

Conditions were worse west of Cumberland, while east of the Queen City and in West Virginia the mercury was rising, easing the pressure of ice and snow.

Meanwhile, the Weather Bureau forecast relief with a prediction of occasional rain and considerable fog this morning becoming warmer today. Lows this morning are expected to be between 32 and 36 degrees.

More Rain Today

Forecasters also warned that cold rains might continue through Saturday with thermometers hanging around the freezing mark.

It was raining in most sections of the Tri-State district last night and most areas reported icy highways with State Police warning motorists that roads were hazardous. Up to 8 p. m. last night Cumberland had had 1.10 inches of rain.

The C&P Telephone Company and Potomac Edison Company reported lines and poles snapping, mostly west of here. More trouble developed as trees began falling across powers lines.

The telephone company had crews working in Grantsville and Oakland areas last night where power was completely out. Special generators were sent to Oakland from Hagerstown, and an emergency radio trailer was later dispatched to that area.

Both the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Western Maryland Railway sent out "wire trains" last night with crews to repair telephone, telegraph and messenger lines. B&O officials reported most of their lines west of Cumberland were down, but trouble was not too bad east.

Freak Fire

Western Maryland Railway officials said their lines were snapping in numerous points all along the division.

A freak mishap occurred near Cumberland yesterday when a tree split in half from the weight of ice causing a short circuit in a power line.

The tree, in the front yard of Mr. and Mrs. John Often's home, Winchester Road, split in half, one side resting against the Often home and the other pushing against a power line and catching fire.

ICY LACE—Ice-coated trees formed beautiful lacy patterns on trees and wires yesterday and last night, and this scene on a North End corner attracted the professional eye of the News photographer. To others, the ice and snow were no such dream-world, as trees toppled and telephone and power wires came down, hampering travel and communications.

Chest Director Nominees Named

They are Robert W. Brown, Henry K. Duke, Mrs. Arthur G. Fuller, C. William Gilchrist, William B. Ludman, Lewis J. Ort, Ernest B. Treat and Chester T. Williams.

From the nominees four directors will be elected at the annual meeting of the Chest on Monday, January 19 at 7:30 p. m. at Central YMCA.

The meeting is open to all contributors to the Chest, each of whom is entitled to vote for the directors nominated. Additional nominations may be made at the written request of five members of the Chest, filed with the nominating committee three days before the meeting.

Following the election of four directors, an election of officers will be held at a meeting of the board of directors sometime before the end of the month.

Alexander Clarifies Pay Raise Position

Mayor Virgil Alexander of Lonaconing last night said he wished to clarify his position on a proposed increase for the town's policemen, which was defeated by the Mayor and Council at a meeting Tuesday night.

Alexander said he had introduced the proposal, and had voted for it at Tuesday's meeting. Voting with the Mayor were Councilmen William Berry and Wilmoth Garlitz, and against the proposal were Councilmen James Nightingale, Douglas Wadell and John Merrbach. Councilman Frederick Stoudt was absent from the meeting.

County Teachers Support Green Pay Boost Plan

About 300 Would Gain Next Year

Allegany County's 585 public school teachers are almost unanimously supporting the Green Commission report which would give about 300 of them salary increases in the next school year, John E. Grindle, president of the County Teachers' Association, reported last night.

Grindle, who teaches algebra and plane geometry at Bruce High School in Westernport, explained that the teachers voted Wednesday at their respective schools on whether to accept the Green Commission recommendations and in almost every case were 100 per cent in support of the plan.

Sustain Veto

The county teachers want the General Assembly to sustain Governor Theodore R. McKeldin's veto of a 1951 bill which would have given Maryland teachers state-paid salary increases of $300 a year. Then they want the state legislators to go to work on a new measure patterned on the recommendations of the Green Commission.

The Green Commission was a citizens' group appointed last year by Governor McKeldin to study the matter of teachers' pay and other related school problems.

300 Will Benefit

Grindle explained that under the commission's plan, about 300 of the older teachers in Allegany County would get $200 a year increases effective with the 1953-54 school year. In the following year some 15 to 20 more would receive hikes in pay and by the third year — the 1955-56 school year — all teachers will get $300 increase.

By 1955-56 a new state schedule of teachers' salaries would become effective. That schedule would run from a minimum of $2,800 to a maximum of $4,600 for teachers with a bachelor's degree. The state range now is from $2,200 to $3,800. The county's schedule is higher, extending from $2,700 to $4,100. Under the Green plan it will take teachers about nine years to reach the maximum limits.

J. Stanley Hunter, industrial arts teacher at Beall High School in Frostburg and chairman of the Teachers' Association legislative committee, yesterday sent a telegram to the County Delegation in Annapolis informing the local men of the teachers' stand.

The Elementary Principals' Association also has taken similar action in support of the Green recommendations.

Civil Trial Docketed Starting January 22

One West Side resident said he fed several birds which appeared near starvation because the ice had covered all their usual sources of food.

Self-Inflicted Bullet Wound Kills Area Man

A Harman, W. Va. man was found dead in his room at his home Wednesday morning of what police called a self-inflicted bullet wound in the head.

The victim was identified as Jonas Arthur Harman, 45, lifelong resident of the Harman area in Randolph County, 24 miles east of Elkins.

According to State Police at Elkins, Harman was found by members of his family lying on his bed in his room. He had died of a .22 calibre rifle bullet wound in the temple.

Dr. Charles L. Leonard, Randolph County coroner, investigated and termed the death wound self-inflicted. State Police officers investigating were Cpl. L. W. Kelly and Trooper D. A. Burner, of the Elkins Detachment.

Harman was born April 11, 1887, at Lainesville, a son of Asa and Elizabeth (Ketterman) Harman.

Besides his parents, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Betty (Garrison) Harman, one son, Donald Harman, three daughters, Nancy, Patricia Ann and Ruth Harman, all at home; four brothers, Ted, Blake and Kermit Harman, all of Harman, and Robert Harman, Ashland, Ky.

Also surviving are four sisters, Mrs. Mary Peper, Mouth of Seneca; Mrs. Ova Wellman, Huntington; Mrs. Berill Ferguson, Pontiac, Mich., and Mrs. Josie Mullenex, Valley Bend.

A funeral service will be held tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. in Harman Church of the Brethren with Rev. Ellsworth Harman, officiating. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Maryland GOP Senators Stick By Guns And Enjoy Demos' Factional Fight

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 8 (AP) — Republicans in Maryland's Senate resolved today to stick by their guns and watch belligerent Democratic factions bombard each other in a battle for leadership.

The 11 GOP senators met privately and came out with a decision to support their own floor leader, Sen. Robert B. Kimble of Allegany County, and maintain a numerical edge over the warring Democratic groups. They voted down the line for Kimble in two short and indecisive roll calls which opened the second day of a General Assembly session which has bogged down in the Democratic tangle.

The majority was cut into the same halves that have failed to come together since bickering over legislative power began on the eve of the session.

Sen. George W. Della (D-Balto 6th,) who has been president, held his nine votes. So did Sen. C. Ferdinand Sybert, (D-Howard,) the contender of a band of rebelling senators who want to unseat Della and shake up the whole Democratic command in Maryland.

What happened in the Republicans' closed meeting was hushed, but highly qualified sources said they had a basis for discussing other courses of action.

One senator commented in reply to a question that "offers" would be "as good a way to phrase it as any." He declined to elaborate.

Sen. D. Kenneth McLaughlin (R-Washington) said "None of us will go to the other side."

The Republicans were obviously enjoying the spectacle. Since Tuesday night the Democrats have been unable to agree and a party organization already showing loose seams was threatening to fall apart over the fight.

Democrats backing Sybert said they were upset with the party's leadership. Republicans have captured most of the major offices in the last two elections.

George P. Mahoney, the Democratic nominee for the U. S. Senate who lost out last November, joined other prominent party personnel in the State House today. He said he had chatted with members of both Senate factions trying to work out an agreement.

While the Senate met and recessed immediately after one roll-call demonstrating the same split, delegates twiddled their thumbs.

The House broke out with a display of impatience after the third attempt by the Senate to organize. It has been ready since early yesterday afternoon.

Recalled to recess again, Del. Boone (D-Baltimore County) who is slated to lose his majority floor leadership had a run-in with his Democratic colleagues.

Del. Logan (D-Caroline), who is in line to succeed Boone, moved to recess until 8:30 tonight, half an hour later than the Senate is scheduled to try again. Boone suggested instead the delegates recess until tomorrow.

"It's becoming more and more obvious that the Senate may be still tied up at 8 o'clock and they may be tied up at 12 o'clock," argued Boone. "Only God Almighty can answer that. This House has been patient. We've been here 24 hours and I suggest some of the members might want to get some rest instead of lounging around the Statehouse."

Speaker Luber (D-Balto 5th) answered that if the Senate does succeed in organizing tonight then the two chambers could hold a joint session to hear Gov. McKeldin. While all these recesses have been going one, the two houses have stayed on the legislative day of Wednesday, January 7.

Luber ruled that a voice vote to recess until later tonight carried despite a chorus of negatives. Boone yelled for a roll call, but

Death Sentence Is Postponed

Twenty-two-year-old Oshel Gardner Jr. was convicted of first-degree murder yesterday in the shotgun slaying of the brother of a local man.

Gardner, an unemployed riverboat hand, was found guilty of murdering Roy Jackson, 54, last October 14. Jackson was the brother of Lonnie I. Jackson of Cumberland.

The Mason County (W. Va.) Circuit Court jury did not recommend mercy, making the death sentence mandatory. But Judge Lewis Miller postponed sentencing Gardner pending a decision on the motion of Defense Attorney William Rardin that the verdict be set aside.

Jackson, a taxi company owner and a former fire chief of Point Pleasant, W. Va., where the trial was held, was shot and robbed eight miles south of Point Pleasant.

State Police said Gardner admitted the slaying, declaring he had been drinking all evening before hiring Jackson to drive him home to Gallipolis Ferry, W. Va.

Once there, Gardner's statement said, he went inside, got a shotgun and returned to the cab, ordering Jackson to drive south.

On a lonely road eight miles away, the statement said, Gardner told Jackson to get out of the cab, then killed him.

Gardner, however, pleaded innocent to the charge of first-degree murder on the basis of his claim that he was drunk and was therefore incapable of committing premeditated murder.

Kimble Twits Demos For Calling GOP Minority

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 8 (AP)—Sen. Robert B. Kimble of Allegany County, starting his seventh year as Republican leader in the upper house, today jokingly objected to a Democratic colleague's reference to the Republicans as the "minority party."

Kimble said yesterday's vote, which gave Kimble 10 votes to eight for either Democratic faction, should be indication enough that there now were three parties in the Senate, with the Republicans emerging on top.

Republicans have never had a majority in the Maryland Senate.

Army Advisory Group Will Meet Tonight

The Cumberland Army Advisory Committee will meet tonight at 7:30 p. m. in the U. S. Army Reserve Armory, 301 South Mechanic Street, according to Thomas F. Conlon, chairman.

Conlon said members will discuss pertinent problems concerning the Army Reserve Program. All members are urged to attend.

WILL GET BRONZE STAR—Dr. Samuel R. Neel, Jr., son of Rev. Samuel R. Neel, Sr., retired Methodist minister, and Mrs. Neel, 311 Maryland Avenue, will be awarded the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in Korea. Dr. Neel, Florida State University chaplain and coordinator of religious activities, will be honored in ceremonies on the university's ROTC practice field January 13. Dr. Neel served as regimental chaplain with the 31st Infantry Regiment in Korea from August 23, 1951, to June 20, 1952. He received a similar Bronze Star Medal in World War II as combat chaplain with the 106th Infantry Division in the European Theater.

Garrett County Phone Service Is Paralyzed

Crews, Equipment Rushed To Section

The communication system and electrical power of Garrett County was practically paralyzed yesterday as a result of the winter's worst sleet and ice storm which has plagued the entire area during the past two days.

Emergency crews of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company were called into Garrett County from the entire western part of the state as the condition got worse last night.

150 Men Sent To Area

About 150 men including 25 crews and other maintenance men were sent into that county to help restore service to the section. About 150,000 feet of wire was also sought last night by the local office of the telephone company.

Richard E. Harman, manager of the Central Office here, last night said emergency power units were being brought in from Westminster, Frederick and Hagerstown. Baltimore is sending such equipment to those cities in the event trouble spreads in that direction.

Harman said four additional radio trailers, two from Baltimore and two from Clarksburg, W. Va., are also being brought in to aid in getting communication from Kitzmiller, Friendsville and Accident to Oakland, the toll center.

Last night, Harman added, all offices in Garrett County were without commercial electrical power. About 55 long distance lines were out and 500 telephones were without service.

Poles Snap Under Ice

Huge 30-foot telephone poles in Garrett County snapped under the weight of ice which formed along the company lines. During the afternoon in the Cumberland area, Frostburg and Lonaconing service was curtailed for sometime but was restored by yesterday evening.

Lines to Flintstone were down in five sections between Cumberland and that community. Five emergency crews were sent out and an emergency generator was sent to the area due to the loss of commercial power.

From here to Piedmont, five out of 12 circuits were out and four out of five circuits were out to Clarksburg. Two of four circuits were out from here to Somerset.

Officials of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company stayed on the job late last night getting equipment to the isolated area and attempting to get service restored.

Dustfall Drops 30.3 Per Cent During 1952

Records released by the Smoke Abatement Department this week indicate that dustfall in Cumberland dropped 30.3 per cent last year from 1951, when the city held the national record among cities which had smoke control programs.

George M. Hitchcock, smoke abatement engineer, said the average dustfall here in 1952 was 10.15 tons per square mile.

This, he noted, is a 30.3 per cent improvement over 1951's 14.59 tons.

During 1949, when the Smoke Abatement program was getting underway, the city average was 28.45 tons. It rose to 31.24 tons in 1950.

Cites 1951 Record

"People who still believe Cumberland is a smoky city just don't know what they are talking about," Hitchcock declared at a Cumberland Terminal smoke meeting Wednesday afternoon.

He pointed out the department thought 1951, when the national record of 14.59 tons was set, was about as good an improvement as could be expected.

It is impossible, he added, to determine what the 1952 record of 10.15 tons has meant to the health of citizens of the city.

Chemical tests, he added, have determined that the quantity of sulfur compounds and other toxic compounds in the air are below the danger point and not harmful.

Termed Health Measure

Hitchcock said the smoke abatement program, which he termed a health measure of the first degree, "costs the average taxpayer about $3.76 a year, or one week's laundry and cleaning bill."

The 1952 smoke picture follows: January, 20.95 tons; February, 18.64; March, 12.78 tons; April, 7.50; May, 8.20; June, 4.80; July, the all-time low, 1.71; August, 5.20; September, 10.29; October, 12.03; November, 8.85 and December 10.67.
